We turn to the political situation regarding candidates for Middlesex County offices for the subject of this article. With a multiplicity of candidates many voters are confused and uncertain with the result that, as in previous years, many will not even mark their ballots for these offices. In Middlesex County the voters will nominate the party candidates for clerk of courts, register of deeds, two county commissioners, and the county treasurer.

The Republican candidates for clerk of courts are Frederic L. Putnam of Melrose, the present incumbent running for re-election, and Harold A. Murray of Pearl St., Newton. Mr. Putnam has served the county faithfully and unquestionably he is re-elected over the Newton man who has unsuccessfully sought local office in city elections and is comparatively little known. A few months more than two years ago Mr. Putnam was assistant clerk of courts under John MacKinnon of Watertown, clerk. The latter died and at the 1938 election Putnam was elected to fill the unexpired term. The Melrose man is now a candidate for the regular six-year term of office.

Another candidate for re-election for a six-year term is Thomas Leighton, register of deeds. Mr. Leighton has served many years in this capacity and will probably be re-elected. He has one opponent, Joseph J. Laurie of Medford who is making an active campaign. He has been active on his local Republican City committee, and for four years as a member of the Republican State Committee. At the last Republican national convention he was appointed an honorary assistant sergeant-at-arms by Chairman Joseph Martin. He is a title examiner for the Land Court and an attorney. There is no candidate for the Democratic nomination.

The County Commissionership contest is the most confusing to the voters. There are eighteen candidates for two nominations on the G. O. P. side and but two on the Democratic side. Leading the long list of Republican names is that of Nathaniel I. Bowditch of Framingham, the present chairman of the County Commissioners and a candidate for re-election. A veteran in county politics he will unquestionably receive one of the nominations.

As to the probable nominee for the other post one guess is as good as another. Considerable publicity has been released to the press by many of these candidates, carrying endorsements of various persons of more or less prominence in various localities throughout the county.

Present County Commissioner Walter C. Wardwell of Cambridge has been confined to the hospital for a long period and is not a candidate for re-election. The vacancy caused by his enforced retirement from a long career in the county government service results in the free-for-all race. Charles Warren of Arlington, the third Commissioner, was elected two years ago for a four year term.

Alphabetically appearing on the list under Mr. Bowditch's name which under a state law passed a few years ago is first as a candidate for re-election, the next name is that of Lewis A. Adams of Medford. Mr. Adams is a lawyer with nearly thirty years experience as a member of the Massachusetts bar and is campaigning on a program of the greatest accomplishment at the least possible expenditure in order to keep the county tax as low as efficiency will permit.

Leslie G. Ainley is one of four aspirants from the city of Cambridge. Mr. Ainley has been associated with the Middlesex County government and courts for more than twenty years as a newspaperman, editor and publisher and pledges himself to a continuation of the high type of government that has existed for many years in the county. He is 44 years of age, the publisher of a trade paper, head of the Middlesex County news service, and was the originator of the system now used in the drawing of juries on capital cases, a source of substantial saving in expense. Perhaps his greatest political coup in the current campaign was the release this week of a statement by District Attorney Robert F. Bradford endorsing the Ainley candidacy. Mr. Bradford emphasizes the fact that in his opinion Mr. Ainley's long contact and experience in county affairs makes him outstanding in the large field of aspirants.

Howe Coolidge Ames of Cambridge is next on the list. Mr. Ames was a candidate two years ago for the Republican nomination as attorney general, running second to Clarence Barnes the winner. He has a wide acquaintance throughout the county and will poll a sizable vote.

Robert W. Beyer of Winchester and Maurice V. Blometh of Malden, the next two on the list, are practically unknown outside of their respective communities.

Thomas B. Brennan, the second of four Medford candidates is a former County Commissioner, the only Democrat to be elected to the office in the history of Middlesex County. Brennan received the Democratic nomination in 1936 and in the Democratic landslide of that November rode into office, defeating Victor Jewett of Lowell, the Republican nominee. He is seeking both the Republican, and the Democratic nominations this year.

Edward J. Bushell of Malden, Ernest J. Chisholm of Medford, Donald B. Falvey of Belmont and Harry R. Gardner of Medford, are the next four candidates listed. They are among the lesser known.

Archibald R. Giroux of Lexington is one of a half dozen who is conceded to have a fair chance of receiving considerable support among the voters. Although his strength is largely centered around Lexington, Arlington and Belmont, he is well known in other small communities of the county through his activity in the Selectmen's Association. He is a selectman in his home community. In Newton he is receiving support from some prominent citizens.

William A. Hastings, mayor of Malden, has a long political record and a wide acquaintance which may be sufficient to bring him the honors although Malden ranks fifth among the largest cities in the county. He has been Mayor of his city for five terms and was a member of the House of Representatives for three. He has a widespread committee working in his behalf.

Arthur K. Reading of Cambridge, former Middlesex District Attorney and former Attorney General some years ago is the next name on the list.

Charles A. Stevens of Lowell is the fifteenth name among the eighteen.

NEWTON FOOTBALL SQUAD HAS FIRST PRACTICE SESSION

Major Problem Is In Centre of Line at Present

The first practice sessions of the 1940 Newton High School football squad were held this week with Coach Owen MacDowell meeting some thirty willing youths on Wednesday morning at the high school. Physical examinations and the distribution of equipment were in order with a short workout of touch football, calisthenics and conditioning work in the afternoon. Two sessions were held on Thursday and two scheduled for today during which time the squad will get down to real work.

Before tonight the Newton mentor anticipated that some forty to fifty youths, all with some experience or exceptional promise, would be on the field. These are the group which received special invitation to attend pre-season practice with the exception of a few lads who are working and are not due to report until next week. On Monday it is anticipated that the usual large number of aspirants for places on Newton's several teams will be on hand for the general call for candidates. Well over two hundred youths will be divided among the several coaches assisting MacDowell.

On the so-called varsity squad with which the Texas coach, starting his second year of reviving football at Newton High, are seven lettermen from last year's squad. Four of these athletes wearing the orange and black "N" are ends and tackles, making MacDowell's major problem for the present the immediate development of a strong centre trio. Captain Bob Beatty and Phil Teschner are slated for regular berths on the wings and they will be flanked by Art Healey and Bill Kalousdian, tackles.

Vic Hugo, a guard in another of the seven lettermen returning. Although small the little fellow played a bang-up game on several occasions last fall and with added experience and growth may well be one of the outstanding performers in schoolboy football this season.

In the backfield is Joe Beatty, who showed a lot of promise in the early season last fall but failed to live up to fullest expectations. With the experience gained a year ago Beatty will use every opportunity to become a main cog in the Newton offense. He can kick, pass and run and as a triple threat will cause Newton's opponents considerable worry. Another letter wearer who will team with Beatty is Gus Avantaggio. Coach MacDowell will count heavily on the abilities of the Italian lad this fall.

Assistant coaches Evan Johnson for the backs and Victor Knapman for the line candidates were on hand this week along with Faculty Manager Ralph M. Sanborn and Director Frank M. Simmons who took charge of the distribution of equipment. Howard Ferguson, Jayvee coach, was among others assigned to sports duties who visited the school this week.

Newton's first game is scheduled for Sept. 25th with Woburn High being entertained at the Dickinson stadium. The Newton schedule contains nine games this year, starting a week later than usual and giving the Newton coaches more time to prepare the squad for a rugged season following the initial setto.

A few of the promising candidates with experience on the intermediate squad last year are also being carefully looked over by the coaches. Among the backs invited for the first sessions were Charlie French and John Gahey. French was the most consistent ground gainer for the intermediate last year. He is a tall rangy youth who may develop into a triple threat. Fahey was a transfer from the Our Lady High School a year ago and was ineligible to participate in athletics until attending (Continued on page 8)

Protest Luce's Name At Head of Ballot

A petition was filed on Tuesday with the State Supreme Court protesting the action of Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook in placing the name of Robert Luce first on the list of candidates for the Republican nomination for Congressman from the 9th District. The petition was filed by Roy S. Edwards of Orchard Ave., Waban; Andrew L. Moore of Dana St., Cambridge; and Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge. The latter is a candidate against Luce, but would not benefit by the change in the listing of names as Luce would still precede him.

The petition states that alphabetically the names of Philip G. Bowker of Brookline and George F. Foster of Auburndale should precede Luce's. It contends that a State law which specifies that the names of incumbents shall be placed first on ballots, does not apply to candidates for national office, for if it attempted to cover national offices, it would be unconstitutional. Judge Arthur W. Dooley ordered an order of the notice on the petition to be returned on Thursday morning.

Will Paint Schools Under WPA Project

A WPA painting project was started this week at the administration building of the high school group. The corridor walls and the exterior woodwork will be painted. The work at the school will be continued after it opens next week unless it is found to seriously interfere with the school activities. Other school buildings which will be painted in the near future include the new Clafin, old Clafin, Ward, Pierce, Rice, Hyde, and Cabot. In the past such work has been done during the summer months, but delay in the approval of the $45,000 WPA project kept the painting from being commenced sooner.

In addition to the school painting jobs, the project calls for a new roof at the old drill shed on Walnut St., Newtonville; new floors at the City Home on Winchester St., Newton Highlands; repairs and painting at the fire stations in Auburndale, Lower Falls, Chestnut Hill and Nonantum. The city will contribute $12,300 toward the project, and the Federal government $33,580.

Blazing Tar Nearly Causes Accident

Harold Temperley of 150 Gibbs St., Newton Centre had a hectic few minutes Thursday morning while he was repairing the roof of his garage. A gasoline torch on the roof exploded, and caused a kettle of tar to fall from the roof to the ground. Temperley and his 8 year old daughter had just emerged from the cellar at his home and the blazing tar kettle fell behind him. His 5 year old son was about to come out of the cellar when the flaming material fell in front of him. The child retreated into the cellar and escaped injury. Mrs. Temperley telephoned the fire department, but by the time the firemen arrived, Temperley had brought the flaming roof under control by using a fire extinguisher.

Fire Alarm Given By Barking Dogs

A fire which started in a divan in the sun parlor at the home of Mrs. Nora Littlefield, 15r Dalby St., Nonantum, was discovered on Saturday night at 10:30 when the barking of Mrs. Littlefield's two pet dogs caused H. J. Thomas, who resides in an apartment in the dwelling to make an investigation. He sent in an alarm from Box 245 and members of Engine 8 quickly extinguished the flames after forcing entrance to the house. The dogs were alone in the tenement when the fire was discovered. Careless smoking is designated as the cause of the fire.

Burr Playground Has Field Day Anniversary

Several Hundred Attend Birthday Observance

An audience of 500 attended the 20th annual field day at Burr Park, Newton, in which more than 200 children from Burr and Cabot Playgrounds participated.

Ernest Hermann, former superintendent of recreation in Newton and former dean of the Sargent College of Physical Education of Boston University presented the prizes, congratulating the many winners individually. Alderman Clarence Cobb, who donated the prizes, which consisted of various novelties, also addressed the group. Others present were F. Ewing Wilson, recreation commissioner; Albert Carter, a member of the recreation commission of Newton from 1912 to 1937; Charles E. Red Cross Makes Awards Of Life Saving Honors As Summer Season Ends

Coveted Certificates Presented To Newton Boys and Girls As Swimming Classes Close

With the coming of Labor Day and September, with school days, the swimming season ends for the summer, and the various classes in swimming and life saving come to a close, with the coveted certificates awarded by the Newton Chapter of Red Cross to the boys and girls who have passed successfully the tests in these several classes.

Wants Land Back If No Parking Space Is Made

Bennett Rockman has asked the city to refrain from recording a deed to a strip of land between Waltham and Cherry sts., West Newton, until such time as work is commenced on the construction of a parking place on this land, and also that the land be returned to the grantors if the parking space will not be constructed within two years. On June 26 the Board of Aldermen voted to sell to the Kenmore Realty Company, of which Rockman is the head, a city owned parcel of land between Cherry and Elm sts. In return for this sale, in addition to the purchase price, Rockman ceded to the city a narrow strip of land between Cherry and Waltham sts.

In conformity with Rockman's request, City Solicitor Bartlett has submitted to the Aldermen for consideration the following amendment to the order passed on June 26—

"And it is hereby ordered that the city solicitor is authorized to hold the deed from Louis K. Frank, Bennett Rockman, and the Kenmore Realty Corporation until such time as the city commences the construction of a parking space on said lot, and, if the city does not commence the construction of said parking space within two years to return said deed to the grantors."

The city has asked for approval of a WPA project which will permit the construction of the parking space in question.

Again Hold Up License to Sell Milk

At a meeting on Tuesday night the Newton Board of Health again refused to renew the milk license of J. J. Corkery of Somerville. Some time ago the Board refused to renew Corkery's license because of conditions at his plant in Somerville and at some of the farms which supply him. Corkery took an appeal to the State Public Health Council and that board recommended that the Newton Board grant the license because Corkery seemed to be endeavoring to comply with requirements. On August 23 at a special meeting of the Newton Board of Health it was voted to renew Corkery's license subject to the approval of Milk Inspector Robertson. The latter returned from his vacation last week and at the meeting of the Board on Tuesday declined to approve the license until he makes further investigation of Corkery's plant and sources of supply. During the months that Corkery's license has been withheld, he has continued to deliver milk in the Newtons.

Hold Park Burglar For Grand Jury

John C. Mulligan, 26, of 22 Charles St., Auburndale was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday on charges of breaking and entering, and having burglar's tools in his possession.

He pleaded guilty to the first charge, not guilty to the second, and was held for the Grand Jury in $3000 bail. Mulligan who had been employed at the restaurant at Norumbega Park, Auburndale, was captured there about 1:30 a. m. on August 29 after Special Officer Ferguson of the park had detected someone was in the restaurant. Newton police were called and found Mulligan in the restaurant. Near the safe were found a sledge hammer, pick axe, and other tools.

Arrested For Stealing Auto

Theodore Hanks, 21, of 16 Elmwood rd., Wellesley, was arrested at Westport, Connecticut on Sunday night by State Police on a charge of having stolen a car owned by Thomas Ryan of Atholstane rd., Newton Centre. The car bore California registration plates and was stolen from the driveway at that address last Friday night. Hanks drove the car over to the New York World's Fair and was apprehended on his return trip. Inspectors Crowley and Lyons went to Westport on Monday and brought Lyons back to Newton. The youth was held in $300 bail for a hearing on September 9.

Mr. E. M. Westgate, Red Cross Swimming Instructor, at Crystal Lake, has given the tests to the following who have won certificates during the last week of August, supplementing the lists already announced. In the Beginners' Swimming Test, William Kiel, of Halcyon rd., Newton Centre, and in the Intermediate Test, Gregg Eldridge, also of Newton Centre, have won their certificates.

Those who have passed the Senior Life Saving Tests are John Walsh, Harry Morgan, Roger Patterson, Seymour Silver, Miriam Boynton, Frances Albee, Ruth Langell and Ruth Lamb. Those who have passed the Junior Life Saving Tests are Peter Goethel, Donald Murphy, Thomas Maguire, Stephen Kelly, Rita Hurley, Thelma Furbush, Mary Sullivan, Donald Layaou and Charles Hand.

Those who have passed the tests and will receive Red Cross certificates, instructed in swimming between July 8 and August 16 by Miss Claire McCarthy, of Newton Centre, Red Cross trained instructor of the Newton Playground Department, are the following 14 girls in the Beginners' Class: Louise Daley and Anne Brady, of Newton; Betty Duffy, Marie Terrio, Mary Donoghue and Elsie Grundy, of Newton Highlands; Carol Dockum and Patricia Pacher, of Waban; and Elsa Marston, Lee Marston, Roberta Goebel, Kathleen Maguire, Deirdre Barry and Jeanne Woolway, of Newton Centre.

Six other girls passed a Swimmers' Test: Adella Hayes of West Newton, Jane Plump of Newtonville, Patricia Biggin, Penelope Biggin and Joan Sullivan of Newton Highlands; and Mary De Rusa.

In the Intermediate Classes, 48 girls who passed the tests are: Helen Duquette, Nathalie Zorolow, Theresa Duquette, Patty Merrill, Betty Osterund, Ann Austin, Geraldine Powers, Kathleen Maguire, Margaret Mary Lane, Carol Snyder, Francine Krosschell, and Claire Coffey, of Newton Centre; Jean Marie Bova, Jane Vinsonhall, Barbara Williams, Barbara Willis, Alice Vincent, Miriam Robb, and Nancy Gardiner, of Newtonville; Ann Patterson, Barbara Horowitz, Jane Evans, Nancy Brewster, Mildred Gassler, Ann Gassler, Barbara Root, of Newton; Lucille Kincare, Priscilla Hoff, Joan Chapple, Elizabeth Haughey, Phyllis Moran, and Nancy Moran, of Newton Highlands; Jane Perry, and Rachel Donohue, of Waban; Katherine Corcoran, Miriam Lamb, Jane Amidon, Sydelie Silver, Ruth Crosby, Eleanor McCrudden, Phyllis Burt, Patricia Burt, Barbara Bliss, and Virginia Bliss, of West Newton; and Delia Shepherd, Gudrin Robinson, Karin Hauge, and Anne Campbell, of Auburn Dale.

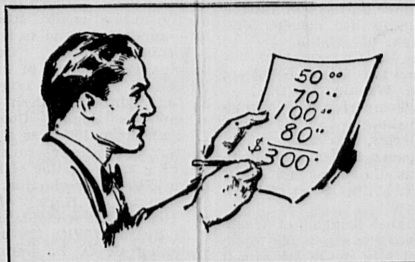

Besides the above lists of boys and girls who have improved their opportunity to learn to swim and to learn how to save life, in the worthwhile courses offered by the Newton Red Cross and the Playground Department at Crystal Lake this summer, it is of interest to note the lists of boys who have received similar instruction in Life Saving under a Red Cross trained instructor, Mr. V. A. Andersop, of West Newton, at the Newton Y. M. C. A., or at Camp Frank A. Day, at East Brookfield, and who will be awarded Red Cross certificates, under the auspices of the Newton Chapter of Red Cross. Those who have passed the Senior Life Saving Tests at the Y. M. C. A. are William Graham, Francis Donalds, Donald Weeks, John Coffey, Morton Harrington, Ben Whelden, and Albert Shapley.

Those who have passed the Senior Life Saving Tests at Camp Frank A. Day are: David Clare, Warren Kelley, William McLean, Lewis McKinney, Arthur Wright, George Alcott, and Robert Hayton.

Those who have passed the Junior Life Saving Tests, at Camp Frank A. Day, are: Thomas Coleman, Albert Feldman, Paul Larkin, John Magee, Trafford Malton, William Hale, Robert Carr, William Hansen, Ross Humphrey, Gilbert Tibolt, Edward Walton, Robert Coulter, Carmen Petrillo, Frederic Simpson, Marvin Axelrod, Russell Cox, and Stuart MacIntyre.

Reading these many names, it is borne in upon one what a profitable summer these young people have spent, for they have not alone had pleasure and exhilaration in this water sport, but they have acquired a knowledge that may be the means of saving many lives, their own and others, through the years to come, which will mean much in many homes.

With the ending of one course of instruction offered, there is the beginning of another, announced by the Newton Chapter of Red Cross. Classes in First Aid and Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick will start on Monday, Sept. 9th, in the Newton Junior High Schools, conducted by Miss H. Margaret Norcross, Chapter Instructor. Soon after that date Classes for Adults in these subjects will be formed, concerning which information will be given later. Meanwhile, those interested may inquire at Chapter Headquarters, 12 Austin St., Newtonville, telephone Newton North 2717.

WELCOME HOME

With the Labor Day holiday week-end now in the past and the opening of another school year in the immediate future, Newton has begun to resume its normal September activity. During the past week and over the coming week-end hundreds of Newton families who have been vacationing at their favorite summer haunts are returning. There is something of a feeling of pleasure in seeing homes that have been closed for weeks open again—with shades up and windows open to the late summer breezes—and, throughout the city, the friendly voices of neighbors in greeting each other. Although many of our readers have been receiving their Graphic regularly at their summer address, others are resuming their contact with Newton affairs with this issue. To all we extend a cordial "welcome home" and a resumption of the many community activities which make the Garden City of Newton the best place in which to live.

A WORTHWHILE SERVICE

Next week the Newton League of Women Voters will open information booths for the purpose of acquainting voters of the city with aspects of the Primary election on Tuesday, Sept. 17th. The organization is non-partisan and the services to be performed, although of a political nature, will likewise be non-partisan. Two booths will be maintained during pre-election week, one at Newton Corner and the other at Newton Centre. Mayor Goddard will officially open the latter at ten o'clock next Tuesday morning.

The League of Women Voters is to be congratulated upon its efforts to assist Newton citizens in obtaining information as to political and election affairs. This year, in particular, it is already evident that voters are taking greater interest in the numerous phases of government, national, state and county. Any opportunity which can be created offering nonpartisan information to voters is a feature of our democracy which should be promoted to the fullest extent.

MAKING AMERICA SAFE

The sale of United States destroyers to Great Britain in exchange for the privilege of naval and airplane bases at various points off the eastern side of the American continents will unquestionably go down in history as a major achievement in the current world crisis. The United States needs these bases as a protection from the menace of totalitarianism—and as a vital factor in maintaining the life of democracy. We need them at any price. Whether or not the sale of the destroyers is an act of war is a debatable question. Public opinion and the fullest sympathy of America is in the ultimate victory of England over Hitler and all that he represents. We do not need to equivocate. The safety of America lies in England's success. If England fails it will not be long before we would of necessity face the threat of domination by a crazed and maddened power, ruthless with the lust for power. Make America safe at all costs.

Auburndale

—Miss Leah H. Joy was awarded a blue ribbon this week at the Well-fleet Fair for her beach plum jelly and pickles.

—The will of the late Mrs. Annie Hurley of 49 Grove st. was filed for probate last Friday. The estate, valued at $25,000, was bequeathed to her granddaughter, Mrs. Shirley Kenney of 52 Central st.

—"Home-Coming Day" will be observed at the Church of the Messiah on Sunday, September 8, with celebrations of the Holy Communion at 8 and 11 a. m. "Building Materials" is the topic selected for the sermon by the Rev. Richard P. McClintock, rector. The Senior Choir under the direction of Frank Willard Neakin will furnish the special music. A feature of the service will be a "preview" of the recently redecorated Parish Hall which will take place following the morning service.

As Many Employed
California's private industries are now employing as many persons as in 1929, according to Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

Newton Upper Falls

—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Willard of Champa ave. and Mrs. Grace Hunt of High st. were severely shaken last Thursday when Mr. Willard's car was in a collision with a motorcycle at Wareham, Mass.

—The Newton Upper Falls Garden Club will hold their September meeting at Camp Mary Day on Tuesday, Sept. 10. Cars will leave Miss A. Gertrude A. Osborne's at 3:30 p. m. A picnic supper will be enjoyed at the camp.

M. C. O. F.

On Tuesday evening, September 10 there will be an open meeting of Father Mantle Court, No. 7. M. C. O. F. in Elks Hall, Centre st., Newton. The meeting will be open to relatives and friends of the children who are members of the court and they are requested to attend. The regular court meeting will convene at 7:45, and it will be followed by motion pictures and entertainment for the juvenile court.

Powers' Paragraphs

Events upon which depend the future of this country are moving rapidly. Last week we mentioned that while the U. S. A. is allegedly a democracy, one man, the President, "can secretly make commitments with foreign nations which may easily plunge us into war." Within the past few days we have had another instance of this fact in the giving to Britain of 50 of our warships. Even men who approve of the transfer of these destroyers from the U. S. Navy to the British Navy, such as Wendell Willkie, assert that President Roosevelt should have obtained the consent of Congress in this vital act.

According to the Constitution of the U. S. A., the President has, through his Secretary of State, the power of immediate direction of all negotiations with foreign countries, but he does not possess the right to finally determine the foreign policy of this country. Treaties require the approval of two-thirds of the Senate for the foreign affairs committee of the Senate is supposed to be kept informed of negotiations with foreign countries which are being conducted by the President. Mr. Roosevelt has not been doing this.

If Britain succeeds in defeating Germany, Roosevelt's act in turning over our 50 destroyers (allegedly obsolete, but also allegedly vital as to the outcome of the struggle between Britain and Germany) will be acclaimed in years to come. If, however, Germany will conquer Britain, this act of Roosevelt's will be condemned both by those who now oppose it, and by many who now favor it. Human nature is so constituted. But, even those who oppose the transfer of the destroyers to Britain must admit that the U. S. A. has gained airplane and naval bases which it would have to seize by force if Germany defeats England.

While we believe that these 50 destroyers will be of great help to Britain, we reassert that they will not determine the outcome of the war. In our opinion, the war will be won or lost by Britain on her ability (or inability) to stand off the air might of the Nazis.

One argument in favor of the transfer of the destroyers is—that Prime Minister Churchill has promised that these warships will not be surrendered to the Nazis or scuttled in the event that Germany overcomes the British islands. Undoubtedly Mr. Churchill would keep his word if he could, but, like Premier Raymond, he might be removed from office by Britain's less resolute if the tide of war goes against England. So, this assurance does not mean much. France was going to fight to the last man, and to the last foreign colony it possessed, a few days before the debacle.

Press reports from England tell of the nonchalance with which the people there are enduring the constant and increasing Nazi bombing of that country. This propaganda listens well, but anyone with common sense must realize that human nerves are somewhat similarly constituted the world over, and that in Poland, France, and England there are now millions of persons, young and old, suffering from varying degrees of shell shock. The mental strain from the horrible bombing must be terrific and a large percentage of the population of Britain will be permanently affected, even as would the people of this country were they subjected to the same ordeal.

Within the next couple of weeks the Mayor and Street Commissioner of Newton must decide to whom they will award the contract for the collection of garbage in this city during the coming five years. They have a difficult decision confronting them. Seven bids were received for the contract, and who for the past 13 years has done an excellent job in collecting the garbage of this city, is the next to the highest bidder. The lowest bid, $37,548 per year, is $7452 below Mr. Janse's. In five years this would amount to $37,260, which seems a considerable amount to save. If the Mayor were certain that the low bidder would give as efficient service as has Mr. Janse, he would be morally bound to award him the contract in justice to taxpayers. But, if the low bidder or the second lowest bidder will be awarded the contract, and during the next five years this very important public service will be performed in an inferior manner to that in which it has been performed during the past thirteen years, the health and comfort of Newton residents will be adversely affected to much larger degree than an annual savings of about $7500 will justify.

Before the contract is awarded, the Mayor (in our opinion) should definitely ascertain what wages will be paid to the employees of the person receiving this contract. The type of service to be given will depend to a large degree on the type of men employed, and the type of men employed will depend to a large degree on the wages paid. We believe that the Mayor will determine this important matter on his own honest judgment, after careful consideration. We do not think he will be unduly influenced either by letters from friends of any of the bidders, or by admonitions from certain persons who are giving unsought counsel to our city government.

Alderman Colby deserves commendation for bringing before the Board of Aldermen at the last meeting the matter of the appearance of the borders along sidewalks in this city.

Some of the Aldermen were inclined to treat this matter facetiously, instead of taking it seriously as they should have done. The increasingly unkempt appearance of our city caused by these weed-covered sidewalk borders is without doubt adversely affecting real estate values in Newton and spoiling the appearance of our otherwise attractive community. Those of us who are life-long residents of the city recall when street borders were properly cared for by city employees, and Newton merited the name of the "Garden City," not the "Weed City."

It is probable that 75 per cent of the GRAPHIC readers favor the election of Wendell Willkie. So, it would be more pleasing to a large majority of our readers if we could write optimistically regarding his chances of election. We shall, however, be frank and call things as we see them. At best, we believe that Mr. Willkie has an uphill fight to defeat Mr. Roosevelt. The tremendous spending resources the latter has at his disposal, and the millions of persons receiving incomes from government payrolls and payments from Federal relief rolls give the present incumbent an advantage that is very difficult to overcome. Mr. Willkie would have to exercise unusual judgment and tact to have a fair chance of election.

In our opinion he made two serious mistakes the past week which will cost him millions of votes. The first was his repudiation of the article in "Social Justice" which favored him. The tactful thing for Willkie to have done in this matter, from a political viewpoint, would have been to ignore it. The Republican candidate, in rejecting the support of the publication sponsored by Father Coughlin deprecated the racial prejudice allegedly characteristic of this weekly. If it were Willkie's thought that by so doing he will receive the support on election day of the race he had in mind, we believe he will be disappointed. The President has been very friendly to members of this race and we believe they will largely vote for him.

A more grievous error was the denunciation by Willkie of the Russell-Overtown amendment which would give the government the power to take over industrial plants that would not allegedly co-operate in national defense. Willkie's blast against conscription of industry, following his advocacy of conscription of men for military service, will definitely lose for him millions of votes, not only of younger men, but also of older citizens. Since the World War leaders of both major political parties have been advocating conscription of both industry and capital, in addition to men for military service in the event of another war. When men are to be conscripted in peacetime for defense purposes, it was very poor judgment on Willkie's part to take this stand on the proposal to give the government the power to take over industrial plants, if and when necessary.

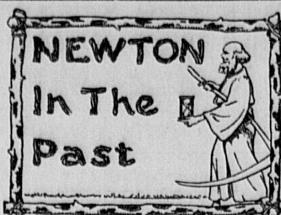

As General Hugh Johnson and other nationally famous commentators observed, the Russell-Overtown amendment is only a piece of political strategy on the part of Congressmen who want to save the feelings of their constituents who oppose compulsory military training, and the government already possesses the power which the Russell-Overtown amendment allegedly would give it. If Mr. Willkie continues to display this lack of political acumen, his chances of election will be quite remote.

George Redpath, a veteran employee of the Cunard-White Star Line, was formerly third engineer on the Carinthia. He was transferred to the Lancastria as second engineer shortly before that ship was sunk off St. Nazaire, while evacuating British troops from France recently. He told a dramatic and tragic story of the bombing of that former well-known cruise ship.

One Nazi warplane swooped over the Lancastria and dropped a huge bomb which missed by about 200 feet. Another Stuka dived toward the luckless ship, jammed with several thousand soldiers and dropped two bombs. Perfect hits were scored. One huge missile went into Number 2 hold; the other into Number 3 hold. The big ship lurched at once and rolled over on its side. Redpath clambered up the tilting deck and onto the exposed side of the ship. As she sank, he plunged into the water, using a breaststroke to keep the thick scum of fuel oil (from the ship's tanks) from entering his mouth and nostrils. As he swam, he was touched by the cries for aid from a badly wounded soldier who was struggling in the water. Turning on his back, Redpath started to tow the soldier. Another German warplane swooped over him and machine-gunned the multitude struggling in the oil-covered water. Redpath's life was saved by the body of the wounded man acting as a shield for a bullet which otherwise would have pierced the heroic engineer. After swimming about for some time, a small French boat rescued Redpath and transferred him to an English ship. A few days later he embarked in another ship of the Cunard line, bitterly incensed at the ruthlessness of the Nazis, and determined to carry on against them. Obviously, Englishmen like Redpath are not being cowed by frightfulness.

Edward Burnham made almost a clean sweep of the bicycle races at Pittsfield, winning 5 of the 8 events. Thus all the first places in the eight races came to Boston (Boston Globe). The Globe evidently wants the earth. Newton is not yet annexed to Boston and does not want to be.

In passing up Newtonville ave. this week we noticed that the Ambrosia Artemisia folia is getting very rank and now occupies about half of what sidewalk there is, that has not moved down the hill. Will the chairman of the highway committee please read the 30th, 31st, and 32nd verses of the 24th Chapter of Proverbs. An excellent and truthful photograph of the present condition of the famous avenue can be seen at this office. Lovers of the beautiful need not call.

Monday the men employed by the city were informed by Supt. of Streets Fuller that commencing that day they would receive $1.50 per day, instead of the $1.75 which had been their pay. They were at work on Walnut st. near the cemetery and they determined to refuse to continue at work, at least until the highway committee of the Aldermen would be given an opportunity to reconsider their action in lowering the wage. They withdrew from the street in a body, and to the number of 200 to 300 held a meeting in Towle's gravel pit off Homer st. Thomas Lippy was chosen chairman and a resolution was adopted unless the old wage of $1.75 was restored. The following committee was chosen to confer with the Mayor and highway committee at City Hall, Ward 1, Cornelius McBride; Ward 2, J. Watson; Ward 3, John Coleman; Ward 4, John Kelly; Ward 5, Fred Fontannay; Ward 6, Dennis Ryan; Ward 7, Thomas Lippy. The laborers say their pay has not been cut before and laborers in other towns and cities receive $1.75.

It is understood that Mayor Kimball spoke to them at their meeting yesterday and expressed his disapproval of the action of the highway committee. He said that if wage reduction must be made, they should start with the highest paid officials of the city, and not be confined to the low paid laborers. The men say that French Canadians and others who do not reside permanently in this city are being kept employed, while men who reside here all the time, pay taxes and possess families, are asked to work for reduced pay.

On Tuesday afternoon a committee of the laborers conferred with the highway committee at city hall. It was agreed that the force of workers would be reduced one half, and that the $1.75 per day wage would be restored. The highway committee had voted for the decrease because the fund for street repairs and construction has become low.

On Monday Thomas, 6-year-old-son of Sidney Hatchard of Newtonville, was run over by the 4:40 inward bound train at Newtonville. He attempted to get on the train after it started and his right leg was cut off above the knee. He was taken into the station by Sydney Hiltz, the baggage-master. He asked for water, and not being able to drink, was fed by a spoon by Miss Mary Reardon, the telegraph operator. As none of the village physicians could be found, the boy was taken into Boston on the train and sent to the Mass. General Hospital, a physician who was on the train curing for him temporarily. His mother was notified and went to Boston on the 5:26 train, arriving at the hospital ten minutes before he died. He was conscious till the last.

Crane's bakery is going to put in a gas engine and machinery owing to the great increase in business.

J. H. Wildman lost a valuable hound this week which had reached the age of 18 years and had been a great pet in the family.

Letter Carrier Jim Dunn started his annual vacation this morning. He went away with a double barreled shotgun, 20 pounds of shot, a large quantity of powder and long rubber boots. His destination is unknown, but there will be great slaughter somewhere.

There has been a great demand this season for moderate priced houses and not more than half a dozen houses are vacant in the south side of the tracks. One real estate agent says that if he had 100 houses that could be rented from $400 to $500 yearly, he could dispose of them within a month. It might pay some capitalist to put up some houses for about $4000 each.

A dog jumped out of Mr. Stuart's team on Wabash st. last evening and the horse was frightened and fell, but was controlled by the driver. The dog then frightened one of Wellington Howes' horses, which ran down Gardner st., plunged over an embankment, wrecking the wagon and throwing out the driver. A number of children were playing below the embankment, but fortunately escaped injury.

There are six dangerous crossings on the main line of the Boston & Albany railroad in Newton, and that fatal accidents are not of frequent occurrence, is solely because of good luck. Hairbreadth escapes are of daily occurrence, and it is a wonder that someone is not killed every week at the Walnut street crossing in Newtonville, where only one crossing tender is on duty at a time. Within a week a crowd of people were horrified at the narrow escape of two ladies who barely escaped being hit by an express train when crossing after they had ducked under the gates.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENTS

Former U.S. Deputy Marshal J. M. Maher Favors Pensions

Believes Old Age Provisions Are Inadequate

Inadequacy of old age pensions under the present arrangement is stressed by Joseph M. Maher, former city councillor, in asking support of his candidacy for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Ninth District. He has issued the following statement:

"After being honored by the citizens of Waltham, serving them as a councillor at large, and also receiving recognition from the present administration at Washington by being appointed a Deputy U. S. Marshal at Boston, together with a political background of 15 years, I feel that my experience and training qualify me to carry the banner of the Democratic party in the coming primary election in September.

"In order to clarify my position in this Congressional campaign for the Democratic nomination, I wish to make my stand on these issues:

"1—I believe that old age pensions are inadequate and should be increased from the average payment now of $28.63 to $50.00 per month per person.

"2—I believe that the name old age assistance should and must be changed to old age pension, thus removing the stigma of false pretense.

"3—I believe in strict observance of the wages and hour law to protect the laboring class of people.

"4—I believe that the best interests of all the people in the Ninth Congressional District will be best served by the election of our great and humane President, Franklin D. Roosevelt."—Advertisement.

teen candidates. He has long been actively interested in politics. He was the campaign manager for Edith Nourse Rogers in her first election to Congress to succeed her late husband. He was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1928 and was chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee for the northern part of the county in that same year. In 1930 he was elected to the State Senate and was re-elected two years later; like many others he was defeated in the 1934 Democratic landslide. While in the Senate he became Republican floor leader. He is a veteran and rose to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel under General Edwards of the Yankee Division. He was also the first president of the YD Association.

Col. Stevens is using at least one campaign argument which may prove effective. That argument is that the northern end of the county is entitled to representation on the County Commissioners. The brief term of Victor Jewett who was appointed to fill a vacancy being the only representation in some years from that part of the county. In addition Col. Stevens is emphasizing his long business and political experience as among his qualifications for the office. He has endorsements from numerous associations such as the Federation of State, City and Town Employees, the Lowell Building Trades Council, and many individuals.

Col. Stevens released a statement this week carrying the endorsement of Rep. William B. Baker of Newton, and former Budget Commissioner Carl A. Raymond, both of whom were outstanding in striving for economical administration of state expenditures.

John A. Sweeney of Cambridge, another unknown in the county at large is the following name on the ballot.

Rep. Herbert L. Trull of Tewksbury is the only other candidate besides Col. Stevens from the northern section. Coming from a smaller town and with Lovell backing Stevens rather solidly it would be surprising if Trull showed sufficient strength to win the nomination. He has been active in his home community in many ways, holding several local offices at one time or another, and has served his district in the House of Representatives ably during the past four years.

Frank D. Walker of Marlboro is the only candidate besides Mr. Bowditch, from the extreme southern end of the county. Active for a long time in his home city but not too widely known generally Walker's chances are small.

Turning to the contest for County Treasurer we find three candidates opposing the nomination of Charles F. Howard of Reading to fill the unexpired term of two more years left by the late Charles E. Hatfield of Wist Newton. Mr. Howard was named to the position by the County Commissioners on the death of Mr. Hatfield. Unquestionably he will be nominated. The three other candidates are William F. Drake of Framingham, John E. Howard of Medford and Frank M. Syrewicz of Somerville.

The Medford Howard, who is in no way related to the County Treasurer, released a statement this week stating that he endorses "Charles F. Howard and should greatly appreciate it if my friends would feel as I do that honest public service should be rewarded" by returning the present treasurer to office. The Medford Howard's name will appear on the ballot and may, in some instances, cause confusion in the mind of the voter.

The Democratic Candidates

The Democratic nomination for clerk of courts in Middlesex County will go to either J. Gordon Duffy of Cambridge or Martin Leo Vahey of Watertown with the former having the advantage of being first on the ballot and also coming from a large city.

As already stated there is no Democratic candidate for Register of Deeds in the southern district of the county unless some "sticker" candidate appears in the near future.

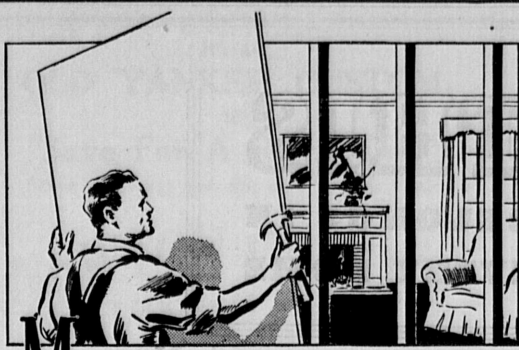

Former County Commissioner Thomas B. Brennan of Medford and Francis J. Kelley of Lowell are the only candidates for their party nominations as County Commissioners. Brennan's candidacy as a Republican aspirant and the votes he may poll will give an indication of his strength in the November election.

Raymond H. Hurley of Lowell is the Democratic candidate for County Treasurer. With the normal overwhelming G. O. P. plurality in the county it is probable that County Treasurer Charles P. Howard will be re-elected in November.

How President Resigns

A President or vice president of the United States may resign by signing a written statement of resignation and forwarding it to the department of state—not to the legislative or judicial branch of the government. This procedure is set forth in a federal law adopted in 1792 and still in effect. The law says in part: "A resignation of the office of President or Vice President shall be an instrument in writing declaring the same . . . and delivered into the office of the Secretary of State." No President has ever resigned, but one vice president has—John C. Calhoun of South Carolina. He quit the vice presidency in 1832 in order to become a senator.

Rabbit Game Animal

The lowly rabbit has been elevated to the dignity of game animal by the state of Alabama. New hunting rules promulgated by the state conservation department stipulate that the little animal can be hunted with a gun only from October 1 to February 20. Missouri also has clamped a closed season on rabbit hunting.

More Burglaries In the Newtons

The cottage occupied by Thomas Murphy, caretaker at the Liggett estate at 185 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill was entered on Sunday afternoon while the occupants were absent and $15 stolen from a bureau drawer. Entrance was effected by removing a window screen.

After the burglary at the Liggett estate, police were informed that on August 27 a girl about 18 years old was observed entering the apartment of the chauffeur at the Bradley estate at 314 Hammond st. It was thought she might have committed the burglary at the Murphy home.

Saturday afternoon a burglary was discovered at the home of Julius Krinsky, 43 Woodchester drive, Newton Centre. The break had been made the previous day during the absence of the family from that address. Clothing and a silver tray were taken.

The beer room at 41 Needham st., Newton Highlands, owned by James Collins, was entered early last Friday morning. The loot included 33 cartons of cigarettes and 175 cigars. The B. & A. railroad station at Eliot st. was broken into early the same morning. A carton of cigarettes and 10 cigars were stolen.

Auto Accidents

Several serious automobile accidents occurred in Newton the past two days. At 1:40 a. m. Tuesday a car driven by Miss Simone Chagnon of 650 Centre st., Newton, hit a pole at Park and Sargent sts. The car was owned by Samuel Mardochew of 61 Bridge st., Nonantum. He received a head injury when he was hurled against the windshield.

Mardochew told the police that he and Miss Chagnon, in company with another young man and woman, had visited an Allston cafe earlier that night, and after he had dropped the other couple near their homes, he allowed his companion to operate the car teaching her to drive. He said that he fell asleep just before the accident. Inspector Hammell of the Traffic Bureau will ask for complaints against Mardochew.

At 3:15 a. m. Thursday a car driven by Ralph Smith of 53 Boylston st., Watertown, went out of control while coming down the steep grade on Centre st., hit the curb and then went into the yard at 45 Wesley st. The car was badly wrecked and the constant blowing of its damaged horn awakened the neighborhood. Smith had a tooth knocked out, and John Murphy of Montevue ave., Brighton, who was riding with him, received a head injury and was taken to Newton Hospital.

Smith told Inspector Hammell that he was employed at the Sherman Paper Products Company in Upper Falls, and during a recess there he and his companion were going to the Waldorf luncheon at Newton. He said he was travelling at a rate of 45 miles. He lost control of the car when he came to the sharp grade and curve at Centre and Hollis sts.

A car driven by Harold Langlois, Jr., 23, of Baker st., West Roxbury, hit a tree at 1:50 a. m. last Saturday on Commonwealth ave. near Woodbine st., Auburndale. Langlois escaped with minor injuries, but three young persons riding in his car received serious injuries. Barbara Hansen, 21, of 23 Brookside ave., Newtonville, and David Hurley, Jr., of Brookwood st., Roxbury, received possible skull fractures, and Rita Lannigan, 23, of Wakefield, received a fracture of her left arm. Miss Hansen and Hurley were taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance; Miss Lannigan and Langlois were taken to the hospital in a police patrol car. The automobile was badly wrecked.

Newton Men Head Salvation Army Drive

Two Newton men were named this week to head divisions of the annual Salvation Army campaign for financial assistance to begin Oct. 7th and continue until November 8th, with an objective of $200,000. Andrew S. Seller of Burr rd., Newton Centre, head of the restaurant organizations which bear his name, will head the Restaurant Group. Last year Mr. Seller headed the Metropolitan Division. He is one of the most active members of the Advisory Board of the Greater Boston Salvation Army and heads the Administrative committee of the South End Boys' Club. He is a past president of the Boston Rotary Club.

Irving Usen of Ledges rd., Newton Centre, will again head the Fish Group in the campaign. Mr. Usen is one of the leaders of the fish industry with which he has continually been associated since he was a boy of 17, with the exception of service in the army in the World War. He is also a member of the Advisory Board.

A third Newton man, Hazen C. MacDonald of Bellevue st., has been appointed to head the Barbers Group. Mr. MacDonald is at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. He is a former president of the Boston Camp of Gideons and is still active in placing Bibles in hotel rooms and in aiding in men's work at Tremont Temple.

Loaded Guns
Firearms are the third most important cause of male mortalities. Deaths due to cleaning guns or careless handling of loaded guns cause 1.2 deaths per 1,000,000 male persons but only 0.2 per 1,000,000 females.

Profitable Half Year
Profits of 365 important industrial corporations in the first half of 1939 totaled $397,000,000, or just double the earnings reported by the companies for first six months of 1938, according to the National City Bulletin.

Charge Laundry Employee Thief

Ralph Donnaruma, 31, a laundry employee at the Newton Hospital, was arrested late Monday night by Newton police on charges of breaking and entering, and burglary. Richard Garrison of Pine Ridge rd. and Dana March of 1944 Beacon st., observed a light flickering in the home of Alphonse McCormack at 2078 Washington st., near the hospital. Aware that the McCormack family was away, they notified police headquarters and two cruising cars rushed to the scene. The police, under Sergeant Sullivan, found Donnaruma near the McCormack house and placed him under arrest. On his person they found $51 in money which allegedly he had taken from the McCormack house. The money was not genuine; it was counterfeit. Donnaruma claimed he had been given the money earlier that night by another man. Investigation showed that a window had been forced open at the McCormack home, and the house had been ransacked.

Donnaruma is also charged with having entered the homes of Maurice Bishop at 1900 Washington st., Lower Falls, and Lawrence Mathers, 39 Varick rd., Waban. Bishop identified the radio set found in Donnaruma's room as one stolen from his home. Mathers identified three rings found in Donnaruma's room as part of loot taken from his home.

McCormack is employed as an investigator by the U. S. Treasury Department and at present is assigned to work in the South. Treasury investigators from the Boston office came to Newton police headquarters to ascertain facts about the counterfeit money found on Donnaruma. A search of Donnaruma's room disclosed rings, watches and a radio set, which had allegedly been stolen from places unknown. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday and held in $2000 bail for trial on September 7.

VILLAGE GARDEN SHOW

An imposing list of judges will give verdicts on arrangements at the third annual flower show presented by the Village Garden Club of Newton Lower Falls on Friday, the thirteenth, of September. They will be headed by Mrs. Arthur P. Teele of Brookline who is Regional Vice-President of the New England Federation of Garden Clubs. She has written a primer on Flower Arrangements which is considered one of the most instructive books available. Mrs. Edward D. Leonard is also judging. She has studied extensively in New York the art of flower arranging and is well known as a judge of shows. She has been on the board of the Newton Centre Garden Club for many years and is to be their next vice-president. Mrs. John P. Brown, past president of the Auburndale Garden Club, is the third judge. She is also an authority on flower arrangements.

This Garden House has one of the most noted gardens in New England. Mr. Thomas Donahue, the owner, has loaned this house on the banks of the Charles for the Flower Show. There are more varieties of day lilies to be seen here than in any garden in the vicinity and also hundreds of other species making a colorful view from the balcony.

There will be signs posted along the street to guide visitors. The house will have a large colonial lady sign on the lawn. Doors will be open from 1:30 to 9:00 p. m. There will be a small admission charge. Dainty refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome.

Very truly yours,
ELIZABETH W. LANGE,
Asst. Sec.
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ." These words from Romans comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, September 8, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Man." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart" (1 Samuel 16:7).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be included: "The individuality of man is no less tangible because it is spiritual and because his life is not at the mercy of matter. The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death" (p. 317).

'Pocketful of Dixies' and South Became Dixie Land

Probably few persons in the East are familiar with the legend, peculiarly a part of the Mississippi river territory of how the South became known as "the land of Dixie." The story is an interesting one.

In the early thirties of the last century when the lower Mississippi country was a rich and bustling trading area and the river the great highway for traffic between New Orleans and the North, some sections of the country were flooded with "wildcat" money and counterfeiting was so common that suspicion became fixed on almost all paper money in the South.

Through all this period, however, the bank notes of the Citizens Bank & Trust Company of Louisiana at New Orleans, which were printed in both English and French, commanded the respect of the whole Mississippi valley and the rest of the country as well. The $10 note was the most common denomination printed. It bore the Roman numeral, "X," and the Arabic numeral "10." But its chief distinction was the fact that on the bill was printed, amid other lettering in French, the French word "dix," meaning ten.

As there was then so much business with the Mississippi valley it became common for persons heading south into Louisiana on a trading expedition to remark that they would come back "with a pocketful of Dixies." From "Dixies" was an easy step to "Dixie," and thus the South, particularly Louisiana, became known as "the land of Dixie," or "Dixie Land."

Agriculture Students Still Believe Old Superstitions

Public schools have failed to correct beliefs rooted in superstition, according to a study made at the Pennsylvania State college by Ray A. Kurtz, under the supervision of Dr. C. C. Peters, director of educational research.

Mr. Kurtz made the study by comparing the knowledge of 52 adult farmers with that of 56 future farmers enrolled in agricultural schools.

In 22 questions based on superstition, agricultural students' answers were wrong just as often as those of the farmers," Mr. Kurtz said. "Of all the questions in the test, 9 of the 15 most frequently missed were based on superstition."

About two-thirds of both groups still believed no one should eat ice cream and fish together, the results showed. Another common observation frequently missed by the students was the statement that strong drink makes one warm. Farmers were less often fooled by that one.

"The farmers knew more about health and biology from practical observation," Mr. Kurtz stated. "The students knew more about chemistry and physics. However, both groups expressed a desire for more agricultural training and more safety education."

Machine Fills Dam Cracks

Grand Coulee dam in the state of Washington, which has called into play hundreds of kinds of machines from delicate magnetometers to the world's largest power shovels, now has a pumpcrete machine at work.

As might be imagined this apparatus pumps concrete into gaps in the giant structure that could not be filled otherwise, and it is being used at Grand Coulee to firmly cement the 18-foot steel penstocks liners into the 24-foot tunnels. There is no room for machinery between the steel tubes and the walls, so the concrete is being forced in through pipes under pressure.

The pumpcrete machine at Grand Coulee delivers the concrete through a pipe 1,390 feet long, and it must deliver about 43,000 cubic yards of the mixture to seal the tunnels. The mixture used is fine, for the pipe is only eight inches in diameter and nobody wants the pipe to clog. Why? Well, a pipe clogged with 10 tons of concrete in restricted quarters might be difficult to clear out.

Eight cubic yards in a batch, about 60 cubic yards an hour is the capacity of the pumpcrete machine at the Coulee. The pipe calls for about 800 pounds pressure to keep the mixture moving.

Huge Erosion Loss

Two billion dollars a year is lost to American agriculture through the depletion of the nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash supply in farm lands due to erosion. It is estimated that 63,000,000 tons of plant food are thus removed from the soil each year. "The need for a more far-reaching program of soil conservation," said a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement committee, "is illustrated by the fact that less than 60,000,000 acres of America's 360,000,000 annual crop acreage are treated with commercial fertilizer every year. Consumption for the entire country is slightly more than a ton per farm for the nation's 6,812,350 farms."

New Tax Load

The automobile industry may be faced with a new tax burden of $4,000,000 annually if a Colorado precedent in applying chain store taxes to auto dealers is followed in other states, a nationwide survey by the magazine Automotive Retailer reveals.

Women's Club Activities

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

New England Conference at Swampscott

Vital topics and attractive social events and outings are among the plans rapidly being formulated for the three-day convention of the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs, which will be held at the New Ocean House in Swampscott, September 23rd, 24th, and 25th. Newton clubwomen who wish to attend this Conference should make reservations at once with the hotel, or for nearby quarters. The chairman of Housing for 1940 is Mrs. Mahlon G. Knowles, 255 Burrill st., Swampscott, and all those desiring rooms in private homes, should communicate directly with her, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope, and she will make arrangements. Rates are $1.00 to $1.50 a person, two in a room, and $2.00 to $2.50 for single room. Many homes serve breakfast.

The program has been arranged to stir the women to newly-inspired heights of true patriotism. "To have and to hold American democracy" will be the underlying note.

Lieutenant Governor Horace T. Cabell of Massachusetts will give the opening address on Monday afternoon, September 23rd. Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a former president of the Massachusetts Federation, will give the invocation, and Mrs. David A. Westcott and Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth will extend the welcome of the Hostess State. Mrs. Harry W. Smith, president of the New England Conference, will respond.

A Banquet in honor of the Golden Jubilee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be given by the Federation in New England as guests, will be held Monday evening.

Mrs. J. Arthur Snyder, music chairman, recently announced that the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Boston will present Monday evening's programs. This group of women has won wide acclaim in the musical world. Following the concert, there will be an Open Forum on "New England Women Talk It Over." As this forum promises to be one of the old-fashioned "Town Meetings" no time limit has been set, and every woman present will be urged to participate.

On Tuesday morning, the 24th, a Citizenship Program will be presented, with the co-operation of the Lynn Public Schools.

The committee of American Citizenship, Mrs. Merrill F. Proctor, chairman, is working to preserve democratic institutions, by urging the schools to teach citizenship, and by asking the adults to make communities where children can grow into democratic, intelligent, freedom-loving citizens bearing the responsibilities of government. Mrs. Proctor's program is revolving around the "Conference Theme." "To Youth Belongs the Future, to Maturity the Opportunity to Mold It."

Miss Eunice Avery will give a program of Current Events after the "Round-Table discussion by the six State Presidents." In the evening, Professor Duncan Hall of Harvard will address the Conference. There will be a banquet Tuesday in honor of the past presidents of the New England Conference.

Alice Dixon Bond will close the Conference on Wednesday morning, the 25th, with an inspirational talk on "Windows of Life." Many other social functions also have been planned for the guests. Tuesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will be a drive to Marblehead, and the Marblehead Federated Clubs will be hostesses at tea. After the Tuesday evening session there will be a Reception to Officers of the Conference.

Garden Club to Give Annual Flower Show

The Annual Flower Show of the Newton Upper Falls Garden Club will be held at the Voting Place in the rear of the Emerson School, Thursday, September 19, from 1 to 3 p. m. Admission to the Exhibit is free, but there will be a charge of 25 cents for afternoon tea which will be served from 2:30 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. Frank G. Mordo is in charge of the Show, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Capobianco and Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin.

The following classes of exhibits have been planned:

1. "Your Favorite Bouquet," in metal container. Chairman, Miss Nellie M. Osborne.
2. For School Children. Girls: Bouquets from School Garden. Boys: Original Bird Houses. Chairman, Miss Grace G. Hunt.
3. Yellow and Orange Flowers, in white container against black background. Chairman, Mrs. John H. Donlan.
4. Arrangement for Tea Tables. Chairman, Mrs. Elmer L. Atwell.
5. Gourds and Winter Bouquets. Chairman, Mrs. Almeda L. Brennan.
6. Display of Vegetables and Fruit. Chairman, Mrs. Antonio Valente.
7. Miniature Window with Flower Box. Chairman, Mrs. Frank G. Mordo.
8. Mixed Bouquets. Chairman, Mrs. Thomas L. Alken.

Newtonville Garden Club

The Newtonville Garden Club will meet at 10 a. m. on Thursday, Sept. 12, at the home of Mrs. H. W. Orr, 258 Mill st., Newtonville. There will be a Roll Call, a Garden Sale, and a discussion of Summer Experiences.

General Federation To Combat Fifth Columnists

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is about to launch a new Americanization Program, one that will combat the "Fifth Columnists" and will reaffirm the faith of organized clubwomen in democracy and seek to revitalize its meaning. Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, General chairman of the Golden Jubilee of the General Federation, declares that no higher or finer aim could be the theme of this celebration of fifty years of women's progress in freedom. She appeals to the clubwomen of the United States to conduct meetings which shall be of benefit to the entire community. Such a program should cover all topics for the preservation of American Democracy, national defense, peace, human needs in a community, benefits of democracy, improvement of labor, living standards, meaning of alien registration, understanding of legislation relating to national defense, explanation of true Americanism to victims of Fifth Columnists, and benefits to a free people in a Democracy. Every Club, district, and state could conduct a Jubilee Americanism Meeting. It is recommended that Program and Civics chairmen, jointly, arrange such special events.

At such meetings funds could be raised by charging admission, by adding an additional amount on the banquet or luncheon ticket, or by taking up a collection during the meeting. Such funds contributed to the General Federation Foundation Fund will be used to provide money for an Americanization program. The amount raised by a club will be credited to the quota of the state, and it will count in the Prize Contest which was inaugurated last year in connection with the Birthday Parties.

To quote Mrs. Whitehurst: "During the next year, let us dedicate ourselves to the preservation of American ideals and liberties. Let us raise funds through the medium of patriotic Jubilee meetings, for a national program for the preservation of American Democracy, and for the emergencies that may arise during the next few years which may necessitate clubwomen's participation in the defense and peace of our country. If we are to help our country at a time when it needs the co-operation of women, we must have sufficient funds to initiate and carry out an understanding national program. We have talked about preserving Democracy for a number of years—here is an opportunity to show that we mean what we say!"

India's Sandlewood Trees
India's rich forests of sandlewood have been rescued from a dread disease after a scourge lasting 40 years. Called "spike disease," owing to the spike-like appearance it produces on the foliage of the trees, the disease caused an annual loss of more than $250,000 in Madras and $800,000 in other parts of India. Although the exact species of insect responsible for the disease has not been discovered, the forestry officials at Madras have found measures to control and eradicate the pest. This success is the result of years of research at heavy cost.

Sizing for Rugs
Rugs in constant use frequently lose their shape and just won't lay down because the sizing on the under side has deteriorated. According to the extension service of the University of Nebraska agricultural college, the life of such rugs may be prolonged by resizing them. First thoroughly clean the rug by shampooing and let it dry. Then tack it napside down on the floor and apply a solution of one part glue (one-fourth pound) and eight parts water (two quarts). If the rug is light weight, be sure not to put on so much glue that it penetrates to the right side. After application of the sizing, let the rug dry for 24 hours before relaying.

Fist Fight Costs Combatants $30

Patrick Gill of 105 Galen st., Watertown and Michael Henehan of Gardner st., Allston, were each fined $10 for disturbing the peace, and $20 for drunkenness by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Friday. On August 5 the pair became involved in a fight outside a Newton lunchroom after Gill had allegedly made a disparaging remark about a girl friend of Henehan's. Each claimed the other hit the first blow. Gill received a black eye, and Henehan received a severe cut on his right hand, severing an artery when he missed a blow at Gill and thrust his hand through a plate glass window. The scrap occurring at the noon hour, caused much excitement at Newton Corner for several minutes.

John Flaherty, 20, of 19 Austin st., Newtonville, and Edward Hackett, 25, of 1234 Washington st., West Newton, were each fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Thursday for disturbing the peace. Drunkenness charges were filed. Patrolman Greeley testified that on Monday night he and other policemen arrested the pair after they had been engaged in a fight in an alley at 1255 Washington st., West Newton.

Gave False Name Fined $15 in Court

John Bernat, 17, of Medford, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Wednesday for giving a false name to a policeman, $10 for driving without a license, and $5 for speeding. On July 19, Bernat was stopped on Washington st. by Inspector Hammell for speeding and gave the name and address of another man. The other man was summoned into the Newton court and Bernat's deception discovered.

Fined For Leaving Scene of Accident

Jason Raymond, 19, of Laughton st., Brookline, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Wednesday for leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. On August 26 a car driven by young Raymond collided with a bicycle ridden by Robert Joyce, 17, of 684 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre. The accident occurred on the turnpike. According to Raymond he asked the Joyce boy if he were injured, received a negative answer, and then drove off. A girl who was nearby took the numbers on Raymond's car. The bicycle was damaged.

New 1941 Buick Price Changes

Notwithstanding general rises in material and operating costs, list prices of new Buick cars for 1941 have been held to an average increase of 2.12 per cent, while four models have been reduced and another body classification added at a price $55 lower than its nearest counterpart last year.

At the same time, weight has been added to all Buick models and new features of design and construction incorporated in the cars which substantially increase their value.

This was announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, President and General Manager, who said he believes the 1941 Buick price structure, considering all basic influences, represents a higher dollar value than at any previous time in the company's long history.

He said the fact of Buick's new high volume accomplishment with the 1940 models, and the projected sales of more than 300,000 during the new model run, effects savings through volume production which are passed on to the consumer in the price of the cars.

List prices are lower on all Series 70 Roadmaster cars except the Convertible Coupe, which has been raised $15 or 1.11 per cent. The four-door Convertible Phaeton in the Series 50 super line also has been cut $25.

Increases in the Series 40 cars which have new aerodynamic bodies of substantially larger dimensions, and entirely new chassis and new accessories, range from $28 to $38 averaging a 3.7 per cent increase.

In the Series 50 super cars, featuring the popular "Torpedo" type bodies the average list price increase is 1.47 per cent. The increases are $25 on two body styles and $45 on a third, with the $25 reduction on the Phaeton model. Part of the increase in these prices covers the addition of compound carburetion to the Series 50 cars as standard equipment.

Included in the list price of the Series 50 cars, along with the Series 60 Century and Series 70 Roadmaster models, are such accessories as flexible steering wheel, clock, license plate frames, wheel trim rings, foam-text seat cushions, rear seat center armrest, extra bumper guards, compound carburetion, panel lights and oil bath cleaner. The latter device is standard on all Buick engines.

A feature car of the whole line, both from a style and price standpoint, is the new Series 40 Sedan, a super-streamlined six passenger two-door coupe-sedan, listing at $950 against last year's price for the Series 40 special four-door sedan of $959. The business coupe model in the same series lists at $895 with an advertised delivered price in Flint, Michigan, of $935.

Mr. Curtice pointed out that throughout the Buick lower price range list prices have been kept under $1000 with the new Series 50 super business coupe also listing below that figure.

Price reductions on four models, the Series 50 Convertible Phaeton, and the Series 70 Roadmaster four door sedan, Sport Coupe and Convertible Phaeton range from $5 to $25.

Buick's new aerodynamic bodies on the Series 60 Century model will show a small increase in price and will carry many new improvements.

In this final article of the series on the political situation before the State Primary election a brief summary of the numerous important contests is in order as the voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to select their nominees.

Attorney General

The first opportunity Republican voters in Newton will have to make a choice among candidates in the contest for attorney general. Six candidates are in the field appearing on the ballot as follows: Clarence A. Barnes of Mansfield, Robert T. Bushnell of Newton, William C. Crossley of Fall River, Edmund R. Dewing of Wellesley, Michael A. Fredo of Arlington, George W. Roberts of Boston. Local interest seems to centre largely between Bushnell and Dewing with the former being sure to receive a flattering vote in his own city. Gains made by Dewing recently, however, seem to have been made at the expense of other candidates and not in any lack of enthusiasm for Bushnell. Increasing local activity for Mr. Dewing and favorable reaction to attempts being made to clear up the unsavory tinge of the wholesale false signing of nomination papers in behalf of the candidacy of William H. McMasters, National Pension party candidate, have been responsible for the boost in Dewing stock. At the same time the approach of the election has brought a warming up of enthusiasm among the supporters of Bushnell. There is a scattering of interest in Newton for Barnes, Roberts and Crossley with little manifestation for Fredo.

Taking the state-wide picture there is some change in the situation with all candidates showing support as indicated a few weeks ago in the analysis of the attorney general contest in these columns. Bushnell is more than holding his own in Middlesex County with Dewing gaining in Norfolk and Plymouth Counties, Crossley in Bristol County and Roberts in Suffolk County. Our guess for the order of finish is Bushnell, Dewing and Barnes close for second and third, Crossley fourth, Roberts fifth and Fredo sixth.

Congress

The second contest on the ballot is that for Congressman from the ninth district. We still must concede the edge to Congressman Luce inasmuch as the opposition is considerably divided, although we do not eliminate Rep. Bowker of Brookline from the picture. Brookline will unquestionably poll a heavy vote for its fellow citizen as Waltham will do for Luce. Edward M. Rowe will undoubtedly come out of Cambridge ahead of his fellow citizen Richard M. Russell, inasmuch as the latter is also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office he served for two years in 1935 and 1936. Rowe, as in previous campaigns, will show some strength in other parts of the district but insufficient to catch the leaders, we believe. George F. Foster of Newton has been little heard from during the campaign but may have sufficient personal following and may capture enough anti-Luce votes to lead Russell at the final count.

The Bowker stock took somewhat of a jump this past week when numerous groups endorsed his candidacy. The Weston Republican Town Committee, the only committee in the State to take a pre-primary stand, this week endorsed an entire slate of candidates for Republican nominations, among them Bowker for Congress. Many Newton people are also lending their efforts towards the Bowker candidacy. Among the Bowker campaign arguments is that the Republican nominee should be the one with the best chance of defeating the Democratic nominee and that the defeat of Mr. Luce in 1934 and the small plurality by which he won in 1936 and 1938 brings out a precarious situation.

The Luce campaign, however, also picked up this week with the release from Washington of a statement that his interest in legislation for adequate national defense has kept him in the capital throughout the summer. "Since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, Mr. Luce has given wholehearted and patriotic support to all recommendations relating to our preparedness that have been recommended by responsible officials charged with the duty of keeping the United States prepared to meet any threat of invasion. His record of faithful attendance to duty during the summer and for the past four years effectively refutes all allegations regarding his health and activity. His record clearly demonstrates that he has the 'stamina and ability to meet the challenge of the times.' It is his regret that duty has prevented him from conducting an active campaign for re-nomination." The present Congressman also is calling attention to the unusual commendations he has been given by minority leader Joe Martin, Democratic leader Rayburn, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse H. Jones and others prominent in governmental circles.

The Rowe candidacy also gained momentum in Newton with increased personal effort of numerous supporters who are making a closing drive for their candidate.

Governor's Council

The third contest for the voters is that for Governor's Council from the Third District. There is little evidence of any activity among the candidates for this office now held by Frank Brooks, a candidate for re-nomination. Unquestionably Mr. Brooks, who has served the state for many years, and is seeking a fourth term in the Council, will be re-elected over his three opponents, William M. Foster of Lowell, Henry I. Morrison of Newton and Victor L. Picard of Lowell.

Senatorial District

The fourth contest of interest to Newton voters is that for the Republican nomination for Senator between Arthur W. Hollis, a candidate for re-nomination for a seventh term, and Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom with Thomas E. Morahan, a newcomer to Newton within the past two years a third aspirant. This contest is expected to be reasonably close with many former supporters and endorsers of the present Senator now espousing Brimblecom's candidacy. There has been no openly intensive campaigning on behalf of either of the two first named candidates although both have been doing considerable personal solicitation of support.

Senator Hollis is basing his campaign on his service as a former alderman, former president of the Board of Aldermen, a former Representative and six terms in the Senate where he has served on numerous committees.

Johnson Named New Director At Camp F. A. Day

C. Evan Johnson of Southgate Park, West Newton, was unanimously elected resident director of the popular Newton Y. M. C. A. Camp Frank A. Day at Brookfield, Mass. for the 1941 season at the September meeting of the Board of Directors of that association.

C. EVAN JOHNSON

Mr. Johnson was selected to fill the vacancy resulting from the resignation of Director Clyde G. Hess, Boys' Secretary of the "Y," who leaves this week to assume his new position as General Secretary of the Burlington, Vt., Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Johnson is a teacher-coach at the Newton High School and has been assistant director of Camp Day for the past eleven years. He is a graduate of Colby College, 1927 and taught at Walpole High School for some years before coming to Newton. While at Walpole he was varsity coach of football, hockey and baseball. In September, 1936, he joined the faculty of Newton High School as a teacher of U. S. History and social studies and was appointed varsity hockey coach to succeed the late Dr. Oscar Martin. He was also appointed assistant football coach.

He enjoys the unique distinction of being the only High School hockey coach whose teams have won championships in two leagues. At Walpole the 1936 sextet won the Bay State League title and last winter the Newton High skaters won the Greater Boston Interscholastic League honors.

Under Mr. Hess at Camp Day during the summer seasons Mr. Johnson was a key man in the organization and it is the belief of the directors that he is eminently qualified to carry on the exceptionally high calibre of work and traditions of Camp F. A. Day. As the director of program activities his close association with the campers has endeared him in the hearts of hundreds of Newton boys.

Janse Again Gets Garbage Contract

On Wednesday Mayor Goddard announced that he had rejected all seven bids recently received for the contract of collecting garbage in Newton the coming five years, and that he had renewed the contract of John Janse for a two year period on a basis of $40,000 per year. Janse who has collected the garbage in this city for the past 13 years was the second highest bidder with a figure of $45,000 per year. The lowest bidder was Joseph P. McCabe of South Boston, whose figure was $37,548 per year. Janse has collected the garbage the past five years at a price of $42,875 yearly.

Dalton Wins More Revolver Trophies

Patrolman David Dalton, one of the expert revolver shots of the Newton police department, and a leading member of its revolver team, added three more prizes last Sunday to the many he has won in past years. He won three of the five matches held at the annual tournament of the Middle-town (Conn.) Police Revolver Association. His trophies included a marble statuette, gold and silver medals, and a silver trophy. Patrolman Joe Smith, who also competed in the tournament, won a third prize.

Supreme Court Judge Decides Against Cullen

In the Supreme Court on Monday Judge Charles H. Donahue made a decision upholding the report of Alexander Lincoln, master in the suit brought by former Sergeant-Mechanic Bart Cullen of the Newton police department, by which Cullen sought to be reinstated to his former position. On April 17, 1939 the Newton Board of Aldermen voted to abolish the position by refusing to appropriate money to pay Cullen after July 1, 1939. Cullen brought legal action, claiming that because of his civil service rights, his seniority entitled him to retention as a regular duty sergeant. In this he was backed up by former Mayor Childs. Cullen also alleged that the Board of Aldermen had not acted in good faith in abolishing the position he held. The aldermen contended they acted in the interest of economy and that a civilian employee could do all the repair and service work needed on the police cars and motorcycles. Alexander Lincoln was appointed master to hear the evidence in the case and most members of the Board of Aldermen were summoned to appear at hearings at Cambridge.

Cullen still has the right to appeal to the full bench of the Supreme Court.

Newton Policeman Dies Suddenly

William L. Riley, 49, of 111 Beethoven ave., Waban, a member of the Newton police department since 1917, died of a heart attack last Sunday afternoon while swimming in the Sakonnet River near Portsmouth, Rhode Island. Riley and his family, together with a number of Mrs. Riley's relatives, and Patrolman Edward Hanlon of the Newton police and his family had gone to the branch of Narragansett Bay on an outing. Riley and Hanlon went in swimming and a strong ebb tide carried them some distance out in the river. Riley suddenly called for assistance and collapsed. For a full half-hour Hanlon held his companion afloat in the water, far from shore. The other members of the party then realized that something was wrong and John Shearns of Brookline swam out to Hanlon's assistance. After he had held Riley for a short while a motorboat came along, the first craft which had appeared that day in the vicinity, and took the three men to the shore.

Telephone calls for assistance brought police with a pulmotor to the scene, but Riley could not be revived. The deceased was born in Waban, the son of Thomas A. and Sarah (Kelly) Riley. Shortly after becoming a member of the Newton police department in 1917, he entered the U. S. Army and served in France during the war with a transport unit. He was a member of Newton Post, A. L. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine (Hagerty) Riley; three children, William J., Thomas A. and Miriam S. Riley; and a sister, Mrs. Owen Shearns of Waban.

Mr. Riley's funeral service was held on Thursday morning at St. Philip Neri Church, Waban. A squad of Newton police, headed by Serg. Lee-han served as an escort, and a detail from Newton Post, A. L. was in charge of Captain George Henriks. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham, where military honors were accorded.

School Attendance Decrease Smaller Than Expected

More pupils were enrolled at Newton public schools on Monday than was expected. The total number was 11,434. Last year the total on the first day of school was 11,482. It had been thought there would be a larger decrease. At the high school 2558 reported, 30 less than last year. The trade school showed an increase of 24, the number of children enrolling totalling 273. In the junior high schools 2863 pupils reported, an increase of 17; and in the elementary schools the total was 5740, a loss of 59.

Legion Wants Flags Displayed During Convention

Commander Arthur Hunt of Newton Post 48, American Legion, has requested Newton merchants to display American flags in front of their places of business from Sept. 22nd to 26th during the National Convention of the Legion in Boston. Newton Post will be host to the Fort Dearborn, Michigan, Post, during their stay. On Monday night the Board of Aldermen appropriated $250 to assist the Post under 1939 Act of the Legislature authorizing cities and towns to defray expenses of visiting Legionnaires.

Election Contests Of Interest To Newton Voters

With the State Primary election called for next Tuesday, Sept. 17th, the coming week-end forecasts the conclusion of present political campaigns. Considerable local interest is being aroused among Newton Republicans in various contests for nominations by the voters of that party. Little evidence has been shown of much interest by Democratic voters in selecting the nominees to carry the banners of their party in November. With no contest at the top of the Republican ticket, it is anticipated that a 40 per cent turnout of the nearly 36,000 Newton voters will indicate better than average interest.

Attention locally is focussed largely upon three Republican contests; that for the nomination for attorney general in which Robert T. Bushnell of Newton is a leading contender, that for the nomination as Senator from the new Middlesex-Suffolk district in which Senator Arthur W. Hollis is being opposed by Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom, with Thomas E. Morahan a third aspirant, and that for the two vacancies in the 4th Middlesex Representative District in a four-cornered battle between Harold D. Ames of Newtonville, Phillip W. Carter of West Newton, Alderman Clarence C. Colby of Newton, and Loomis Patrick of West Newton.

Other contests which are attracting more than passing attention are the Congressional battles for nominations by both parties. On the Republican ballot four candidates are attempting to unseat the veteran Robert Luce of Waltham. They are Rep. Phillip G. Bowker of Brookline, George F. Foster of Newton and Edward M. Rowe and Richard Russell of Cambridge. In past years Newton has been loyal to Congressman Luce and his success on Tuesday may well depend upon whether Newton gives him the usual handsome plurality or whether his opponents have been able to make the headway they have hoped for. On the Democratic side the nomination will probably go to either Thomas Elliot, well-known co-author of the Society Security Act, or to ex-Mayor and ex-Congressman Richard Russell, both of Cambridge. Cornelius Cronin of Cambridge and Joseph Maher of Waltham are also candidates with the latter's vote in his home city having some bearing on the Elliot-Russell battle.

Although attracting little attention in Newton the contest for Middlesex County Commissioners is of considerable importance. Eighteen candidates are competing for two positions with the anticipated renomination of Commissioner Nathaniel Bowditch of Framingham as one of the successful candidates. Commissioner Walter Wardwell of Cambridge is not a candidate and this vacancy has caused a large number of aspirants, each with strong support in their home cities and scattered support throughout the county. Leading contenders for the second position are Leslie G. Ainley and Howe Coolidge Amee, both of Cambridge, Archibald R. Gironx of Lexington, Mayor William A. Hastings of Malden, Colonel Charles A. Stevens of Lowell and Frank D. Walker of Marlborough.

Another contest of major importance to Newton voters is the choice of two nominees for Representative from the 5th Middlesex District, comprising Wards 4, 5 and 6 of Newton. Rep. Douglas E. Francis is a candidate for re-election. Other candidates are Mrs. Margaret L. Spear and Hans W. Lundstrum.

(Editor's Note—A more detailed summary of the political situation and the primary contests will be found in our "Politicallight" column.)

Aldermen Grant Permit For Gas Station Despite Numerous Objections

Fight Against Station Near Crystal Lake To Be Continued at Next Meeting of Board

By a vote of 11 to 6 the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night granted a permit to Elsie Tufts for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Center. The matter of granting a permit for a gasoline station at this locus has been the subject of controversy over a period of seven years, and several previous petitions by various persons were rejected by the Aldermen after strong opposition had been evidenced by residents of both Newton Center and Newton Highlands. The aldermen who voted in favor of granting the permit on Monday night were: Fahey, Everts, Schipper, Eaton, Bacon, Walker, Hoffman, Jamieson, Rawson, Lockwood and Colby. The latter, after the vote had been announced, stated he would move for reconsideration at the next meeting of the Board. The aldermen who voted against granting the permit were Barwise, Gaddis, Hughes, Temperley, McKay and Inches. President Floyd did not vote. Aldermen Lee, Whidden and Cronin were absent. Cronin, however, as a member of the Licenses Committee, had voted in the committee in favor of granting the permit.

A hearing on the petition was held on April 1st of this year, and action on it was delayed until Monday night. In submitting the majority report of the Licenses Committee recommending the granting of the permit, Alderman Fahey said that the committee, after a long study had concluded that the granting of the permit, in conjunction with an agreement from the petitioners and the ice company to clear the property and agree to a zone change, is a practical plan to rid the neighborhood of an eyesore. Alderman Hughes of the Licenses Committee said he objected largely because the petitioner promised to pay as much as $1000 to clean an adjoining lot (owned by the Metropolitan Ice Company) if the permit for the station will be granted, and the ice company agrees to a change of its property from business to general residence zone. Hughes said—"If that's not a deal, I never saw one."

Replying to Hughes, Alderman Jamieson said that the petitioner, Elsie Hughes, is a straw, being an employee of the ice company, and the company actually owns the property. Jamieson said he favored the granting of the permit because the petition and agreement is a compromise between the owners of the property, and residents of the section who formerly had objected, and results in a solution of the disposition of the land where the eyesore has been. Replying to the argument that the station will create a traffic hazard, Jamieson read a letter from Lewis McBrayne, executive secretary of the Mass. Safety Council which stated that the danger of accidents near filling stations is negligible. General Needham who was attorney for the petitioners is president of the Mass. Safety Council. Jamieson also quoted figures from the report of the Registry of Motor Vehicles to show that during 1939 only 7 accidents occurred near filling stations in Massachusetts.

Alderman Temperley said the granting of the permit would be a "deal," pure and simple, and would be the first time that such a deal had been spread unblushingly on the records of the Board of Aldermen. He recalled the number of times this and previous Boards of Aldermen had refused filling station permits, both at this locus and other sites because of alleged traffic hazards. He said if the owners of the property want to spend $1000 to remove an eyesore by cleaning their property, let them do it, but not to deliver an ultimatum to the Aldermen that the cleaning up of the eyesore depends on the granting of the station permit.

Alderman Rawson favored the permit because it would be for the best interests of the city, and the best way to clean up a bad eyesore. Rawson denied that it was a "deal." Replying to Rawson, Alderman McKay said:

I reply to the Alderman from Ward 7 that at a previous meeting which he did not attend, it was proposed that the influence, if any, of the several Aldermen present be used to further the granting of the gasoline station permit and that the gasoline company would expend one thousand dollars in cleaning up the ice house lot, and that the ice company would apply for rezoning from manufacturing to private residence. I rejected any such conditions as a basis for giving my approval to a gas station, and with such emphasis that I am not surprised it was not openly presented again.

I boiled inwardly and am boiling now that an attempt is made to bribe the City of Newton. No member of this board would accept a consideration for approving a permit, and the

THE REAL SIGNIFICANCE

Next Tuesday will be the State Primary election. It is extremely significant that probably not more than forty per cent of the voters of Newton will participate in the selection of nominees of the major parties. For in reality those voters who ballot on Tuesday will actually be electing those candidates in November who will carry the Republican designation after their name because of the large majority of that party in the city of Newton. Thus the greater interest that voters take in Tuesday's election the nearer we will come to real government by and for the people. We trust that our readers appreciate the significance of their vote on Tuesday and will welcome the opportunity to exercise their free right of franchise. It is more than a privilege—it is a duty to the state and city in which we live.

NEWTON NEEDS A CHANGE

We feel that we would be derelict in our duty were we to fail to acquaint our readers and voters in Newton with our views of certain phases of next Tuesday's election, particularly in our personal attitude. For eight years we have enjoyed the confidence of the electorate of Newton as a Representative in the State Legislature. We have attempted to merit that confidence and will always feel a measure of pride in the numerous expressions of that confidence we have received during these years. When first a candidate for public office we pledged ourselves not to permit the desire to hold office to affect our viewpoint of measures under consideration but to make our decisions always for the best interests of those we represented. We further pledged that we would not seek unreasonable continuation in that same office. Accordingly this coming year we turned aside the opportunity to continue as a Representative. Having the belief that we merited the confidence of the electorate we became a candidate for the Senate as we believe that the continuous holding of that office by the present Senator, without serious challenge, should no longer be permitted. In addition we believe that this long service has resulted in the failure to continue to represent the views of the majority of the voters of the district as indicated by the roll-call record of the present Senator on several issues of vital importance to the best interests of the state and the community. Regardless of the outcome of the contest between the present Senator and the writer at next Tuesday's election we pledge ourselves to a continuation of the standards by which we measure our actions.

G. LILLIAN EDMANDS

Miss G. Lillian Edmands passed away on September 11 at Newtonville, after an illness of more than a year. She was born in Newburyport, Mass., and after graduating from the local high school in 1899 with highest honors, she attended the Lowell Normal School and Bradford Academy, receiving her degree in education from New York University. Miss Edmands taught a few years in Attleboro and Beverly, Mass., and in 1909 was appointed teacher of mathematics in Weehawken, N. J., where she taught for over thirty years. Miss Edmands made a host of friends and was active in civic and church work, especially at the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City. Funeral services are to be held at the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville, Mass., at 11 a. m. Saturday, with Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers of Broadway Tabernacle officiating, assisted by Rev. Randolph S. Merrill of Newtonville.

Interment will be in the family lot at Newburyport.

Surviving are two brothers, Frederick L. and George A. Edmands, both of Newtonville, a sister, Mrs. Ruth H. Osborne, of West Kingston, R. I., and her step-mother, Mrs. LaRoy S. Edmands, of Clinton, Mass.

GEORGE N. ROBERTS

George N. Roberts of 56 Pine Ridge rd., Waban, died on September 12. He was born in Cambridge 65 years ago, graduated from Harvard in 1897 and then was associated with newspapers in Boston and New York. In 1899 he became employed by the Bemis Bag Company, was made manager of its Omaha plant in 1907 and subsequently became president of this company and chairman of its board of directors. He was a member of the Harvard Exchange, Boston City and Brae Burn Clubs. Mr. Roberts is survived by two sons, William of Minneapolis and George of St. Louis; two brothers, Daniel of Waterville, Maine, and Ernest of Peoria, Illinois; and three sisters, Mrs. George Hartshorn and Miss Frances Roberts, both of Taunton, and Mrs. Edith Maxwell of Tenant's Harbor, Maine. His funeral service will be held on Monday at 2 p. m. at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban.

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragraphs

According to the official British reports, about four times as many German warplanes have been downed in the battle over England as have British planes. According to the German reports, between three and four times as many British planes have been downed as have German planes. Obviously some one of the contestants has been lying or doing wishful bragging. From our knowledge of London and its thickly settled districts, we can't accept the figures reported in the newspapers as the total number of persons killed by terrific Nazi bombing of the past ten days. We believe that when the actual facts become known the total of fatalities will be greatly increased.

The action of Mayor Goddard in rejecting all bids recently received for the collection of garbage in Newton during the coming five years, and then awarding the contract for two years to John Janse, at a revised bid of $40,000 per year, will, undoubtedly, be criticized by some. According to the city charter, all contracts for $1000 or over must be submitted to bid, but the Mayor has the right to reject all bids, and he also has the right to order a contract for more than $1000 awarded without being subjected to competitive bidding, if he sees fit.

Except in unusual cases, there would be little justification for any Mayor of Newton following the course as did Mayor Goddard in the matter of the garbage collecting. There were seven bidders and Janse was next to the highest with a bid of $45,000 per year. The lowest bid was Joseph P. McCabe of South Boston, whose bid was $37,548, considerably less than Janse's bid. Janse has had contracts for collecting garbage in Newton for the past 13 years and has performed this very important service in a satisfactory manner. Had the Mayor awarded the contract to Mr. McCabe, he would have saved the city $7,452 yearly from Janse's first bid of $45,000, and in five years this would amount to over $37,000. But, if McCabe during that period did not serve residents, institutions, restaurants and markets of Newton as efficiently as has Janse, citizens and taxpayers of Newton would frequently complain and regret that for the difference of a few cents in the tax rate, their comfort and health would be adversely affected by poorer service in the collection of garbage. By awarding the contract to Janse for two years at $40,000 yearly, the city will pay $4904 more than had McCabe been given the contract.

Mayor Goddard cannot be accused of paying any political debt to John Janse by awarding him the contract. Janse was not with Goddard in the mayoralty contest last November. He was a strong supporter of Edwin O. Childs. So, the Mayor should be given credit for sincerely acting for what he believes to be the best interest of the city.

The writer's position on this matter has been plainly stated in this column during the past few weeks. I do not know Mr. McCabe, and cannot say that he would not give as efficient service as has Mr. Janse. I am under no obligation to Mr. Janse, have never received any favor from him, and am not included among his close friends or associates. Neither was I included among those who wrote to the Mayor asking that he be awarded the contract. But, I believe the Mayor was actuated by a desire to serve the best interests of the city in this matter.

The action of a majority of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night in voting to grant a permit for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Centre, properly is meeting with much condemnation in this city. It was the most flagrant exhibition of "about face" displayed by a Newton Board of Aldermen since the route of the Hammond Pond Parkway was changed eight years ago to satisfy the desire of a few Chestnut Hill residents. A established a precedent whereby the Newton Board of Aldermen went on record as trafficking in the granting of a permit which is supposed by law to be decided on its own merits. The power to grant licenses and permits which is vested in legislative bodies, such as Boards of Aldermen or Selectmen, should be exercised solely on the merits of the matter involved.

The question of granting a permit for a filling station on the ice company property near Crystal Lake first came before the Board of Aldermen on December 18, 1933, and the then petitioner was S. Hardy Mitchell, an old resident of Newton Centre. That petition was opposed by members of the Newton Highlands Men's Club, Newton Women's Club, and numerous Newton Centre residents. It was also opposed strongly by Steven Berke of 43 Norwood ave., who asserted he was a consulting engineer, and quoted from his professional experience to argue how dangerous the locus was because of the traffic hazards the grades on both approaches presented, and what a menace it would be to the many school children who have to walk by the place. Two months later that petition was given leave to withdraw by a unanimous vote of the 1934 Board of Aldermen.

The next attempt to obtain a filling station permit at this place came in September, 1935, when a petition was received from Catherine Karalekas. Steven Berke again appeared in opposition. In fact, he was the leading objector. He again emphasized the traffic hazard and gasoline menace it would be to the school children. Two weeks later the Aldermen unanimously refused to grant the permit.

On November 15, 1937, Mrs. Karalekas, through John Finelli as attorney, again petitioned the Aldermen to grant a permit for a filling station at the 1365 Centre st. locus, and Finelli stated that the Atlantic Refining Company would operate a quite attractive station there. Again Steven Berke appeared to oppose, commented it was the fourth time he and others had to come to City Hall to object to the proposed menace, and he presented 60 letters of remonstrance. Another objector at that hearing was Albert M. Chandler, as President of the Newton Centre Improvement Association. Mr. Chandler said he agreed with the arguments offered by Mr. Berke, which stresses the traffic menace. Three weeks later, the Aldermen for the third time unanimously voted to reject the petition for the permit.

On June 20, 1938, the Aldermen held another hearing on a petition for a permit for a filling station at the 1365 Centre st. locus. The oil company seeking the permit was again the Atlantic Refining Company. This time the petitioner did not have John Finelli as the attorney. The attorney was General Daniel Needham, a leading Newton citizen. Once again Steven Berke appeared in opposition. This time he presented 65 letters of protest. Albert M. Chandler, as president of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, again appeared to oppose the granting of any permit for a gasoline filling station at the locus. The Aldermen were going on their summer vacations, so it was September 26 before they once more unanimously voted to refuse the permit.

But like Hamlet's ghost the quest for the filling station would not down. On April 1, 1940, another hearing was held before the Board of Aldermen on a petition for a filling station at 1365 Centre st. Again General Needham appeared as attorney in the effort to obtain a permit for a gasoline station to be operated by the Atlantic Refining Company. Obviously, Mr. Needham had used tact and persuasion on some of the former strenuous opponents of the proposed filling station. The interesting spectacle was presented of some of those who had previously come to hearings on this matter at City Hall to tell how dangerous the station would be to the safety of children and automobile traffic, appearing that night to argue that, after all, the station would not be a traffic hazard and would not endanger the school children. Steven Berke who had repeatedly been the champion of the opponents, again appeared with a batch of letters. But this time the letters Mr. Berke had obtained favored the granting of a permit for a filling station at the locus he had time and again asserted would be a menace because of a 5 per cent grade. The grade is still there. Albert M. Chandler also changed his stand and now favored the granting of the permit.

Miss Alice L. Griffin of 19 Saxon rd., Newton Highlands, was married to John J. Cahill of 31 Lexington st., West Newton, on Saturday morning, September 7, at 1 o'clock in the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed by Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing. A reception followed at the Hotel Sheraton, Boston.

Griffin of Newton, wore a light blue tulle period costume with a hat of cerise velvet and a muff of flowers which matched her hat.

William Cahill of West Newton was the best man. The ushers were Dr. Arthur G. Lanagan of Auburndale and Francis J. Murphy of Newtonville.

Following a motor trip to Manoir Richieu, Murray Bay, P. Q., Canada and the Laurentian Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Cahill will reside at 31 Lexington st., West Newton, where they will be at home after October 1.

The tunnel under the Boston & Albany tracks opposite Channing st. is at last completed. The present generation will, after all, enjoy promenading upon its concave surface. Although the lines in the familiar faces of pedestrians who daily pass the armory have somewhat deepened, and their capillary coverings suggest sad remembrances of other days, still the change is less than could have been expected, when we take into consideration the length of time which has elapsed since work on this small tunnel commenced.

Albert Brackett's safe was stolen from his Centre ave. office on the night of August 21. The team in which the safe was put, was traced along Crafts st. to the bridge at Waltham. The safe was probably dropped into the river at Waltham after having been rifled. It contained only a small amount of money.

The attention of the Improvement Society is called to the abundance of roman wormwood in the grassy edges of our streets. It should not be allowed to go to seed, or even to flower, as it is said to produce hay fever, and in some localities it is not allowed to show itself at all. It is especially abundant where manure has been used around trees and shrubs.

Considering the large number present last Sunday afternoon at the gospel meeting in front of Henry Breck's residence on North st., Newtonville, very fair order prevailed. We are sorry to notice, however, that some of the hoodlums are little benefited by the services, as the gardens and orchards in the vicinity bear sad witness.

The parish picnic of Our Lady, Help of Christians Church, held at Lake Walden, was a great success. Games of many kinds, a boat race, entertainment and dancing were held. The Newton Centre four-oared crew won the boat race.

About one-third of the highway employees are now employed at wages of $1.75 per day. There is a feeling that the aldermen's committee used the men unjustly in shutting so many men off from work simply because they would not accept the decrease in pay that the committee desired.

Last Friday afternoon a young man named Kinsella was standing at the B. & A. crossing at Walnut st. waiting for a train to pass. A mail clerk threw a mail bag from the car, and hit Kinsella near the ankles, disabling him so that he had to be taken home in a hack. He has entered suit for damages against the railroad. The railroad officials state that railway postal clerks have been disregarding the rules regarding throwing off pouches and have caused much trouble.

The mercury fell so low last Wednesday that a frost was feared.

Miss Ware of Newton, a young girl of 15 years, has had more attention at Kennebunkport than any other young lady, says the Saturday Evening Gazette, and seems utterly unspooled by it. She had fifteen invitations to ride in the carnival and races, and was coxswain in the winning boat on Saturday's races between boys' double oar, with lady coxswain.

A lady correspondent writes that electric cars should be built with an adjustable awning or cow-catcher like piece on front. The Watertown selectmen, according to Martin J. Cuniff's story in the Boston Advertiser which is reprinted in this issue of the GRAPHIC, did some curious things in their efforts to prevent the annexation of the Morse's field section to Newton. In his statement Mr. Cuniff says—"Why the fight was so strong at one stage, and so scored were the counsel and town officers, that the Town Clerk offered to give me a check for a certain member of the committee of the Legislature in order to secure his vote, but it was not needed."

tees, including the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee, and the chairmanship of the commission on interstate co-operation.

Rep. Brimblecom's campaign is based upon the desirability of a change in the Senatorship together with a consistent record of seven sessions in the House of Representatives. Throughout nearly every session of the Legislature roll-call records of both branches show that both Rep. Brimblecom and Senator Hollis voted identically on most measures before their respective branches. Rep. Brimblecom, however, has called attention to several major matters in which their attitude has differed. Most important of these is on the question of increasing the percentage of tax upon dog racing revenue to the State. During the closing hours of the last session of the Legislature the two branches staged a bitter battle with the majority of the House members favoring a considerable increase in the rate of tax with resultant additional revenue to the State treasury while the Senate by a small majority voted for a relatively negligible increase. After a lengthy deadlock during which conference committees, on one of which Senator Hollis was a member, failed to agree, a compromise measure was adopted which resulted in a sliding scale increase in the rate of revenue considerably lower than that originally sought.

The disagreement between the two branches was further heightened by the presence of several persons who openly favored the dog racing interests. Innumerable rumors and charges rocked the corridors in the night long controversy. Subsequently through revelations following the murder of a Chicago racketeer the dog-racing situation was revealed to have been making exorbitant earnings. In fairness to members of the Senate it should be added that several, including the New York Senator, stated that they had accepted the figures of Tax Commissioner Long, which were based upon reports of the Racing Commission later deemed to be incomplete and inaccurate. In contrast House members refused to accept these figures, realizing the attempted influence being exerted in the racing interests behalf.

A substantial increase in revenue from dog-racing was among items recommended by Governor Saltonstall in messages to the Legislature.

Rep. Brimblecom also calls attention to Senator Hollis' votes in favor of one of the several noteworthy Curley bond issues, in favor of the establishment of a Board of Chiropractors and against legislation to protect the public against misleading dental advertising. In the two latter cases the Representative contends that the present Senator's vote tended to lower medical and dental standards which as a member of the lower branch he had voted to maintain.

In analyzing this contest it can be stated that Senator Hollis, being a candidate for re-election and holding first position on the ballot has some advantage, particularly in Ward 5 of Cambridge, a new part of the district. Morahan, a former resident of Brighton is rather widely known in Ward 22 of Boston where some 1500 votes will be largely divided between he and Senator Hollis. With considerable of a swing in prospect against Senator Hollis in Newton, due to the fact that he has had no serious opposition in prior campaigns and due to the support of his constituents by many prominent Newton citizens the outcome will depend upon whether or not the latter can build up a sufficient plurality in the home city of the two leading candidates to offset any advantage Senator Hollis will have in the two outside Wards.

Representative Contests

The four-cornered contest for Representative in the 4th Middlesex District where two positions are to be filled is expected to bring out a relatively large vote in Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7 of the city, because of the personal following of each of the candidates. With Rep. William B. Baker retiring and Rep. Brimblecom seeking higher offices the field finds Harold D. Ames of Newtonville, Phillip W. Carter of West Newton, Alderman Clarence C. Colby of Newton and Loomis Patrick of West Newton winding up active campaigns. As stated in these columns previously there are many who concede that Alderman Colby, because of the numerous times his name has appeared on the ballot and because of his position as an Alderman, will lead when the votes are counted. The Ward 7 Alderman has a large and enthusiastic campaign committee which has been working diligently for months. His lead is clear and apparently safe, although increased activity upon the part of the remaining candidates has perhaps cut down his margin somewhat. Thus the real contest is for the second position, with a neck-and-neck race in sight. In analyzing this situation we find that where one or the other of the candidates seems to have gained ground, another has gained in another section of the district. The outcome is most decidedly uncertain and will, we believe, be extremely close, and largely dependent upon the personal following of each of the three candidates.

There has been no change in the situation in the Representative contest in the 5th Middlesex district where three candidates are seeking two positions. Rep. Douglas B. Francis is seeking renomination for a third term. Hans W. Lundstrum and Mrs. Margaret L. Spear are seeking the seat vacated by Mayor Paul M. Goddard. Rep. Francis and Mrs. Spear are regarded as the certain nominees.

County Officials

The contests for nominations as County officials are arousing but mild interest in Newton. It does not seem probable that the present Register of Deeds or the present Clerk of Courts will meet with defeat as the designation "candidate for renomination" is of even greater advantage than in other contests, because opposing candidates are relatively unknown. Thomas Leighton, veteran in the registry of deeds, is being opposed by Joseph J. Laurie of Medford, while Clerk of Courts Frederic L. Putnam of Melrose is opposed by Harold A. Murray of Newton.

The one contest which is simply a guess is that for the two nominations as County Commissioner. Present Commissioner Nathaniel I. Bowditch of Framingham, heading the long lists of candidates, will be renominated. One guess is as good as another among the seventeen remaining candidates. We believe that the winner will be found among the following: Leslie G. Ahlney of Cambridge, Horace High of Cambridge, Archibald R. Giroux of Lexington, William A. Hastings of Malden, Col. Charles A. Stevenson of Lowell, Herbert Trull of Tewksbury and Frank D. Walker of Marlboro.

Newton Red Cross Announces Classes In Care of Sick

Decided interest has been shown already in the announcement from the Newton Chapter of Red Cross that courses in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick are about to open not only in the Junior High and Parochial schools, but in the formation of Classes for Adults. Many have registered at Chapter Headquarters, 12 Austin st., Newtonville, for these Adult Classes, and all who are interested in this worthwhile opportunity should make their application at once, so that they may enter the first classes formed. Miss H. Margaret Norcross, Chapter Instructor, will teach these classes, and she will also teach the classes to be begun about Sept. 16th, in the F. A. Day, the Weeks, and the Warren Junior High Schools, in several Parochial schools, and in the Hamilton Trade School.

The purpose of these courses is to teach people to care for themselves and for their families. All are aware that Red Cross Nursing Services were among the earliest of Red Cross services organized for the benefit of the public. The Home Hygiene courses grew out of this general nursing service, originating in 1908, and annually since 1912, when they became a Chapter activity, thousands of men, women and older boys and girls have had the advantage of instruction in simple nursing procedures, in home sanitation, and care of the sick, bringing comfort and healing into their homes. It is worthy of note that during one year, 1939, over 4500 Classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick were given under the auspices of the National Red Cross, in 954 Chapters, by 1826 graduate nurse instructors, and certificates were issued to 61,296 persons who passed examinations in these subjects. Since these courses started, 1,012,935 persons have been certified.

Besides these local courses by Miss Norcross, a Red Cross certified nurse, Miss Charlotte M. Simon, conducts similar courses at the Newton high school. Certificates have just been issued to the following 17 high school students who took the course in 1939-1940, and passed the examinations, by the National Society, under the auspices of the Newton Chapter: Marjorie Allen of West Newton, Rita Allen, Viola Antonellis, Mary Bivano and Jeanette LaCroix, of Newton; Mary Higgins of Newton Highlands, Beatrice Lombardi and Nancy Utero, of Newton Lower Falls; Martha McNamara of Newtonville, Ethel Vartesian of Newton Upper Falls, Dorothy Lapin, Louise Pieper, Priscilla Parker and Jacqueline Smith, of Newton Centre, and Catherine McNamara, Betty Reed and Hazel Stevens of Auburndale.

Dear Voter:

I would appreciate having you give consideration to the nomination of Representative Philip G. Bowker, Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth Congressional District.

I have known Mr. Bowker for a great many years, and I believe that he will capably and advantageously represent our district in Congress.

The next two years will be the most crucial in the history of our national life.

My own personal belief is that we need a young, intelligent, educated, forceful and understanding man in Congress who will be able to articulate and fight for the ideals of our national life.

Vital blood, new vision and unbiased judgment are necessary to face and grasp the changing conditions of the world.

Mr. Bowker is extremely conscientious, and if elected, as I believe he should be, will study every problem seriously, and intelligently reflect the views of us, his constituents.

Former U.S. Deputy Marshal J. M. Maher Favors Pensions

Believes Old Age Provisions Are Inadequate

Inadequacy of old age pensions under the present arrangement is stressed by Joseph M. Maher, former city councillor, in asking support of his candidacy for the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Ninth District. He has issued the following statement:

"After being honored by the citizens of Waltham, serving them as a councillor at large, and also receiving recognition from the present administration at Washington by being appointed a Deputy U. S. Marshal at Boston, together with political background of 15 years, I feel that my experience and training qualify me to carry the banner of the Democratic party in the coming primary election in September.

"In order to clarify my position in this Congressional campaign for the Democratic nomination, I wish to make my stand on these issues:

"1—I believe that old age pensions are inadequate and should be increased from the average payment now of $28.63 to $50.00 per month per person.

"2—I believe that the name old age assistance should and must be changed to old age pension, thus removing the stigma of false pretense.

"3—I believe in strict observance of the wages and hour law to protect the laboring class of people.

"4—I believe that the best interests of all the people in the Ninth Congressional District will be best served by the election of our great and humane President, Franklin D. Roosevelt."—Advertisement.

Luce Recognized In Washington as Real Statesman

Unsolicited Tributes Come to Veteran Congressman
From Both Republican
And Democratic Leaders

Recognized in Washington as a real statesman, a man that can be depended upon to take the best course for the nation's welfare regardless of the political consequences involved, unsolicited tributes from both Republican and Democratic leaders in the nation's capitol, have come to Congressman Robert Luce recently.

CONGRESSMAN ROBERT LUCE

Jesse H. Jones, head of the Federal Loan Agency and recently offered a cabinet position by President Roosevelt, last week wrote Mr. Luce, in part:

"I have read your remarks in the discussion before the House with great interest. (Export-Import Bank—R. F. C. Bill, H. R. 10351). They are scholarly, forceful and dignified."

"Please allow me to say that I never come in contact with you without feeling the force of your fine character. You are a statesman in the best sense of the word, and a true patriot. I have long thought so. Your attitude towards this bill, of course, does not prompt this statement."

Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Minority Leader of the House of Representatives and chairman of the Republican National Committee, on July 17, wrote Cong. Luce:

"While Congress is still in session, the bulk of the work has probably been completed. I feel as if at this time I would like to write and express my appreciation of your loyal support and fine cooperation."

"You had a prominent part in making the record which appealed to the country and revived public faith in the Republican Party. That record has made possible a Republican victory in November."

"Your fine knowledge of legislative and national problems must appeal to the people of your district. They will want, I am sure, to bring about your re-election by an emphatic vote and thus contribute to a saner and better America."

That Mr. Luce's broad knowledge of national affairs and the respect the House of Representatives as a whole have for his opinions, will be of great aid to Wendell Willkie following his election, is evidenced by an unprecedented episode that happened in the House on August 21, of this year.

Extract from Congressional Record—August 21, 1940:

"When the Export-Import Bank bill was up in the House and Congressman Robert Luce was to open the second day of debate, the House was in much confusion, whereupon an unprecedented thing took place. The Democratic floor leader Mr. Rayburn, and the Democratic presiding (Mr. Murdock) sought to secure quiet, saying:

Mr. Rayburn—Mr. Chairman, I make the point of order that the House is not in order. I think the members owe it to the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts to maintain order while he speaks, for he always sheds much light on any subject on which he addresses us.

The Chairman—The gentleman from Massachusetts is entitled to order. He never addresses us unless he has something to say which is of very material benefit to the question. The Chair hopes the House will maintain order out of respect to the gentleman from Massachusetts.

It is not recalled that ever before the Democratic leadership bespoke attention to what a Republican might be about to say.

Those who have followed the proceedings of the House, however, have long been aware of Mr. Luce's outstanding prestige among members of both parties. His associates have a profound admiration for his scholarly attainments, his vigorous intellect, and his sturdy courage.

In Washington, Mr. Luce is looked upon as a true and worthy successor of such statesmen as John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster, George Frisbie Hoar, and others whom Massachusetts has sent as her representatives in Congress. At committee meetings and at sessions of the House, his advice and counsel are eagerly sought; and his influence for good in the affairs of the nation, according to all observers, has been incalculable.

How often in these days of New Deal excesses and imprudence, economic fallacies, and unsound, disastrous, financial and monetary measures we have been reassured by the thought that Mr. Luce was on the job representing us and that he could be depended upon to vote right after careful and conscientious consideration of the merits of the bill and without petty, selfish or political motives. It is a great satisfaction to be able to count on him for a sound and sane approach to all the momentous problems which have arisen as a result of the World War, the Roosevelt administration, and the European despotisms.

The Republican voters of the district will rally behind Mr. Luce, and their action will be hailed as an indication that honorable and distinguished service is still recognized and rewarded in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Dogs Biting More Persons In Newton

Angelo Taranto of 107 Pine st., West Newton, was ordered to restrain his dog on complaint of Betty Yerardi of 157 Pine st. Other owners notified to restrain their dogs, and the persons making complaints were—Daniel MacKinnon, 15 Charles st., Newton Highlands, on complaint of Robert Sweetman of 67 Elliot st.; Edwin Nielsen of 60 Montvale rd., Newton Centre, on complaint of Fred Conley of 430 Commonwealth avenue; Charles Patton of 27 Chester st., Newton Highlands, on complaint of Ronald Doherty of 82 Floral st.

Rotary Club

Mr. William T. Almeida, who represented an American business organization for ten years in Brazil, gave the Newton Rotary Club some first-hand information about that country. The general facts about its 45,000,000 population, and a country the size of territorial United States and Alaska, with a brief description of its cosmopolitan cities, formed a background for references to the current political and business situation.

Mr. Almeida felt that the change from a democratic form of government to a practical dictatorship, which has existed since 1930, was the best thing that ever happened to Brazil and its ultimate effects on North Americans will be beneficial.

It was interesting to note that there are approximately 3,000,000 Germans, 1,000,000 Italians, 250,000 Japanese in the total population. The North American representatives number only 12,000 a very small proportion.

The present rule has made many improvements, some of which may not show result for some time, such as compulsory education. The general trend has been progressive but the obstacles in the way of a cohesive country, while many, are not insurmountable. Language differences between one section of the country and another are most pronounced. One city or state will speak German, another Italian and the other the native Brazilian tongue.

Mr. Almeida feels that this is an excellent opportunity to show the Brazilians that we really mean what we say when we talk about "Good Neighbors." German and Italian products are no longer reaching Brazil and American business, if it doesn't adopt the superior attitude displayed by some of its nationals, can really assist in the development of that country. Brazil can help us and we can help Brazil. American automobiles and radio enjoy a supremacy in Brazil but other stable industries have been in control of Germany or Italy for many years.

In brief, Mr. Almeida told the club why we are in our present position and how we may improve our relations as well as the business between the two countries.

During a short question period Mr. Almeida discussed other South American countries and their national friendships with European countries. He also displayed his alien registration which has been in vogue in Brazil for years but a recent innovation for aliens in the United States of America. The Rotarians were very appreciative of Mr. Almeida's frank address and answers during the question period.

Capture Youths Who Looted House

Five youths were arrested by Newton police last Sunday on charges of burglarizing the home of Mrs. Mary H. Thompson at 545 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill. Arthur Langlois, employed as a private policeman by the Back Bay Patrol which guards Chestnut Hill estates, discovered two large boxes packed with loot on the lawn of Mrs. Thompson's estate at 2:10 Sunday morning. He notified Newton police headquarters and Lieut. Mahoney ordered cruising cars to the scene. Police found the house ransacked and two safes battered open. While the police were in the house, a truck was driven into the driveway. As the police rushed toward the truck three youths jumped from it and escaped to Hammond Woods nearby. Some time later Brookline police captured Thomas Collins, 19, of Ellingwood st., Roxbury near the Beaconsfield railroad station. Old coins and trinkets were found on his person. About 6 o'clock Sunday morning Serg. Cleary, Patrolmen Hoyt and McMullen of the Newton police, and Patrolmen Mulvey and Williams of the Metropolitan police, captured Albert Butterfield, 17, of Dorset st., Roxbury and Joseph Buckman, 17, of Minden st., Jamaica Plain, as they emerged from Hammond Woods.

Boy Pinned By Car Escapes Luckily

Although Stanley Cohen, 10, of 5 Annapolis rd., West Newton, was knocked down by an automobile on Tuesday afternoon and pinned under the car until several men lifted it enough so that the boy could be pulled out, he escaped with slight injuries. The accident occurred on Waltham st. near Annapolis rd. about 1:10. Marjorie O'Brien, of 19 Walnut st., Needham, reported to the police that the boy suddenly stepped in front of the car and when she alighted after stopping the vehicle in eight feet, she found young Cohen pinned under the chassis of the auto. Several men lifted the car so that the boy could be extricated. He received cuts and bruises on his head, arms and legs. He was taken to his home and treated by a physician.

on the part of the former objectors was—that a deal had allegedly been arranged between the Atlantic Refining Company and the ice company which owns the property, whereby, if the former were granted a permit for a filling station, it would clear the unsightly debris from the property, raze an eyesore building, and the ice company would agree to a change from business to general residence in the zoning of the land. Two prominent Newton citizens, owners of considerable property, asserted that if a permit for one station were granted at this locus, permits for other filling stations in the neighborhood would follow and could not reasonably be refused. A protest was received from Bishop Richard Cushing, pastor of the nearby Sacred Heart Church, because of his belief that the station would cause a traffic hazard to the children attending the parish school, and to the many parishioners who pass the locus. A showing of hands at that hearing showed 10 in favor of the granting of a permit and 19 opposed. We shall have more to say on this subject in next week's issue.

In the strenuous free-for-all for the Republican nomination for Attorney General, a majority of Newton voters should and will vote for Robert T. Bushnell, a long-time resident of this city and a man of proved ability.

In our belief, Newton Republicans should also vote for Warren K. Brimblecom for Senator from this district. Mr. Hollis has been generously treated by voters of Newton by having been elected to the Legislature for 16 years; two terms in the House and six terms in the Senate. Unless there is some very good reason for perpetuating a man in political office, we believe the best interests of a democracy are served by a change once in a while.

Youths Who Broke Into Many Homes Get Probation

Edwin J. Hooper, 21, of 68 Walnut Hill rd., Newton Highlands, Carl Carlson, Jr., 19, and Richard Carlson, 18, both of 21 Parker ave., Newton Center, were tried in the Superior Court at Cambridge on Tuesday on charges of having committed numerous burglaries in the Newtons. Hooper, who took part in 10 burglaries received a suspended sentence to Concord prison from Judge Fosdick. Carl Carlson, Jr., who was involved in nine of the burglaries, and Richard Carlson, who was involved in seven, were placed on probation for two years. The judge ordered that the defendants make restitution for the damage they caused to houses into which they broke, and for such loot as has not been recovered. The Carlsons' father pleaded for leniency for his sons, and stated he was to blame to a degree for not having given them more spending money.

Retire Hutchinson For Disability

Eliot Hutchinson of Indiana court, Upper Falls, formerly a member of Engine 6 of the Newton fire department, was retired on a pension last Friday. He will receive half pay on the basis of total disability. Hutchinson, who is 43 years of age, was appointed to the department on August 21, 1929. On January 1, 1939 while working at a fire at the Lucas lumber mill at West Newton he was pulling a line of hose when the coupling caught on a projection and he was thrown against the side of a building. He received an injury to his spine. Sometime later he returned to work for a day or two and then went off duty again. He received sick pay until the limit of this type of compensation was reached.

Hutchinson applied for retirement under the veteran's retirement act, and was refused by the State Board. A lengthy controversy occurred. Involving the City Solicitor, the Board of Aldermen and Hutchinson's attorney over granting him disability pay, over the demand of the city that the claimant sign an acknowledgment for the compensation to be paid. Recently the Aldermen voted to grant him part payment for much of the time he was off duty. He will receive a pension of $1095 yearly.

RAIN AND INJURIES HANDICAP GRID TEAM

Handicapped by the rainy weather and early season injuries, the Newton high school football squad got off to a slow start this week in preparation for its opening game with Woburn High two weeks from tomorrow. Coach Owen MacDowell was "glad to see the sun" yesterday afternoon and plans a scrimmage workout on Saturday morning in an effort to catch up on the delayed program. Despite the handicaps the orange and black squad is ahead of last year's progress and with an added week before the initial game will have ample opportunity to prepare for the coming season.

Regarded as one of the most promising backfield candidates, Charlie French sidelined himself with a dislocated shoulder on Tuesday afternoon. Accustomed to doing daily handstands, the Newton junior slipped on the wet grass and came down on his shoulder. He will be out of action for some time and when returning to the gridiron will be equipped with a special harness to protect him from a renewal of the injury. "Windy" Booth, sprinting colored star on the 1939 intermediate varsity, sprained an ankle in light contact work on Tuesday but is expected back in action shortly. On Wednesday three other youths were forced to take it easy for a few days when similar injuries occurred. Gene Daniels and John Doherty, both guards, suffered slightly sprained ankles while Ken Young, another promising back, received a muscle injury to his shoulder which may keep him out of combat until next week.

Undismayed by the unexpected handicaps, Coach MacDowell is pleased over the showing of some of the candidates who are waging determined battles for starting positions. In the center of the line, Dick Lowry and Bill Rangnow are nip and tuck in the race for the pivot berth with the former having a slight edge because of superior weight, but with the season not yet begun there is plenty of time for developments. In a tackle berth during this week's workout Bill Healy, veteran from last year's team, and with still another year ahead of him, looms out as one of the best. Another cause for a MacDowell smile came when Fred Friani, letter man and tackle last year, reported Wednesday in fine fettle after a good summer. Other tackle from whom considerable may be expected are Bill Kalousdian, Bob Hailer, Ken McCarthy, Gardner Olson, Hugh Daley and Martin.

The grid problem is one of the Newton mentor's chief problems but letter man Allan Hugo and George Patterson have looked good this week. Other guard prospects include Bob Bieller, John Lardner, Dick Sanders and the injured Daniels and Doherty. Captain Bob Beatty and Phil Teschner, regulars of last year, are regarded as end fixtures but rapid development of Phil Walsh and Larry Tempesta, 1939 jayvee wings, will keep the veterans on their toes. Charlie Coyer, a transfer from Illinois, is another newcomer to the end squad, who has plenty of hustle. Other end candidates include Norman Williams, Bill Bryne and Bill Brock.

Until injuries forced a change in plans French was working at full-back. Young at one of the halfback positions and Gus Avantaggio and Al Savignano at the other with Joe Beatty in the running back position. With French out, John Fahey went in and with Young sidelined, the two Italian lads had the chance to work together. Coach MacDowell will use the huddle again this fall with a shift to right or left coming out into formation.

Other backs who will surely get their opportunities include Bill Betz, Booth, John Brown, Bill Hooper, Gus Bianchi, John Murphy, Don McCurtin, John McAvoy, Tom Casella, Bob Gaw, Bob Keefe, and Dick Hay.

By Wednesday evening the Newton physical department instructors and assisting doctors had examined 199 lads who want to play football this season. About 150 of them have already been equipped with others possibly having to wait until cuts are made in the squads before being able to obtain equipment. The jayvee and intermediate squads started practice on Wednesday with the sophomores on the younger squad under Coaches Howard Ferguson and Thomas Foots and the juniors under Coach Jeff Jones.

REDSKINS PLAY NEEDHAM

The Thompsonville Redskins will open the 1940 football season at Needham on Sunday playing the Needham Merchants. The Merchants upset the Redskins last year and the locals are out to prevent a duplication of that performance. The Newton City league will open on Sunday, Sept. 22nd.

Newton Archers Hold Saturday Tournaments

In spite of the November weather, Sept. 7, twenty archers were on hand for another handicap shoot.

The Newton Archers have a new set of junior boys who are appearing regularly to shoot and to lower their handicaps. Bill Flanagan led the other boys in the handicaps with 62-3-0-600-916. Ernest Bradley second with handicap 75-351-535-886. Robert Goldich's pupil, Leo Dorfman, placed first in the American Round with 81-401. Robert Goldich is now off to college this fall at Troy, N. Y.

Among the men, Clarence Doten placed first with handicap, 84-476-335-811. Patricia Skinner placed first with handicap for the women.

The high American scores were won by Adrian Matthews 89-575, and Dorothy Matthews 83-401.

Next Sunday the Mass. State Archery Association will meet at Blunt Park, Springfield. Thelma Phillips of the Newton and Waltham Archery clubs, goes to defend her title.

mere intimation of it would result in an all-out fight. We should be equally indignant to have anything offered the city for a permit.

McKay asked the Claims & Rules Committee members if at any time there was a suggestion that if the gasoline permit would not be granted, they would withdraw the petition for the change of zoning of the ice company land? Chairman Rawson of the Claims Committee answered that there had been such an intimation, but the committee had taken no recognition of it.

Alderman Walker said he doubted the appropriateness of the gas station at the locus, but favored the petition in view of the changed attitude of the community. Alderman Hoffman said that the city will be financially better off to grant the permit. He asked what other use can be made of this corner, and stated that most of the people of the neighborhood favor the petition. Alderman Everts said the issue is a clean cut question as to whether we shall have an eyesore at the place, or a good-looking, modern filling station. Alderman Colby said he could see no solution of the ichneumon question unless the station permit is granted. He said that, however, the statements that a "deal" has been made, both ways him. He called attention to a recent trade between the city and Bennett Rockman for city land at West Newton, in which Rockman gave a small parcel of land he owned to the city in addition to a money payment. Colby asked—"What's the difference between that deal and this one?"

Alderman Henderson Inches, the cynical member of the Board (and also its comedian) said—"I am entirely without morals. If I could make deals every day to the advantage of the city, I would make them, that issue is not worth talking about. I am against more gasoline stations, however, I think we have enough." Alderman Gaddis agreed with Inches that there are enough gasoline stations in this city.

Driver of Car That Killed Man Found Not Guilty

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Donald Mayberry found Max Sagansky of 10 Vesta rd., Dorchester, not guilty of driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. On the evening of Aug. 11 at 8:15 a car driven by Sagansky hit John Rosa, 50, of 57 Jackson st., Newton Centre, as Rosa was crossing the Worcester turnpike at Langley rd. and fatally injured him. According to the report submitted by Sagansky after the accident, he claimed that he was driving at a speed of between 20 and 25 miles just before the accident and had slowed down to 15 miles when he reached the traffic light at Langley rd., which was showing green. While travelling at this speed he noticed Rosa crossing the turnpike about 15 feet ahead of the car. According to Sagansky, he blew the horn, applied his brakes, swerved sharply to the left, and the right fender of the car hit Rosa. Sagansky said he stopped the car in 10 feet, but that a member of his family, who was a passenger, then drove the car about 60 feet down the street.

After investigating the case, Newton police asked for a complaint against Sagansky. Inspector Hammett and Engineer Leonard testified at the trial last Friday that they found that Sagansky's car had stopped 72 feet from where it hit Rosa. Patrick Tiberio of 405 Langley rd. testified that he saw the accident, and that Sagansky's car which was travelling 40 miles an hour when it hit Rosa, went 60 or 65 feet after the accident. He said that Rosa was hurled high into the air when the car hit him. Aurelio DeMuzio testified the same as Tiberio, and Albert Sostillo of 300 Langley rd., corroborated their testimony.

When Inspector King who conducted the case against Sagansky in court had concluded with questioning the witnesses for the prosecution stated that the government rests its case, Judge Mayberry gave a verdict of not guilty. Neither Sagansky nor three members of his family who were passengers in his car when the fatal accident occurred, were called upon to testify.

EACH ONE counts

Don't despise the lowly coin. Each penny, nickel, dime and quarter counts when it's added to others. There's an old saying: "Take care of the dimes, the dollars will take care of themselves." Try saving coins, and depositing them in your bank account when they grow to dollars. It's one good way to speed up the tempo of your saving.

upon the Newton Thrift Center for all sorts of clothing and shoes for children of school age. Because of previous material received from Newton residents all calls have been met. However, the Center has run out of boys' knickers and trousers, boys' blouses and shirts, and boys' sweaters and odd coats, (sizes 6 to 16), and would appreciate gifts. The Thrift Center will welcome a call to N. N. 2112 or a post card to 392 Centre st., Newton, and a truck will be sent to collect the clothing.

The Thrift Center is managed by the Newton Community Council, with the co-operation of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and the Newton Hospital Aid Association. Its executive committee is comprised of Harold P. Carver, chairman, Richard B. Carter, Mrs. Abner Cohan, Mrs. Henry Dunker, Mrs. Dana M. Dutch, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, Mrs. Wm. T. Voters League Conducts Booths

The Newton League of Women Voters, a non-partisan organization interested in the promotion of good government, opened two information booths for voters this week. The booth near the Mason School at Newton Centre was officially opened Tuesday morning by Mayor Goddard. A similar booth is conducted in front of the main library at Newton Corner. Non-partisan information pertaining to registration, party enrollment, and other matters is provided. The booths are being attended by members of the League under the direction of a committee of which Mrs. Walter H. Heath of Waban is chairwoman.

Of chief interest to voters have been the replies to a recent questionnaire issued by the league to candidates. Candidates for Congress were asked to state their attitude on foreign policy, government finance, and other questions. Responses of varying length were received from Robert Luce, Philip G. Bowker, Edward M. Rowe, Richard M. Russell and Thomas H. Eliot. Republican candidate George F. Foster and Democratic candidates Cornelius P. Cronin and Joseph M. Maher submitted no answers.

Responses to questionnaire sent to candidates for the State Senate and House of Representatives were received from the Senatorial candidates, Arthur W. Hollis (R), Warren K. Brimblecom (R), Thomas E. Morahan (R-D), John Shallow (D) and from Representative candidates Douglass B. Francis (R), Hans W. Lundstrum (R) and Margaret L. Speur (R) from the 5th Middlesex District and candidates Harold D. Ames (R), Philip W. Carter (R), Clarence C. Colby (R), Loomis Patrick (R), John J. Maguire (D), and Thomas Waters (D). Democratic Senatorial candidate Charles Read of Cambridge did not reply.

The questions sent to these candidates included personal information and requested a position on three matters of public interest (1) Do you favor the extension of special children's courts similar to the Boston Juvenile Court; (2) Do you favor fewer and better State colleges rather than the continuation of the 9 now existing; (3) Do you favor legislation permitting voters of Boston to decide whether the City Council should be elected by Proportional Representation?

A brief digest of the replies indicated that on the question of juvenile courts the candidates took an affirmative stand, with reservations as to further study of particular situations, with the exception of candidates Maguire and Morahan who deemed the expense not warranted.

On the question of Teacher's Colleges all were in favor of fewer and better institutions although candidates not already in office expressed a desire for the opportunity to study the situation and the existing institutions more completely.

On the question of proportional representation the candidates were universally in favor of the principle of "home rule" in permitting the voters of Boston to decide for themselves.

Each candidate except candidate Patrick filed answers to each of the questions. The latter expressed a general comment of not being qualified to commit himself without study of particular proposals before the legislature.

Doesn't Want Dog To Be Restrained

Milton O. Talent of 291 Lexington st., Auburndale, appeared in the Newton court on Wednesday in an effort to have an order restraining his dog reversed. The order was issued by the Newton police. Talent, a lawyer, argued that the order was not issued in good faith and for proper cause. Judge Murray upheld the action of the police. Talent then wanted to take an appeal, but the judge quoted the law to him and informed him he could not take an appeal in such a case. Although Talent contended that the dog was ordered restrained without proper cause, here are the complaints that were made against Talent's pet—Mr. and Mrs. John Connolly of 281 Lexington st. testified they had been annoyed by the dog many times; Miss Lillian Birrell of 285 Lexington st. testified likewise; Patrolmen Greene and Chadwick testified they had notified the owner to restrain the dog after neighbors had complained; Patrolman Whalen testified the dog tore two holes in his trousers last January when he called at Talent's home to take the census; Patrolman Elliot testified that the dog bit him when he called at Talent's home on Aug. 17 to order the animal restrained.

WITH this advertisement, Buick ushers in a brand-new automobile model year.

1940 production is history—recording the greatest manufacturing and selling season our company has ever known.

You may be sure we grimly realized we had to accomplish things in our new cars for 1941 that we could count on to continue our advance.

So, on top of the $42,000,000 spent on our plants and machines these last four years we've added another $10,000,000 in new facilities.

We've taken our greatest all-time car and steadily and carefully brought it forward to a perfection of action, ease, goodness beyond anything ever offered under our name.

Every car in all five series of the whole new line deserves unused fresh-minted language.

Stylewise, their suave and dynamic beauty refreshes the jaded eye as would sight of a hydrant in the desert.

They move and function like young wild things. They're all grace and poise and eagerness. They bring to driving and handling a keener pleasure and a new thrill.

Go see these superb new cars at your dealer's—without delay. They make plain why Buick is rightly called "exemplar of General Motors value."

The State Primaries are over and those voters who assumed the responsibility of casting their ballots have nominated the party candidates to be voted upon in November. In most instances any intraparty breaches caused by opposing candidates have been healed or will be healed before November 5th. A notable exception to this fact may possibly be in the ranks of the Democratic party where Attorney General Dever defeated former Lieut. Governor Francis E. Kelly by a three to one margin. The bitterness of this primary contest may well last for many weeks.

With Governor Leverett Saltonstall an unopposed candidate for the Republican nomination the ranks of the G. O. P. have been solidified. Whether or not the unity in the Republican party will be sufficient to offset the Democratic bids for election to state office only time will tell.

Getting back to Tuesday's primary the only G. O. P. state-wide contest for attorney-general resulted approximately as observed in these columns over the past few weeks. Robert T. Bushnell of Newton, the winning candidate for the nomination, piled up a commanding lead in Middlesex County with the bulk of the Dewing and Crossley strength confined to the respective counties in which they are present district attorneys, namely Norfolk-Plymouth and Bristol. Dewing and Crossley finished third and fourth. Clarence Barnes, second in the interesting race, fell considerably behind Bushnell and received but a few thousand votes over Dewing. Bushnell's margin of more than thirty thousand was a real tribute to the candidate's personality, abilities and public career. He will add strength to the ticket in the coming election.

Governor's Councillor Frank A. Brooks was renominated by an overwhelming plurality over his next nearest opponent, Henry I. Morrison of Newton. An interesting phase of this contest is in the fact that no Democratic nominee was on the printed ballot and the Democratic State Committee issued stickers in behalf of Mr. Morrison to make him the Democratic candidate in November.

Both Republican and Democratic contests for Congressman from the ninth district attracted widespread attention. On the Republican side the efforts made to upset the veteran incumbent, Robert Luce of Waltham again failed. With the opposition divided Luce was the victor by a total margin of some 4,000 votes, proving once again that a large number of voters still prefer a Congressman with long experience to one who would be new to Washington.

There were several interesting features of this contest. Chief among the highlights was the fact that Luce carried every city or town over Bowker with the exception of Brookline and Weston. Bowker piled up nearly a 5 to 1 margin in his home town of Brookline and was among an entire slate endorsed by the Town Committee of Weston but this margin was offset by the Luce plurality in Newton and Waltham. Edward Rowe of Cambridge was third in this contest, his third attempt to unseat Luce and once again Luce carried the seven wards of Cambridge by a two to one margin over former Mayor and former Congressman Richard Russell, seeking both Republican and Democratic nominations with Rowe third. Wellesley and Watertown also gave Luce handsome pluralities to add to his lead which in first reports seemed to indicate a much closer contest. With Luce having avenged his 1934 defeat by Russell by turning the tables in 1936, and also narrowly defeating Thomas Eliot in 1938, the November battle between Luce and Eliot, the 1940 nominee, will be one of the highlights of the coming campaign. Rep. Bowker pledges his support to Congressman Luce in a telegram to the Congressman. With harmony existing in the Republican ranks every effort will be made to re-elect Mr. Luce in November.

Eliot was the victor in a four-way contest for the Democratic nomination defeating Russell, Cornelius Cronin of Cambridge and Joseph Maher of Waltham by a comfortable margin.

Senatorial Contest

Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton defeated Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom in the contest for the Republican nomination from the new Middlesex-Suffolk district. Hollis carried every precinct in Newton for a 2500 plurality in the Garden City and added handsomely to this margin in Ward 5 of Cambridge and Ward 22 of Boston, the remaining parts of the district. The contest indicated again the value of the designation "candidate for re-election."

As the nomination is equivalent to election Senator Hollis will represent Newton in the upper branch of the State Legislature for a seventh term. Inasmuch as he has held important committee assignments and is one of the three oldest members in length of service there is some likelihood that he may be a candidate for presidency of that body.

The contest for Representative from the 4th Middlesex district resulted in the nomination of Alderman Clarence C. Colby and Loomis Patrick for the two vacancies resulting from the retirement from public office of Representatives Wm. B. Baker and Brimblecom. As anticipated Alderman Colby was out in front all the way, carrying every precinct except the two in West Newton where Patrick was exceptionally strong. Harold D. Ames and Phillip W. Carter who ran almost neck and neck about three hundred votes behind Patrick were in the race until the West Newton returns came in.

Among the last three candidates Patrick ran second in two precincts, third in two others and overwhelmingly first in the two West Newton precincts. Ames led his two closest opponents in Ward 1, most of Ward 2, and was second in Ward 3. Carter led both Patrick and Ames in Precincts 1 and 5 of Ward 2 and led Ames in the West Newton hill precinct.

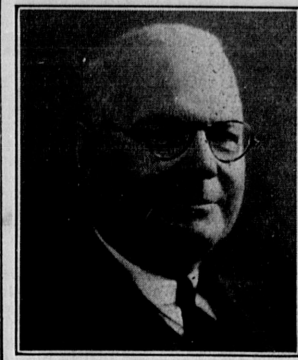

In the fifth Middlesex district Rep. Douglass B. Francis was easily renominated with Mrs. Margaret Spear being selected as the other nominee by a large plurality over the third candidate, Hans W. Lundstrum. Thus Newton will have its first woman Representative when the legislature convenes in January.

Discuss Lot Line Regulations

The Newton Planning Board and the Claims Committee of the Board of Aldermen held a conference on Monday night to discuss the proposed restrictions on building lots in this city. It was agreed that the plan to increase the distance of buildings from lot lines from 7 1/2 to 10 feet should be abandoned, except in Class A districts, where the distance from side lines of lots will be 15 feet. It was also decided to hold a general hearing at City Hall before the new regulation will be adopted.

71st Regt. C.A.C. Memorial Service

Veterans of the 71st Regt. C. A. C. who served in the A. E. F. during the World War will dedicate a monument at Hull on September 25 at 2 p. m. in honor of Major Sturgis who was medical officer of the regiment. It is believed that many former members of this regiment are living in and around Boston and they are requested to be present at the dedication of the memorial. The regiment will have headquarters at 88 Carver st., Boston during the convention and veterans of this outfit are invited to call there.

Want Referendum On Two Platoons

Petitions are being circulated throughout the city to obtain signatures so that a referendum will be on the ballot at the election in November on the question of granting a two-platoon system to Newton firemen. A committee of firemen in charge of the petitions state that they will be filed at the City Clerk's office today for certification of signatures. To legalize the submitting of the referendum on the ballot, 10 per cent of the registered voters of Newton must sign the petitions. This will require about 3600 signatures.

The referendum will read as follows—"Shall Section 59, Chapter 48, of the General Laws, providing for the distribution into day and night forces of permanent members of the Fire Department, known as the two-platoon system, be adopted?"

Newton firemen have been endeavoring over a long period of years to obtain the two-platoon system. Gradually all cities in the State have adopted this system, until Newton is the only one not having it. Among the arguments Newton firemen offer in favor of the two-platoon system are—that it will permit the firemen to have a part of each day with their families, that it will give the firemen only 2 1/2 hours more each day off duty, but will enable them to devote themselves better to their duties and their families. At present they are 48 hours on duty and 24 hours off, receiving one day off in three. They now are on duty 112 hours a week. Under the two-platoon system they would be on duty 84 hours. Mayors Childs, Weeks and Goddard all were requested by the firemen to recommend the two-platoon system. Mayor Childs did recommend it in 1938, but the number of additional firemen specified in his recommendation was so large, that the extra cost it would entail, caused the Board of Aldermen to turn down the recommendation. It has been contended by a committee of firemen that instead of 42 additional men being needed, as was specified in the recommendation of the Mayor in 1938, that the system can be put into effect with only 18 firemen added to the department.

City Hall To Be Closed Tuesday

Mayor Goddard has ordered that the offices at Newton City Hall shall close at noon Tuesday, September 24, because of the Legion parade in Boston.

Annual Report of School Department

The annual report of the Newton School Department for 1939 has been printed and is being distributed. It contains 84 pages and is replete with interesting information and statistics. Part 1 of the report is an analysis of the increase in school costs in Newton during the decade from 1929 to 1939, in which period the cost of operating day schools in Newton increased $257,541. The report states that all but $20,679 of this increase was caused by increased school population. The report says: "This statement is most striking because the attention given in the last two years to total decreasing school population has obscured the fact that until the school year 1937-1938, the total school population steadily and consistently increased. This rate of increase from 1929-1930 to 1936-1937 was 11.3 per cent, while the rate of decrease beginning 1936-1937 to 1938-1939 has been only 1.2 per cent. Although there were decreases in the enrollment of pupils in the kindergarten and elementary grades, there were considerable increases in school population at the junior high and high school grades during the period, and the costs in these grades are higher."

The report says that teachers' salaries have not remained static, but have increased during the decade more than offsets the $20,679 to be accounted for other than the increase in costs caused by increased school population. The salaries have increased according to the salary agreement made in 1925, and although new teachers have been brought in at lower salary levels, this has not offset the fact that more and more teachers during the decade have advanced to the maximum of the salary schedule. The report states that the method of annual increments for teachers brings in new, young and promising teachers at lower salary levels, where, otherwise, experienced teachers would have to be procured at higher salaries. Therefore, salary schedules with annual increments constitute a real economy.

In cities of population between 30,000 and 100,000 in the country at large, 14.8 per cent of teachers have had 5 or more years of training. In Newton 31 per cent have had 5 or more years of training. During the past 15 years only one-third of Newton's teachers have left, accept better positions, as compared with an average of one-fourth for the country. And the annual turnover of teachers in Newton's elementary schools is 1 in every 14, as compared with 1 in 5 for the country at large. Another important point is that in Newton's secondary schools, married men constitute 32 per cent of the teaching staff, while the average of the country is 25 per cent.

During the last decade the cost of school maintenance, which includes janitors' salaries, fuel, power, water and supplies, has increased $27,352. In 1929 the average class size in Newton's elementary schools was 28.1 pupils. In 1939 it was 29.4 pupils. This was accomplished by reducing the number of teachers by 8, and saving $14,900 annually in salaries. The school department has even endeavored to increase the average class size to 32 pupils, but the scattered nature of this city, and the distances between schools, has tended to make this very difficult. (To be continued)

Appointed Foreman Of Wire Dept.

James Saunders of 211 Adams st., Nonantum, has been appointed foreman of the Wire Department by Chief Randlett. Saunders has been an employee of the Wire Department for 22 years, working as a lineman most of that time. He has been acting as foreman since the retirement of Loren Edwards from that position last January. Saunders stood second on the eligible list.

Hollis, Colby, Patrick Elected; Luce, Bushnell Get Big Vote In Newton

Less Than One-Third of Registered Voters In Newton Went To Polls Last Tuesday

Notwithstanding that the vote cast in Newton at the primary election last Tuesday was equivalent to the election of State Senator and four Representatives from this district, and would determine to a large degree who will be elected as Congressman from the district which includes Newton, less than one-third of the voters of this city's registered voters went to the polls. Of 36,162 registered voters, 11,773 participated in the primary.

SEN. ARTHUR W. HOLLIS

Principal interest in Newton centered in the contests for Republican nominations for Legislative offices, the contests for the nominations for Congressman, and the contest for the Republican nomination for Attorney General. Senator Arthur W. Hollis won a substantial victory over Representative Warren K. Brimblecom in the fight for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Middlesex-Suffolk District which includes Newton, Ward 5 of Cambridge and Ward 22 of Boston, the Brighton district. Mr. Hollis carried every precinct in Newton in addition to the wards in Cambridge and Brighton. In the four-sided contest for Representative from the Fourth Middlesex District, Alderman Clarence Colby had a comfortable margin for first place, as was expected. In addition to the prestige gained by his long and faithful service as an Alderman, Colby conducted a serious and well-organized campaign. The second nomination in the Fourth District was won in a fairly close contest by Loomis Patrick of West Newton. Harold Ames led Philip W. Carter by 52 votes for third place. Ames had a small plurality over Patrick in Wards 1 and 2, and ran close in Ward 7, but a considerable plurality for Patrick in Ward 3 won him the nomination, which is equivalent to election. In the Fifth Middlesex District, which comprises Wards 4, 5 and 6, Representative Douglass B. Francis and Mrs. Margaret Spear easily won the two places. Hans Lundstrum finished a poor third. Mrs. Spear has the distinction of being the first woman to be elected to the Legislature from Newton.

In the contest for the Republican nomination for Congressman, Robert Luce, the present incumbent, received almost as many votes as did the other four candidates combined. Bowker led Rowe by a small margin, while Foster and Russell finished far in the rear. Robert Bushnell received wholehearted support in this his home city in the contest for the Republican nomination for Attorney General. His total was 5998, Dewing received 1501, and Barnes 1044. Henry I. Morrison polled a good vote in his contest for the Republican nomination for Councilor. Newton gave him 2429 votes, as compared with 5767 cast for Frank Brooks, the present incumbent of this office.

In other Republican contests, Putnam received 6711 votes for Clerk of Courts, and Harold Murray of Pearl st., Newton, who opposed him, received 1995. For Register of Deeds, Leighton received 7972 votes, and Laurie 283. In the free-for-all for County Commissioners, with 18 candidates, Bowditch easily led with 6101 votes, Bushnell received 1260, Reading 1028 and Walker 1084. Giroux, who won the other Republican nomination for County Commissioner, received only 973 votes in Newton. For County Treasurer, Howard, the present incumbent, received 6147 votes, and Drake, who ran second in Newton, received 1636.

In the Democratic contests, Dever received 1347 votes in Newton and Kelly 465. Gallagher led for Lieutenant Governor with 846 votes, and Carr was second with 583. For Secretary of State, Mrs. Foley received 674 votes, McCarthy, 341; Morris, 310; Fish, 213. For Treasurer, Doherty and Donahue each received 405 votes, Cahill 319, and McGrath 279. The mysterious Mr. Buckley led the field in Newton also for Auditor. He received 811 votes and Husband, who ran second, received 401. It is an advantage to have one's name heading the list of candidates. For Attorney General, Brennan was first with 222 votes, Carroll second with 260, Sullivan third with 228. For Congressman, Eliot was easily first with 999 votes, Cronin second with 300, Russell received 283, and Maher, 209. For Senator, Morahan received 1142, Read, 135, and Shallow, 65.

Newton Post A. L. Elects Officers

Newton Post A. L. held its annual "chow night" and election of officers last night at the War Memorial Building. Past Commander Harold Ames served as toastmaster and the principal speaker was Jay Wesley, radio sports commentator. Others who spoke included Governor Saltonstall, a charter member of Newton Post; Mayor Goddard, Dept. Commander Chester Grant, Dept. Treas. Thomas Maloney, Middlesex County Commander John Delay, and Past Commander Henry D. Cornerais. Others at the head table were Chief of Police Hughes, Chief Randlett of the Fire Department, Jack Mills, Alvah Merriam and George Hennrikus, Jr., Commander of the Sons of the American Legion in Newton.

The Post presented a gift of $100 to Newton Hospital which will be used toward the fund for the Hess Free Bed. Past Commander John B. Foley was appointed Asst. Sergeant-at-Arms of the State Department by Commander Grant.

The following officers were elected: Commander, George Hennrikus; S. V. C., Alvin Parker; J. V. C., Francis Frazier; Chaplain, Ernest Carver; Permanent Fund Trustee, Harold Ames; Executive Committee at Large, Thomas Cummings, Edward Dalton, Thomas Dowd; Executive Committee by Villages—Newton, Dana Foley; Newtonville, Edward Cannon; Nonantum, John Nolan; Lower Falls, Norman Paterson; West Newton, Elmer Ellsworth; Auburndale, Henry Hurley; Newton Highlands, Paul Mullen; Waban, Carolyn Ray; Chestnut Hill, Thomas Fallon; Thompsonville, Michele Tornbese; Newton Centre, Paul Gatten; Upper Falls, Charles Manning.

Attention was called to the fact that Newton schools will close next Tuesday to permit the children to see the big parade in Boston.

WE PLEDGE OUR SUPPORT

We take this opportunity to thank the thousands of voters who supported our candidacy for the State Senate at the polls in the primary election on Tuesday. Our candidacy was based upon the principle that a change in representation in the upper branch of the State Legislature was desirable. We would not be human to say that we are not disappointed in defeat. But in our disappointment there is no regret. We recall the words of the recently defeated Senator Ashurst—"It is a foremost principle of our democratic government that the people have the right to change or not to change the servants of their choice—for good reason, for bad reason, or for no reason at all." We shall continue to lend our efforts to the maintenance of the principles of a free people. We pledge our whole-hearted support to our successful primary opponent, Senator Arthur W. Hollis, and to the other candidates who in November will carry the standard of those principles and beliefs which we believe to be for the best interests of our city, state and nation.

THE RIGHT OF REFERENDUM.

Persons interested in the adoption of a two-platoon system in the Newton fire department are circulating petitions throughout the city with the anticipation of placing before the voters in November the question of whether or not such a system should be adopted here. The law requires that questions of public policy may be placed upon the ballot upon petition of ten per cent of the voters, in Newton a number approaching four thousand. We believe in the right of referendum. We believe that in the coming weeks it will be a service to citizens of Newton to place before them factual material as to the merits or demerits of the two-platoon system. We urge our readers to acquaint themselves with these facts that they may express themselves intelligently in November when they must decide the issue.

Letters To The Editor

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:

Through your columns may I express my appreciation to the Democratic voters of the 9th Congressional District for re-nominating me by such a large plurality at the polls Tuesday.

GAS STATION LOCATIONS

To the Editor:

Several times in the existence of the Planning Board of the City of Newton they have been asked to pass upon the location for a gas filling station. In studying the problem as presented we have consistently advised that such be not granted if within a 500 foot distance of a Park, School, Public Building or Playground. The Board has several times suggested that the ordinance be amended to take care of this restriction.

There are several communities that such is incorporated in such in their zoning laws and in other communities they have had an investigation made as to the need of the gas station.

I understand that the Town of Winthrop had many problems and requests for such stations and they had a survey made of the use and income and found that in many cases there were enough to supply the region and that their income was derived not only from the gas sold but from work and sales of accessories.

It has been noticed many times that persons having an open space can think of no other use to put the land to, than a filling station. Ingenuity should be exercised to see if some other use would be possible. Sometimes an apartment house might be built in the proper restricted area that would help the persons who need only a small domicile if some other use can be made of the land that would be better for the neighborhood.

If the City of Newton should make such an investigation possibly there would not be so many requests made that disturb not only the immediate neighborhood but the village in which it is suggested it be built. I hope such a survey can be made.

HERBERT J. KELLAWAY,
September 18, 1940.

THANKS VOTERS

To the Editor:

Through the Newton Graphic I wish to thank the many voters who supported me in the Primaries last Tuesday and nominated me as a Republican candidate for the House of Representatives.

Respectfully yours,
LOOMIS PATRICK.

DEEP APPRECIATION

To the Republican Voters of the 4th Middlesex District:

I wish to express my deep appreciation to those who supported my candidacy for Representative to the State Legislature.

I pledge to them and to all the citizens of Newton my utmost endeavor to serve them to the limit of my time and ability if elected in November.

CLARENCE C. COLBY.

THANKS FOR CONFIDENCE

To the Voters of Middlesex County: Many thanks and deep appreciation for the splendid vote of confidence by which you nominated me as the Republican candidate for Treasurer of Middlesex County.

Cordially,
CHARLES P. HOWARD.

IN APPRECIATION

To all those who assisted me in my campaign for Republican nomination for Representative, and to those who manifested their confidence in me by casting their votes in my behalf, I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation.

Very sincerely,
HAROLD D. AMES.

Powers' Paragraphs

Last week in this column I referred at length to the action of a majority of the Newton Board of Aldermen in voting at their meeting on September 9 to grant a permit for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Centre by a vote of 11 to 6. Before that meeting adjourned, Alderman Colby gave notice that he would move for reconsideration of the vote at the next meeting of the Aldermen. We stated in this column last week that there would be more in our column this week on this subject, so here it is.

The bare fact is—that a majority of the Newton Board of Aldermen voted to grant a filling station permit at a location which most of the members of this Board, and all of the members of past boards had repeatedly refused to grant, because a deal was made whereby an eyesore would allegedly be removed in return for the granting of this permit. However, it was admitted at the hearing on this petition last April that the city had received no written agreement that the unsightly old stable and the litter of debris of the ice company property will be removed.

In view of the action of the majority of the Aldermen on Monday night, it is difficult to understand how they can consistently refuse to grant permits for the filling stations which have been sought at a location on Washington st. at Lower Falls, near Grove st., and on Washington st., West Newton, near Cross st. There was far less opposition to the petition for the station at Lower Falls than there was repeatedly to the station near Crystal Lake, but because some Lower Falls residents asserted that the station at this place would create a traffic hazard, and that there are enough gasoline stations nearby, the present Board of Aldermen refused to grant a permit there. Another reason given for the rejection of the petition for the station at Lower Falls was—that the pastor of a nearby church objected, and at least one of the aldermen who voted for the granting of the permit at 1365 Centre st. had commented that one of the reasons he would not vote for the station at Lower Falls was because of the objection from the church members there. Bishop Richard Cushing, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church at Newton Centre objected to the station at 1365 Centre st. because he believed it would be a traffic hazard to his parishioners and school children. The writer telephoned Bishop Cushing on September 11 to ascertain if he still objects to the station. The bishop stated that he does object, solely because of the traffic menace he believes the station will create. On a basis of the number of pedestrians who travel to and from the churches, certainly the church at Newton Centre is entitled to equal consideration as was given the church at Lower Falls.

In connection with the attitude of the Aldermen in the past in not granting some petitions for filling stations because of proximity of churches, it is pertinent to mention here that the following resolution was passed by the Newton Planning Board on April 10, 1940 in connection with the petition for the filling station in question at the 1365 Centre st. locus:

RESOLVED: That this Planning Board has consistently maintained that gasoline stations should not be erected within 500 feet of the properties of Churches, Schools, Playgrounds and Public Buildings; that inasmuch as the proposed gasoline station would be within 500 feet of the property of the Church of the Sacred Heart on Centre Street, the Planning Board disapproves of the granting of a permit for a gasoline station at the corner of Norwood Avenue and Centre Street; and that inasmuch as the petition for the proposed changes in zoning is made contingent upon the granting of the petition for a permit for said gasoline station, and the petitioners announced, at the public hearing on March 29, 1940, their intention of withdrawing their petition for changes of zone if such permit were refused, this Planning Board therefor disapproves of the proposed changes in zoning."

A definite parallel exists between the filling station matter at 1365 Centre st. and that at the corner of Washington and Cross sts., West Newton, both as regards alleged traffic hazards, and removal of an eyesore. The principal objection made to the repeated attempts of Frank Vincenzo for a station permit at the latter locus was because it would allegedly cause a danger to children and vehicular traffic. After Vincenzo had been turned down a few times, he built a small concrete structure on Cross st., near Washington st. and left it unfinished. This eyesore, instead of influencing the Aldermen to grant him the permit, prejudiced them more against him. But after a large corporation leaves unsightly debris remaining for years at one of Newton's most conspicuous spots, alongside Centre st. and the circuit railroad, and adjoining attractive Crystal Lake, this eyesore is used as a means of procuring a permit for a filling station at an allegedly dangerous location, and a majority of the Aldermen compromise on this questionable means to attain an end.

The writer is not one who contends that a gasoline filling station creates a traffic hazard to pedestrians. But had he offered this argument as persistently as did some of those who formerly objected to the granting of a permit for a filling station at the 1365 Centre st. locus, he would not, like them, reverse his attitude, and show a willingness to sacrifice the safety of children to procure the removal of an eyesore, or to obtain property benefits.

According to rumor the change of attitude on the part of one person is explained by the following comment made to the writer by a member of the Board of Aldermen, who said—

"It may not be amiss to say that a leader of previous opposition at hearings, and a leader of advocacy now is of the contracting firm which allegedly would erect the station. Former opponents, many of whom are now said to be proponents, may not have been apprised of that rumored phase as they jumped the fence back and forth. Doubtless, if not cognizant of it, it was merely inadvertent oversight, the leader having undergone a true conversion as to the former undesirability, hazardous situation, and unneeded public convenience."

On two occasions recently the Board of Aldermen has ordered the razing of buildings because they were allegedly eyesores and dangerous to children. Why can't the Board take similar action to cause the razing of the old stable on Norwood ave? And, as Aldermen McKay, Temperley and others of the minority said—is the city government to tolerate an era of "deals" in consideration for the granting of permits? If it does, Newton will deteriorate from the high standard which has characterized it in the past.

We have referred several times in past years to the condition of the "reflecting pools" in front of Newton City Hall. When the municipal capitol and War Memorial building were erected on the area bounded by Commonwealth ave., Walnut and Homer sts., a large sum of money was spent to beautify the surroundings. Thousands of cubic yards of filling were dumped into what had been an unsightly swamp, and a leading firm of landscape architects was hired to plan the grading and planting of the city hall grounds. One of the leading features in their plans was a series of three little ponds in front of city hall near Walnut st. The ponds reflected the architectural beauty of City Hall for a couple of years, but it was realized that silt from Cold Spring and Hammond Brooks would be carried into the little ponds unless some precaution was taken. So, a small sump was built on the South side of Homer st., but because it was too small, and seldom cleaned out, the ponds rapidly filled. They ceased to reflect and became eyesores. A couple of times they were dredged and shovelled out, but for the past few years the silt has flowed into them. Pond Number 1, nearest to Homer st., is now mostly filled and a crop of weeds was recently cut on it. The middle pond is partly filled with solid material. The pond nearest to Commonwealth ave. is covered with a green slime. All three are unsightly. A family of partly tamed Mallard ducks, which has frequented the ponds for several years, is finding less and less space in which to swim and forage, and walk disconsolately along the dwindling water space in the ponds. These ducks have lost many of their breast feathers trying to land in what remains of the ponds. Visiting Legionnaires, who will see the quite unattractive remains of the "reflecting pools" will have an otherwise high opinion of Newton's city hall and its grounds spoiled. It's about time for the city to fill in the three little ponds unless they will be cleaned regularly and kept looking attractive.

The horrible stranding of London continues. Her many thousands of people of that city and other parts of England can withstand the terrible ordeal they have been heroically enduring in doubtful. In our opinion the outstanding exhibitions of supreme courage and nerve are being displayed by those small groups of men engaged in digging out and removing huge time bombs which are apt to explode at any moment.

The article by H. G. Wells, published in newspapers in this country on September 7th was one of the most brilliant and informative articles on conditions pertaining to the war overseas that we have read. There is no question of Mr. Wells' patriotism and his loyalty to England, but he frankly commented on the shortcomings of Britain and its alleged democracy. Much of the criticism directed against Britain by Mr. Wells can also be applied to this country. The U. S. A. like Great Britain is highly civilized (in some respects) and also stupid. Mr. Wells referred to the distinction which was shown in Britain of limiting its aviation to young men of the upper classes, and the discovery or rediscovery that poorer boys make just as good air fighters. This country has been aping England in this respect—limiting to college students opportunities for training as military aviators.

Mr. Wells stated—"We have been playing overlong and beyond the danger point in this country (Britain) with a mere frustration of democracy. We have to put an end to the advantages and respect our people have accorded to titles, precedences and privileges."

We have in the U. S. A. an increasing number of persons who for years have been aping the British aristocracy, who defer to titles and who in their hearts tend toward class distinction. Like some of the privileged British class referred to by Mr. Wells, there are in this country some wealthy persons with Fascist tendencies. We have also in the U. S. A. millions of poorer citizens who do not understand what democracy means; who either are willing to be duped by unscrupulous

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 6, 1885

Edward P. Burnham of Newton has been making a good record at the Hartford races. On Wednesday in the one mile amateur tricycle race he came in second, only one yard behind Furneal, the phenomenal English cyclist. Burnham had the misfortune to "lose his pedals" only 150 yards from the finish, yet was beaten by only one-fifth of a second. He won first prize in the 5 mile race on Friday and the prize was a $100 Colt shotgun.

Newton people feel pretty sore over the fact that Waltham has 15 delegates to the Republican state convention this year while Newton has only 12. This is due to the large muggump vote which was cast in Newton and the Blaine vote being comparatively small. The number of delegates was based on the Republican (Blaine) vote.

A young man named Cornelius Dalton was fined $3 in the Newton court last Monday for bathing in the Charles River at Nonantum last June. He has been hiding away, but had to settle up at last.

Seth Davis, Esq. of West Newton celebrated his 95th birthday on Thursday, September 3. Many friends called on him during the day to tender congratulations and in the evening a pleasant company gathered at his residence and enjoyed a social hour. Miss Minnie Stone of Boston sang several old time melodies with sweetness, accompanying herself on the guitar. The old gentleman sat for his photograph at Seaver's studio the earlier part of the day.

The question is often asked—"When is the Newton Circuit railroad to be finished, and trains running?" About a half mile of tracks remain to be laid, and work is being completed on the bridge at Chestnut st., the last of the six bridges to be built.

The Mason School building has been put in order for the beginning of the new school year. Several of the rooms have been freshened up and the ceilings tinted. The Charles C. Carter has been brought up by iron pipes to each floor of the building for the convenience of furnishing drinking water to the 300 pupils there. Heretofore they had to go to the basement, which pleasant duty of quenching an oft-returning thirst, which is more important to the average boy than is a thirst for knowledge.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 5, 1890

Robert A. Brackett of Newton has returned from Byron, Maine about 30 miles from Farmington, among the mountains, where they are prospecting for gold along the banks of the Swift River. A sluice about a half mile long is being built. He brought back a sample of gold he panned out along the banks of the river.

There has been considerable discussion about the question of who will succeed William E. Fuller as superintendent of streets. George E. Sturtevant who has been assistant superintendent for about a dozen years seems to be in direct line of promotion. He has been a faithful and efficient assistant and has a thorough knowledge of the duties of the position which would take a new man sometime to learn. The position is one of the most important in this city.

At the meeting of the School Committee on Wednesday evening Mr. Drew offered an order for the appointment of Patrolman Charles O. Davis as truant officer at Nonantum. The time of his service to date from the resignation of Martin Laffie. It occasioned considerable discussion. The secretary of the Board stating that expenses for truancy in Nonantum had been larger than in any other village; the truant officer there having been employed to also look up simple cases of tardiness. The Mayor also objects to the appointment of policemen as truant officers. The order failed to pass.

Mr. Thomas Nickerson of West Newton is the largest taxpayer on the year's list, with $5047; the Farlow family is second with $3600. Wards 6 and 7 have the largest number paying over $200.

The City Marshals of Newton and Waltham have agreed to co-operate with Supt. Henderson of the Newton Street Railway company to put an end to rowdism on street cars, especially late at night. The police of both cities have been ordered to answer all calls for assistance made by conductors on the cars.

At a meeting of the Board of Health on Tuesday afternoon the agent was instructed to confer with William H. Maguire, collector of garbage, relative to the disposal of shell fish in various parts of the city. The clerk was also requested to call the attention of the Boston & Albany railroad to the condition of the depot yard at West Newton in the vicinity of the hack stand.

Hon. Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, ex-collector of the Port of Boston, who has been summoned at North Scituate, and whose serious illness has occasioned much anxiety, was taken to his home last Saturday. His trip was made comfortable through the courtesy of the Old Colony and the Boston & Albany railroad companies, a special car being provided for his accommodation.

The Catholic Working Boys' Home of the North End in Boston will probably be established at Bishop Williams' farm of about 60 acres near Kenrick's bridge on Nahant st., and adjoining the Ranney place, lately purchased by the city for the location of the almshouse.

One Upper Falls physician is treating over 20 cases of malaria daily. This gives an idea of the prevalence of this disease.

Red Cross Hastens To Make Garments For Need Overseas

The National Society of the American Red Cross, in anticipation of the growing needs of destitute refugees in Europe, is arranging for the making of a new quota of garments which must be ready by December 31st. There is no question as to the overwhelming need among the hundreds of thousands of these refugees who have been driven from their homes, and the American Red Cross is anxious to have available for immediate shipment an adequate stock of the various types of garments, so that future requests from their representatives abroad can be met promptly, and advantage taken of any ocean transportation space that becomes available.

Shipments have been going forward regularly to Great Britain for the French and Belgian refugees and English evacuees in that country, as well as to Finland, for which country additional shipments are planned for the near future. Well over a million garments and approximately fifteen million surgical dressings have been produced by the Chapter of the United States in answer to their call up to the last of August, tangible evidence of friendship and sympathy from the women of this land toward the helpless victims of war overseas. In no better way could the women of America have expressed their desire to help, and Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, tenders the appreciation of that organization in the sentence: "We are proud of their service and devotion to the ideals of the Red Cross."

The quota for the Newton Chapter has been announced, and the Production department, of which Mrs. Carl H. Hanson, is chairman; and her assistant, Mrs. Stanley Livingstone, chairman of Sewing, are making their plans for meetings in the various sections of the city. Places and days for meetings, with the names of chairmen in charge of the several Groups, Knitting, Sewing and Surgical Dressings, will be announced as soon as arrangements can be made. Meanwhile, the Production Room, at 297 Walnut st., Newtonville, corner of Austin st., will be open daily from Mondays through Fridays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., for the convenience of those in charge of the various Groups, and for information of all women interested to assist in this work, telephone Newton North 2670. Garments, however, as completed should be returned to the Village meeting places on their regular days, and yarn should be secured at these points also.

Miss Calista Roy, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, has arranged with Mrs. Hanson to have the Junior Red Cross assist in the Sewing project. The Weeks, Day, and Warren Junior High Schools and the Newton High School Sewing Classes will make garments which have been assigned to them.

It may be seen from the quota given below as desired from the Newton Chapter of Red Cross that the services of the women of Newton are greatly needed during the next four months: 200 women's dresses; 300 women's skirts; 1000 girls' dresses; 500 girls' skirts; 750 layettes; 250 boys' shirts; 120 boys' overalls; 300 boys' shorts; 275 convalescent robes; 250 hospital pajamas; 200 men's sweaters; 500 women's sweaters; and 1800 children's sweaters.

As will be noted, the Red Cross is stressing supplying children's garments even more strongly than in the past, and it seems probable that more and more in the future, the program will be to aid this Group and the sick and injured.

Fourth Division Reunion Sept. 23

The annual national reunion of the Fourth (Ivy Leaf) Division of the A. E. F. will be held next Monday evening, September 23rd at 7:30 in the Parker House, Boston. Veterans of the "Fourth" from all over the United States, who will attend the Legion Convention, will be present. Ben Pollack, secretary of the New England Chapter is in charge of the reunion, and all the national officers, headed by Edward J. Malre, National President, of Los Angeles, will attend. It is expected that many former "Ivy Leaf" members will meet old comrades whom they have not seen for years. The singing will be led by Henry Jackson Ware, conductor of the Mass. Inst. of Technology Glee Club.

$500 Fire In Home At West Newton

A fire in the home of Seymour Silver at 16 Arlington rd., West Newton, last Friday afternoon, caused damage estimated at $500. The fire was discovered in a bedroom by Mrs. Silver at 1:15 and she telephoned the fire department. The fire was confined to the room in which it started. A painter had been working in the room that morning and it is supposed that sparks from a cigarette he had been smoking caused the fire.

Automobile Accidents

Helen Colan, 17, of 395 Linwood ave., Newtonville, received a fractured ankle and other injuries on Monday afternoon when she was hit on Walnut st., Newtonville, by a truck driven by Leroy Twombly of Burlington. The girl was taken to Newton Hospital in a station wagon driven by Charles Keith of 871 Washington st., Newtonville. Twombly reported to the police that the girl ran in front of his truck from between two of a line of army trucks which were proceeding along Walnut st.

A car driven by Jessie Howard of 214 Tremont st., Newton, hit the rear of a car driven by David Colburn of West Quincy as the latter was backing out of a parking space on Hall st., Newton, at 6:10 p. m. Saturday. Olive Colburn of Grove st., West Quincy, a passenger in the car hit, was reported as having received an injury to her abdomen.

A car driven by John Beale of Parkway rd., Newtonville, collided with a Middlesex & Boston bus driven by Eugene Cofrau as the bus was steered toward the side of the road opposite 825 Washington st. at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. The right side of the bus was dented, and the bumper and left front fender of the car broken.

A car driven by Reginald Stevens of Weston hit Carol Goldman, 5, of 855 Chestnut st., Upper Falls, on Sunday afternoon on that street near her home. She received a bruise on her left thigh and was taken to the Newton Hospital in a police car. Stevens reported that the child ran onto the street and in front of his car.

Louis Lopiello of Charlestown, riding with Cella, claimed to have received an injury.

Make-Believe Cop Is Fined $50

Maurice Mahoney, 28, of 5 Hamilton st., Newton Lower Falls, a drug clerk, was fined $50 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday for impersonating a policeman. Traffic Officer FitzSimmons testified that he was driving his car along Washington st. at Lower Falls at 12:30 a. m. Monday while off duty and not wearing his uniform, when he observed someone waving a flashlight in the middle of the street and shouting at him to stop. FitzSimmons obeyed and was ordered to drive his car to the side of the street. The "traffic cop" displayed a badge, asked FitzSimmons if he had not observed the 30 mile speed limit signs, and informed him he was driving too fast.

FitzSimmons questioned the man and the latter said his name was MacGrath and that he was a Newton policeman. Examining the badge worn by the latter, FitzSimmons found it was inscribed "Michigan Special Police," and he placed the make believe traffic officer under arrest. Judge Mayberry asked FitzSimmons if Mahoney showed signs of being under the influence of liquor, and was told "No." Mahoney, however, said he had been drinking.

Two Fined $30 For Bad Driving

Richard Moller of 47 Brookdale rd., Newtonville, was fined $30 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On the night of Sept. 2 a car driven by him collided at Cabot and Harvard sts. with a car driven by Clarence Chapin of Belmont, injuring Chapin's wife. Traffic Officer Goddard testified that Moller admitted he was driving at a speed of 40 miles.

In court the same day Ralph Smith, 19, of Boylston st., Watertown, was also fined $30 for reckless driving. At 3:15 a. m. on Sept. 5 a car driven by young Smith came down the dangerous curve on Centre st. so fast that he lost control, and the automobile went through a hedge after hitting the curb and a young man riding in the car was injured.

In court on Wednesday Alfred Crane of Waltham was fined $5 for speeding, and $5 for not stopping before entering a through way, Edward Biel of Dean rd., Brookline, was fined $5 for overtime parking.

Sunbeam Chats

Well, summer is over, I guess, 'cause mother is beginning to put more clothes on me—I hate clothes but have to admit they do feel good on cold days. "Dress according to weather" is what mother always says, and I guess she's right again.

NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON GRID TEAM SHOWING PROGRESS

With the opening football game of the high school season scheduled for next week Saturday at the Dickinson Stadium, the Newton High School eleven is gradually rounding into shape. A week of intensive practice in weather conditions vastly improved over the previous week has given Coach Owen MacDowell a better line on his charges. The Newton mentor, however, has been unable to put together what he would like to consider his best starting team because of numerous minor injuries which have kept some of the boys on the shelf for two or three days.

In addition to the injured Charley French who dislocated a shoulder doing a handstand ten days ago "Windy" Booth is still out with a sprained ankle. Another youth who is recovering from an ankle injury and is getting a little workout every day is Ken Young whose experience on the jayvees and intermediates the past two years makes him a promising varsity backfield regular this season. Al Savignano, brother of Ernie, former Newton captain at Brown where he is an early-season standout, is nursing a slight knee injury as is centre Dick Lowry. Joe Beatty and Larry Tempesta are other boys who have had to take it easy. Beatty has a slightly sprained arch of his foot which kept him out of scrimmage with Watertown High last Saturday. He has tested it this week a little but fear of further injury has forced him to do but little. Tempesta, a promising end, will be out for a day or two as the result of a shaking up.

Other candidates on the squad who have escaped the flood of minor injuries are coming along with particular emphasis being placed on a faster line charge and more team unity. In the line Healey and Kaulousian have been coming along fast. Veteran ends Captain Bob Beatty and Phil Teschner are expected to come along fast this coming week as the opening game nears. In the backfield Fahey who has been shifting from fullback to a running back position has been improving daily. Gus Avantaggio, likewise, has shown the Newton coaches enough to warrant optimism.

Last Saturday the Newton varsity squad scrimmaged with Watertown High at Newtonville. Not at full strength and with the visitors bringing a husky squad the orange and black did not look too well. The workout, however, showed up Newton weaknesses and gave the coaches an opportunity to concentrate on phases which needed attention. One of the outstanding bits of work was the nifty passing by Bill Betts in the Newton backfield. On several occasions Betts tossed were right on the mark.

Coach MacDowell has been endeavoring to obtain a nearby school to scrimmage against tomorrow morning but as many of the teams open their season tomorrow the arrangements may not prove fruitful.

With Dick Lowry out of his centre berth Bill Rangnow has been filling in and showing promise. He has also been working as a guard and is expected to prove a valuable man to have for replacement duty as the season progresses. Hugo, who played considerably as a guard last year, has also showed steady improvement and is regarded as a dependable.

Rotary Club

At the Monday noon meeting of the Newton Rotary Club the guest speaker, J. T. Colburn Blackmore, who returned from England in August gave a vivid description of that country and the attitude of its people during the present aerial siege. His portrayal of England, its clipped hedges, and flower gardens as viewed from a bus in May 1939 gave sharp contrast to the narrative of his secretive conveyed departure on the Cunard liner Scythia.

England was smug—too smug in its optimism of 1939 in that the disaster of war and death would be avoided. Germany would behave and negotiations would settle everything. Mr. Chamberlain really represented the English people in his dealings with Germany.

Today it is different. Englishmen have changed. Fear of death is gone. Inhibitions have been swept away. People think more clearly of vital, important things without mental restraint. They believe there are worse things than death. Mr. Chamberlain's retirement and Mr. Churchill's ascendancy as Prime Minister was natural. Mr. Churchill represents England as a warlike-fighting nation worthy of a glorious past and fighting for the same future.

France lost because of too much culture, as related to him by Mr. Kerensky, formerly of Russia, a fellow passenger on this liner bound for U. S. A. France had a culture that made her complacent and self-sufficient. This self-sufficiency did not give France an appreciation of events in contradistinction to England whose far flung empire made attention to all untoward events imperative and of extreme importance. France will rise again but not until every child of France is willing to sacrifice everything to replace her among the leading nations.

Britain is not foolhardy in stubbornly resisting German power. The navy is larger than before and its Merchant Marine can boast more tonnage despite ineffective submarine attack. The food situation is well controlled since sources of supply are many and can be maintained. England has a surplus each week after consumption.

The method of keeping troops spread out over the entire country accomplishes the dual purpose of protection against parachute troops and the reduction of casualties due to direct hits on barracks.

Mr. Blackmore brought out the close relationship between this country and England. Close in the sense of relationship not only of blood, but of ideals, and common interests.

Widely Featured Mullen Plant Help for The Hair Now Available

No doubt the people of Newton will read with deep interest that there is now a new, natural plant way to help them solve their troublesome scalp and hair problems. The treatment suggested is that featured some time ago by the well-known newspaper columnist George Jean Nathan, who in a most remarkable news article told of the results he obtained by using a very simple plant juice compound, made from the well-known mullein plant, a widely spread botanical common both in England and in this country.

In his much discussed story he stated that he considered this mullein plant means of combatting dandruff and itchy scalp conditions really astounding, and since his comments were so sensationally received thousands have been induced to try this new plant way to better hair and scalp health.

It is said that people everywhere are turning with great eagerness to this latest step towards better hair, and the treatment is now being dispensed by several of Newton's most ethical pharmacists.

All of which seems to prove that Nature, after all, is again coming in to her own.

NEWTON ARCHERS HOLD HANDICAP TOURNEY

For the September handicap tournament thirty-six archers came to shoot and to enjoy the warm weather. Bob Goldich was home from Rensselaer Polytechnic at Troy, N. Y.

This was the first time the women had seen the handicap cup which had been promised them since early in the season. Hazel Wilson of the Waltham Club placed first with handicap by 81-423-375-798. Alice Cushman placed second with 42-175-600-775. Mrs. Cushman was awarded the women's cup because she was the one holding the high handicap score for the women.

Doc Thomas placed first with handicap for the men with 87-561-270-831. Since he did not care to hold the cup it was awarded to Walter Kimber who placed second with 90-590-230-820. Ten juniors appeared to shoot so awards were made to junior girls and to junior boys. For the girls, Marjorie Kimber carried all the honors, placing first with handicap and in the American Round, 89-593-332-905. Letitia Doten placed second for the girls in both events with 89-545-315-860. Among the junior boys Herman Norton placed first and Ernest Bradley second in the handicaps. In the American Round, Lee Dorina placed first with 73-383 and Ernest Bradley second with 75-349.

In the American Round, Adrian Matthews placed first with 90-598 and Walter Kimber second with 90-590. For the women, Dorothy Matthews placed first with 82-432 and Hazel Wilson second with 81-423.

The Newton Archers have invited the Mass. State Archery Association to share their championship tournament Oct. 12th with them at the Newton Centre Playground. The Cummings Cup awards will be made at a special Saturday tournament to be announced soon.

Newton Council Installs Officers

The officers of Newton Council were installed at Elks' Hall on Tuesday evening by District Deputy Wilmore Holbrook and staff of Dorchester.

Boston Chapter, K. of C., has been invited to hold its October meeting at Newton on Oct. 15, in conjunction with the meeting of Newton Council. Philip Kerrivan of Newtonville is chairman of the chapter.

Day Jr. High School

The beginning of a new school year finds the Day Junior High School with an enrollment of 664 pupils, divided almost evenly among the three grades. Helping to swell the record enrollment were 56 new pupils, of whom the following have come from outside Massachusetts: Adrian Kuyper from Hampton, Virginia; Parker Mangelsdorf from College Station, Texas; Valerie Winters from Southern Pines, North Carolina; Charles Vail from Cincinnati, Ohio; Maureen and Patricia Flynn from Rutherford, New Jersey; William Haney from Wayne, Pennsylvania; Shirley Barton from Baltimore, Maryland; and Ann Cooper from Manhattan, New York. We welcome these newcomers and hope that they will have a happy year with us.

Mr. Wheeler Merriam has been stationed in Georgia for a year's army training. Mrs. Ricker, who filled in so ably last year, is taking over Mr. Merriam's classes for the present.

Miss Paul has placed each eighth and ninth grader in a club of his choosing, but the seventh graders will not join clubs until later in the year. They will use the club period for a few weeks as an orientation hour during which they will become acquainted with their new environment. The Library Club under the direction of Mrs. Holmes has elected Melanie Norris, president; Evelyn Doucette, vice-president; Isabella Kusleika, secretary, and Beatrice Wright, treasurer. The Tennis Club has its officers for the first term. Dudley Brown is president, David Beatty, vice-president, and Dorothy Grabusky, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Charles R. Spaulding, the supervisor of instrumental music in Newton, will meet all pupils and parents of pupils who are interested in instrumental music in the Day Auditorium at three o'clock on Tuesday, Sept. 17.

Mr. Ralph Morse is to be the substitute on the Teachers' Council for Wheeler Merriam, representing the Day Junior High School.

Mr. Addison Cowles has had a good response to his fall tennis tournament for boys and girls.

NEWTON SECRETARIAL SCHOOL NOW AT NEWTON CORNER

Classes in the Day Division of the Newton Secretarial School will start Monday, September 23, in the school's new quarters in the Newton National Bank Building at Newton Corner; classes in the Evening Division will start September 30. Small groups, an outstanding feature of the Newton Secretarial School, permit the teacher to give individual attention to each student, and this individual attention makes for rapid and highly satisfactory individual advancement—the student's ability and application determine the student's progress. Esther C. Blackburn, the Director of the School, in announcing the placement of Miss Dorothy Mortimer with Atlantic Research Associates, Newtonville, states that the School has been very successful in placing the students of the first-year class.

Red Cross Cares For Refugee Children

Many, perhaps, do not realize how the National Red Cross is caring for refugee children, who arrive in this country, usually at New York, so quietly do they render this kindly service. Representatives meet the incoming ships and take under their tender care many of these pathetic victims of war-ravaged Europe and England. Throughout the entire country the effects of this thoughtfulness finds echo. Just as a few weeks ago, it was announced by the Newton Chapter of Red Cross that the Juniors of the Chapter had become hostesses to two of these newcomers to our shores, by sending them for a vacation at Camp Mary Day. It is heartwarming to learn something about this sponsorship of the Juniors, and this extract from a letter received at Chapter Headquarters, written by Miss Kathleen M. Twombly, Director of the Girl Scouts, will indicate what this means in the lives of these children:

"Hildegard Steiner and Ilse Kornthal spent very happy weeks at Camp Mary Day. They arrived from New York City on Thursday, Aug. 15, and returned on Aug. 29. Hildegard and Ilse were born in Vienna and were forced to leave with their families in August 1939. From Vienna they went to France and thence to the United States.

"Since their arrival in New York City their fathers have been in temporary employment in positions which are unworthy of their education and background.

"At Camp Mary Day, Hildegard and Ilse were very good campers and contributed a great deal to the camp program. They made a quick adjustment to our ways of living and seemed entirely happy for the first time since their arrival in America."

Owen A. Gallagher Is Newton Native

Owen A. Gallagher, who won the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor in a close contest with Mayor Carr of Medford, is a native of Newton. He was born in this city 38 years ago, the son of Daniel J. and Mary (Cronin) Gallagher. His father, a native of Watertown, moved to Newton when a youth. His mother, a school teacher before her marriage, was a native of Lowell. Owen A. Gallagher was named after his grandfather, Owen Gallagher, for many years an employee of the Newton Street Department.

Mr. Gallagher moved to Dorchester with his parents when a child, graduated from Boston College in 1923 and from Boston University Law School in 1926. He was a member of the House of Representatives from 1926 to 1932, of the State Senate from 1932 to 1934 and of the Boston Street Commission from 1934 to 1937. In 1938 he was a candidate for District Attorney of Suffolk County. John F. Gallagher of Clarendon st., Newtonville, and James P. Gallagher of Rossmore st., Newtonville, clerk of the Newton Court, are his uncles.

Kiwanis Club

Mr. Charles Kane, one of the officials of the General Motors Corp., was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Tuesday at the Charles River Country Club. Mr. Kane is New England Zone Manager for Pontiac, known to his friends as "Blowtorch Kane," and he lived up to this reputation in his talk.

Mr. Kane described in detail the large amount of engineering and research work necessary to produce a high-class automobile. He stated that even now a large engineering force of the Pontiac Motors were working on development of new and better ideas for the 1942 models.

He stated that a large public research staff was continually obtaining information from the public as to what they would ask for new 1942 models. According to Mr. Kane, the 1942 Pontiac would be nearly as possible represent what car owners desire—which is exactly what the 1941 models that they have just brought out are doing.

The sales procedure followed by Pontiac was described briefly, and Mr. Kane stated that over fifteen million dollars' worth of Pontiacs were purchased during the last year in the Boston Zone alone. Arrangements for this excellent speaker were made by Frank Battles, popular live-wire local Pontiac Agent. Mr. Battles is an active member of the local Newton Club.

Final instructions were given to the delegates from the local club who will attend the New England District meeting to be held at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, on September 19, 20 and 21. Those delegates who will represent the local club at this convention are President John A. Janse, Vice-President Ray Green, and Second Vice-President Ed Pease. Dr. Herman Norton and Leo Noel will also attend as alternates.

Bee Causes Car To Crash Into Tree

Mrs. Ruth Wisbach of 164 Kirkstall rd., Newtonville, was seriously injured and her daughter, Geraldine Wisbach, was also injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree on Kirkstall rd. on Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock. A bee which emerged from a bunch of flowers, which had been put into the car, caused Miss Wisbach, who was driving, to lose control of the automobile. The car hit the tree with such force that the two women were wedged in the front seat and had to be extricated by policemen who arrived at the scene in a cruising car and ambulance, after neighbors had telephoned for assistance. Mrs. Wisbach was unconscious when taken from the car. She received a possible concussion of the brain, and injuries to her chest and legs. Miss Wisbach, who is a dancing teacher, received injuries to her face and knees. Both were taken to the Newton Hospital.

Over two hundred people climbed during the day and the Scouts were greeted heartily by many who were making the ascent for the first time.

Aged Man Weak From Starvation

Late Tuesday night Serg. Leehan and Patrolman Lynch found Gustav Erickson, 71, and homeless, wandering along Lexington st., West Newton. The man was in a weakened state from hunger and was placed under arrest on a charge of vagrancy. He was given a meal at police headquarters and lodged there for the night. In court on Wednesday he was ordered sent to Bridgewater State Farm by Judge Mayberry.

Aldermen Meet

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday, Sept. 9 hearings were held on petitions of the Colonial Beacon Oil Company for a permit to erect a 2-car lubricatorium at 1169 Washington st., and Harvey Arminson to install a tank to hold 1000 gallons of gasoline at 241 Riverview ave., West Newton. Later at the meeting these petitions were granted by the Aldermen.

On the docket for the meeting the Licenses Committee had reported adversely against the petition of Harry Tighe for a permit to conduct a used car sales place at the lot, 46 Needham st., Newton Highlands. At the meeting on Monday night, however, Chairman Fahey of the Licenses Committee had received additional information from the petitioner and Police Chief Hughes, and reversed its stand, recommending that the permit be given. A condition attached was—that after three months the continuation of the permit would be considered by the committee and Chief Hughes.

On recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee, a permit was granted to William DeWitt to change a single residence at 376 Central st., Auburndale to a two-family. The lot is in a single residence zone. There was no opposition, and some neighbors favored the petition. An order was passed adjudging a dwelling at 1267 Beacon st., Newton Centre to be dangerous and a menace, and ordering its removal. There had been a fire in the building and Chief Randlett reported that the building should be condemned. A permit was granted to Freda Irvine to conduct a convalescent home for 12 patients at 610 Centre st., Newton. The building has been used for this purpose for some years.

The Board voted, on recommendation of the finance committee to sell a parcel of land on Winchester st., Newton Highlands to Mary McLaughlin for $1250. She had offered $1000. The land, mostly swamp, contains 287,000 square feet and is assessed for $2500. Mrs. McLaughlin formerly owned the land and the city seized it for unpaid taxes.

The Aldermen rejected an offer from Elizabeth Riley to buy a lot of land on Derby st., West Newton for $300. The city wants $450. An offer of $225 was received from Peter Gennaro for a lot of land on Manhattan rd., West Newton; and another offer of $100 from the Merchants Co-operative Bank for half this same lot. The bank recently foreclosed a mortgage on adjoining property and learned that the garage on the property is partly on the city owned lot. The Aldermen decided that either Gennaro or the bank can buy the entire lot for $300.

The Board voted to appropriate $250 for Newton Post, A. L. to entertain Fort Dearborn, Michigan Post at the coming Legion convention in Boston. Alderman McKay said that in 1930 the city contributed $1500 for a similar purpose. Other appropriations included:

Street Dept., construction of entrance to Cold Spring Playground at Dunclee st., Ward 5, $900.

Street Dept., construction of streets under the Betterment Law; with orders for laying out, grading and acceptance:

Bemis rd., Ward 2, $3780.
Glendale rd., Ward 6, $4427.
Marshfield rd., Ward 6, $2300.
Philmore rd., Ward 7 (350 ft. only), $5170.

Law Dept., land damage in connection with construction of Bemis rd., Ward 2, $14.

Street Dept., construction of drains and sewers, with orders taking land therefor:

Bemis rd., Ward 2, drain outlet, $450.
Bound Brook rd., Ward 5, for extension westerly to Danhill rd., $1600.
Bound Brook rd., Ward 5, for extension easterly to rear Dedham st., $370.

Glendale rd., Ward 6, $930.
Lawn ave., Ward 2, $1000.
Walnut st., Ward 5, $950.

Water Dept., for the purchase and installation of pump equipment and appurtenances for Wells No. 1 and No. 2, $7350.

Water Dept., water main extension, Tamarac rd., Ward 5, $1460.
Glendale and Burrage rds., $950.

The names of the following Newton men were drawn from the jury list to serve at sessions of the superior court in Cambridge starting next month—Ralph Washburn, 15 Newell rd.; Ross Guilford, 68 Woodbine st.; Albert Sully, 1821 Washington st.; Francis Hamilton, 21 Standish st.;

The Aldermen commendably continued to refuse to allow Newton residents to be annoyed by the blaring of sound trucks. They turned down a petition from Frank Walker of Marlboro for a permit to use a sound truck in Newton to advertise his candidacy for Middlesex County Commissioner. Such a method would lose rather than gain votes for Walker or any other candidate in Newton.

Newton Youth Telephones Long Distance From Fair

Visiting the New York World's Fair from his home at 67 Waban Parkway, Newton, James Blute is shown "eavesdropping" on the free long distance demonstration telephone calls of other lucky visitors, along with some 300 listeners in. About 160 free calls are awarded visitors daily on condition that others be connected on receivers scattered around the building.

In the exhibit, he also listened to his own telephone voice on the Voice Mirror, had his hearing tested, and took in the amusing performance of Pedro the Voder, the machine that talks and sings.

Betty Quigley of 31 Tamworth rd., Waban, was one of the 160 lucky visitors awarded a free long distance demonstration telephone call at the Bell Telephone Exhibit while visiting the Fair. While 300 other visitors "eavesdropped" on the conversation, the Fair visitor spoke to Mrs. P. A. Lowe in Salem, Oregon.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde G. Hess are cordially invited to attend a reception to them which will be given at the Newton Y. M. C. A. this coming Friday, September 27th, at 8 p. m. The reception will be informal. Many former campers and their parents are expected to be present as well as others throughout the city. Mr. and Mrs. Hess will come to Newton from Burlington, Vermont, where Mr. Hess is now the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. The reception program is in charge of the social committee of the Newton Y. M. C. A., Mr. F. Sayford Bacon, chairman. Mr. Bacon's committee will be assisted by the women's auxiliary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., of which Mrs. Hess was the program chairman. Refreshments will be served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Herbert T. Stanger, president of the auxiliary.

Slander Suit Is Cancelled

The suit for slander instituted several months ago by Mrs. Vernita Mason of 9 Kingswood rd., Auburndale, against Grace Chandler of 26 Page rd., Newtonville, was ordered cancelled last Saturday in the Newton court because of the failure of Mrs. Mason to file answers to interrogatories asked for on Aug. 2 by counsel for the defendant. The time for filing these answers expired on Sept. 13.

Mrs. Mason had alleged that Mrs. Chandler had on divers occasions falsely and maliciously slandered her, and she asked for $100,000 damages. The defendant's counsel had asked for specifications as to places and dates where the alleged slanderous remarks were passed, and the names and addresses of persons in whose presence they were said. Also what injuries and damages to her reputation had been received by the plaintiff.

Auto Accidents

Mrs. Matt Jones of 30 The Ledges rd., Newton Centre, was shaken considerably on Wednesday afternoon when her car was in a collision at the turnpike and Cloverdale rd., Newton Highlands, with a truck driven by Thomas E. Quincey. Earl Crabbe, chauffeur for Mrs. Jones, was about to make a left turn onto Cloverdale rd. when the truck hit the car.

Modern Judas

Fear that fellow prisoners would take vengeance on him because he had betrayed his fellow partners in crime caused John Strong to hang himself in his cell in Pentridge jail, Melbourne, Australia. Strong was serving a five-year sentence for complicity in a daring holdup. At his trial he was branded as a Judas who had sold his fellow criminals for 20 pieces of silver by betraying the others to a detective. This so preyed on his mind after this conviction that he asked the jail officials to protect him from the other prisoners. This they did, but his nerves became more frayed each day until he could stand it no longer.

Leukemia Cure May Be Near, Experiments Show

Hope that a cure may some day be found for chronic leukemia, dread disease of the blood from which no one has been known to recover, was held out by Dr. William P. Murphy, of the Peter Brent hospital in Boston.

Dr. Murphy describes experiments which lead him to believe that the disease, which is marked by an increase of white corpuscles in the blood, may be caused by the deficiency of some substance that would normally control these corpuscles. Future research, he says, will probably reveal the nature of this substance and some satisfactory method of supplying it to the patient.

Webster's International dictionary defines leukemia as "a morbid state due to derangement of the blood-making organs, and characterized by an excessive number of leukocytes in the blood."

Dr. Murphy criticized the common method of treating chronic leukemia, which he said consisted of giving the patient large doses of X-rays when his blood shows a high count of white corpuscles, or leukocytes.

When the leukocyte count is high, he said, the patient suffers from nausea and loss of appetite; but under the heavy X-ray dosage these symptoms increase even though the leukocyte count goes down. By the time he is again able to eat his leukocyte count has risen and another treatment is necessary. These constant relapses both discourage him from accepting treatment and interfere with his normal life.

By giving X-rays in small frequent doses, however, Dr. Murphy said he had found it possible to keep the patient's leukocyte count close to normal without upsetting his stomach or his appetite.

This discovery suggested to him that the disease may result from the deficiency of some controlling substance, just as pernicious anemia results from a deficiency of an anti-pernicious anemia factor.

"The deficient factor in leukemia is supplied in some manner by X-ray exposure in small dosage, probably less satisfactorily by large dosage, which may also act to destroy cells," he said.

Thousands of Redwoods Protected by New Park

Thousands of sequoias, ranging from seedlings to magnificent patriarchs estimated to be between 2,000 and 3,000 years old, have perpetual protection as a result of the establishment of Kings Canyon National park, in California. Approximately 454,000 acres of some of the most beautiful wilderness scenery in the United States comprise this area which includes Redwood mountain and adjoins Sequoia National park.

Henceforth the four square miles comprising General Grant National park, adjacent to the new area, where are conserved two splendid groves of sequoia gigantea, will constitute the General Grove section of Kings Canyon National park.

In his book "The Living Past," Dr. John C. Merriam, of the Carnegie institution, thus expresses the sense of awe conveyed by these ancient trees, oldest of living things: "The mysterious influence of these groves arises not alone from magnitude or from beauty of light filling deep spaces. It is as if in these trees the flow of years were held in eddies, and one could see together past and present. The element of time pervades the forest with an influence more subtle than light, but that to the mind is not less real."

Labor Boards Not New

Labor relations boards are as old as the hills—or nearly so—according to a recent research. The first labor relations board was appointed in 1834.

The general court passed a ruling that year which provided for the appointment of three men to hear cases of labor disputes.

The ruling was as follows: "It is ordered that hereafter no man shall be liable to pay the forfeit of five shillings for giving more wages to workmen than the court hath set; also that if any p'son that hath bargained for any work by the great shall complain to the tone, at some meeting, that the bargain proves not equal on his p'te it shall be lawful for the towne to appointe three men that shall sett an equal rate thereon; also it is agreed that twopence a day for meals shall be abated to all workmen & soe much allowed them more in their wages."

Insulation Patriarch

The oldest form of modern mass insulation is mineral wool, which is exactly 100 years old, having been first made in Wales, England, in 1840. Some of the first railroad cars used it—the crack Twentieth Century Limited uses it today. The Scientific American saw the great value of it in 1887 and accurately predicted that insulation would one day be considered a necessity in a correctly built house. In 1937 the largest apartment development in the world—Parkchester in New York city—adopted mineral wool as an insulation for exterior brick walls, establishing a new use based on a calculated fuel saving of $40,000 a year. Enough mineral wool is used annually to insulate every home in Atlanta, Seattle, Kansas City or Buffalo.

New Chevrolet Here Saturday

C. J. Lupo, President of the Silver Lake Chevrolet Company, today received word that the new 1941 Chevrolet will be formally introduced locally and nationally, Saturday, September 21.

Mr. Lupo said he was not in a position to confirm advance information on the new Chevrolet car, but indicated that it will be much bigger inside and out, than last year's model. Vacuum Power Shift, original Chevrolet feature, will be standard equipment on all 1941 models at no extra cost, Mr. Lupo said, and the new car will have an even sturdier and more modern valve-in-head engine.

"Chevrolet has led in motor car sales for nine out of the past ten years," the Silver Lake dealer said, "and with this better-than-ever 1941 car, we certainly should repeat again!"

Silver Lake Chevrolet Company expects a big fall upturn in new car sales, indicated by the large number of advance orders already placed by those who want to be sure of early delivery.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, September 22, on the subject: "Matter."

The Golden Text will be: "Little children, keep yourselves from idols" (I John 5:21). Bible selections will include the following passage from Isaiah: "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it. . . . The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day" (Isaiah 2:2, 11).

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "The spiritual fact and the material belief of things are contradictions; but the spiritual is true, and therefore the material must be untrue. Life is not in matter. Therefore it cannot be said to pass out of matter. Matter and death are mortal illusions. Spirit and all things spiritual are the real and eternal" (p. 289).

Signs of Cancer Often Ignored, Say Physicians

Dr. Howard K. Gray of the division of surgery of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., has said there is a lamentable disregard of the first significant persistent symptoms of cancer of the stomach by physicians as well as by laymen. He placed much of the responsibility for this neglect on some of the widely used medical textbooks, which, he said, listed as "general features" of the disease conditions that apply to its malignant stages.

Speaking at a meeting of the section on surgery of the American Medical association in New York, Dr. Gray said it is the duty of members of the medical profession to impress on the general public and their colleagues the need of medical advice for any digestive disturbance that does not respond immediately to the usual relief measures. In such cases, he said, it also is the duty of the attending physician to insist on "complete investigation in order to make a settled diagnosis."

"It should be emphasized that a chronic gastric ulcer may become malignant," said Dr. Gray, "and it is impossible clinically and by X-ray to distinguish positively simple gastric ulcer from early cancerous ulcer. The widespread impression that a gastric ulcer cannot be malignant if improvement occurs is false."

Dr. Gray said early surgical removal of the malignant growth is the only known remedy for the disease, and there is a "deplorable tendency" by the medical profession "to await the development of typical symptoms ascribed in textbooks before serious consideration is given to the possibility that a malignant lesion of the stomach exists."

Citing several textbook statements, one of them that "in 113 of 150 cases a tumor could be felt," Dr. Gray said: "It is obvious that such a description of the 'general features' of carcinoma of the stomach is that of advanced carcinoma, and in a vast majority of instances the growth in such cases will have progressed to the point of inoperability."

"It should be emphasized again that there is no syndrome (universal) characteristic of malignant disease of the stomach."

Small Colombia Republic
Has Valuable Resources

The Republic of Colombia ranks fifth in size among Latin-American nations, and is the only country on the southern continent whose shores are washed by both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, says a study issued by the Columbia University Press. "Few areas on the earth's surface can boast a more bountiful natural endowment than Colombia," declares the author, Dr. Dwight C. Miner of the Columbia university department of history. "The gold and silver mines of Antioquia and Cauca rivalled those of Peru in the centuries of Spanish dominion and are by no means exhausted today. Platinum, copper, lead and coal are known to be plentiful. From the quarries of Muzo and Cosquez come the finest emeralds in the world. The forest yield dye woods, mahogany, medicinal plants, orchids and vegetable ivory. Soil and climate are well adapted to the growing of coffee, bananas, maize, cacao, cotton and sugar cane. A fairly recent estimate places the potential energy of the country's streams in the neighborhood of 4,000,000 horsepower."

No Duplicate Star

In sight of the eye of the world's largest telescope are masses of stars so numerous there appear to be hundreds of thousands of stars for every living person, without duplicating a single star for anyone.

This count is a small bit of an astounding final picture of the frontiers of the universe as seen by the 100-inch telescope at Mount Wilson, Calif.

Dr. Edwin Hubble, the Carnegie institution astronomer who made the report, did not count the stars per person.

He simply said that there are the equivalent of eight quadrillion stars in sight of the present telescope.

That means about two million stars per person, but not that many stars. For while the sun is an average star, many are larger. Allowing for them, still leaves an almost incredible excess of stars over the total human beings living.

This now visible part of the universe is a sphere, about 1,000 million light years across. Earth appears to lie about at the center. It lies in a collection of stars known as the Milky Way which floats like a swarm of bees in space.

Soil Chemistry Milestone

Modern soil chemistry and the principles of plant feeding were discovered by Justus von Liebig, of Giessen, Germany, in 1840. He pioneered the way for epochal advancements in farming methods. Before Liebig's day, the science of agronomy was still in the dark ages. The Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. On the basis of his discoveries, the modern fertilizer industry came into existence. The production of mixed fertilizer began in this country in 1890. Today American farmers use nearly 8,000,000 tons of fertilizer annually.

All Newton Music School
To Start New Season

During the last week of September, the All Newton Music School will hold registration for the fall term of its 30th season which will start on October first. Before the formal opening of the regular school sessions, special opportunity to register and arrange schedule is offered as follows: At the Peirce School, West Newton, on Tuesday, September 24, and at the Clafin School (Wooden Building) Newtonville, on Thursday, September 26, from 2 to 5 p. m. On these afternoons the Director and Staff of the school will be present to consult with and advise parents and students in all matters pertaining to music opportunity and education.

This school is a member of the National Guild of Community Music Schools, the Music Division of the Greater Boston Federation of Settlements and a charter member of the Newton Community Chest. Newton is fortunate in having a Community Music School which is well established and backed by long years of continuous service in Newton. It is noted for its high standards and achievements, and is recognized by leading music educators as one of the best of its kind in the country.

Many privileges are enjoyed by pupils of the Music School such as moderate rates for superior teaching, individual instruction by expert teachers, scholarships and advanced study for those who earn it, instruments loaned and individual coaching for public appearances.

Last season, a great many adults also took advantage of music opportunity offered by the school. In addition to several who studied in the instrumental and vocal departments, there was a capacity enrollment for the "Lenten Course" on "Understanding Music." This latter brought such enthusiastic support and comment that it is proposed to offer a continuation course in the spring of 1941. Many requests have come for a course in Theory and Harmony on the adult level and this will be provided in the school curriculum if a sufficient number of students enroll to warrant forming classes.

With the opening of the fall term on Tuesday, October 1, the All Newton Music School will again take up its special service of teaching music to the whole city of Newton—from every village come the students—a service that for nearly thirty years has influenced the very life of the whole community. The work is carried on for those who need a chance for creative work, for those who wish to store up a resource for the future, for those who need an outlet for suppressed longings. The All Newton Music School is a center of art and culture with a background of ideals.

Faithful Dog No Longer
Follows Waban Postman

Remember the "Mailman's dog?" The dignified airedale named "Sandy," who followed Postman Bill McKenny on his mail route for the past ten years? Never was there a dog who performed his self-appointed duty more faithfully.

Postman McKenny recalls sadly the little two-year-old dog, whom he found waiting beside his mail bag at the Waban P. O. one morning ten years ago. He stooped and patted him and told him he'd better go home (because time is such an important element to a mailman and there was little to spare if the mail delivery was to be on schedule). But it was no go. The young airedale refused and in spite of McKenny's protests, the little fellow followed closely at his heels in and out the circuitous routes which takes in the Dorset rd. horseshoe area and part of Beacon st.

The next day at approximately a quarter of eight, the dog was waiting at the P. O. and again accompanied McKenny on his route. Thus it was for ten years. Ten pleasant years. According to Bill McKenny, "Sandy" was a gentleman of dogdom. Never was he known to pick a fight and if another dog tried to keep Bill and him from performing their "sworn duty," he simply walked up to that dog and told him to mind his own business—and they did, without exception. If he saw a dog-fight, it was not unusual for him to cut between them and send the rowdies about their business.

He never missed reporting for work a single day and the rare occasions when "Bill" was absent, Sandy sniffed at the mail bag until he found the right one—and if another carrier took it he walked disdainfully out of the P. O. No one else could take Bill's place.

The Fiffields who owned "Sandy" offered to give him to the postman, but Bill could not afford to keep a big, hungry airedale so he still lodged with his owners.

Not long ago "Sandy" was struck by a car and was badly injured. But even that didn't stop him. He still followed with a leg done up in splints, even though he could no longer finish out the entire route.

Finally he couldn't even do that because he found that he had been internally injured. So they put "Sandy" out of his misery, and he leaves behind the freshly indelible thought that "a dog is truly man's best and faithful friend."

Progress

With the possible exception of kerosene, wax, and a few "proprietary standbys," not one of the hundreds of products marketed by the petroleum industry 20 years ago would be acceptable to today's purchasers, reports Industrial and Engineering Chemistry. Constant improvements have been made not only in automotive fuels and lubricants, but also in fuel oils, asphalt, insecticides, medicinal products, greases, and other substances.

Young Married Folks
Seek "Honeymoon" Homes

The long list of marriage intentions issued daily from the various bureaus of Vital Statistics will bring to many homes this Fall the problem of deciding what to give the young folks for a wedding present.

After the peal of the wedding bells has died away and the glamour of the wedding is but a happy memory, two inexperienced young people must face life's realities, and one of its first great problems is the selection of a home.

To carry his young bride over the threshold in his own home is a traditional rite which is more than a mere pretty ceremony, for it has a deep significance which appeals to the gallantry of the male and gives him a fine sense of pride at being able to bestow so precious a gift upon his bride. But, since Dan Cupid is no economist, he does not always select for the happy state of matrimony those financially capable of assuming its responsibilities.

Mr. Arnold Hartmann who planned Fox Meadow, the beautiful year-old subdivision of Oak Hill Village to meet the needs and budgets of young married folks, has had an excellent opportunity to study the problems of this group and has seen in many instances how poignant is the disappointment when because of the lack of a small initial payment, the newlyweds are forced to rent an apartment instead of realizing their hearts' desire to start right in with a home of their own.

Mr. Hartmann has this suggestion to make to parents whose children are contemplating matrimony this Fall. "Instead of the usual inconsequential wedding gifts, let the families and relatives pool the cost of such gifts to make the initial payment on a 'honeymoon home' which can be financed so that future payments may be made monthly in amounts equal to the rent of an apartment and well within the budget of the average young business man. Helping the young folks over this first matrimonial hurdle will establish them securely and build the foundation for a happy new family unit."

ous politicians, or have yielded to the philosophy of dependence on public relief rather than insistence on opportunities to make a decent living and be self-supporting.

As an example of the stupidity manifested by people in this country, of their lack of interest in civic affairs and their own welfare, one has but to observe the small percentage of our voters who participated in primary elections, when they know that at such primaries nominations for many public offices are equivalent to election. In Newton, for instance, only one-third of the voters went to the polls last Tuesday.

Class Meeting To Discuss Unemployment

While there is so much activity rightfully going on at top speed to carry out the National Defense Program there is another exceedingly important piece of work to be done by Americans, namely the stamping out of the "Sixth Column" at home.

What is the "Sixth Column?" It is the basic cause of all wars, it is UNEMPLOYMENT! And unless we, the people, get busy to remove this cause, the freedom of democracy of the United States is constantly in danger of being wiped out.

As a South African writer has ably stated:

"The present struggle, grave and awful as it is, is only a temporary phase. We have to endure it because we made no attempt to destroy the cause of Nazism and other forms of tyranny."

"Nazism is not a cause. It is an effect. It and its fellow tyrannies were conceived and born in poverty and unemployment and they derive their vigor from them. An English writer truly said recently: 'As the numbers of the unemployed (in Germany) soared so did the Nazi vote; so did the numbers of Roehm's storm troops.' The fear of want and insecurity gave Hitler his chance to organize his people for the course which led to the present war."

"This war will not destroy poverty. It will greatly aggravate it. When the war is over we shall, therefore, still have with us the great factor which produced Nazism, Fascism, Communism, and other forms of tyranny, and which has led us into two great wars in one generation. It follows then that, if we really wish to end tyranny and prevent any more wars in the future we shall have to end poverty. There is no other way. Peace and poverty cannot long live together."

Therefore victory in the present war will have no meaning if it does not end poverty and unemployment.

But there is a very definite and practical way to wipe out unemployment. The American way to tackle this problem is to first learn the fundamental cause of unemployment. The readers of the NEWTON GRAPHIC have an opportunity to secure a thorough understanding of the underlying cause of UNEMPLOYMENT—and what can be done about it—by attending the meetings to be held each Tuesday evening at the Newtonville Library here in Newtonville.

This adult study and discussion group is sponsored by the Henry George School of Social Science, a non-profit, non-sectarian, and non-political educational institution chartered by the University of the State of New York. The distinguished educator, John Dewey, president of Columbia University Teachers College, is the honorary president of this great educational movement to awaken the American people to the dangers of the "Sixth Column."

Extension classes are held in over 100 American cities and Newton has been selected to be favored with one of these classes.

The course is free and open to both men and women.

No higher education is necessary to thoroughly understand and enjoy this series of meetings. Every American should seize this opportunity for a personal investigation into what is wrong and how to bring order out of chaos in an American way and how to intelligently combat the insidious propaganda of the many "ism" groups. The school urges attendance at the first meeting on Tuesday evening, Oct. 1st, at the Newtonville Library for a decision from first hand information whether this discussion group is of interest to you. There is no obligation whatever incurred from your attendance.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT
BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

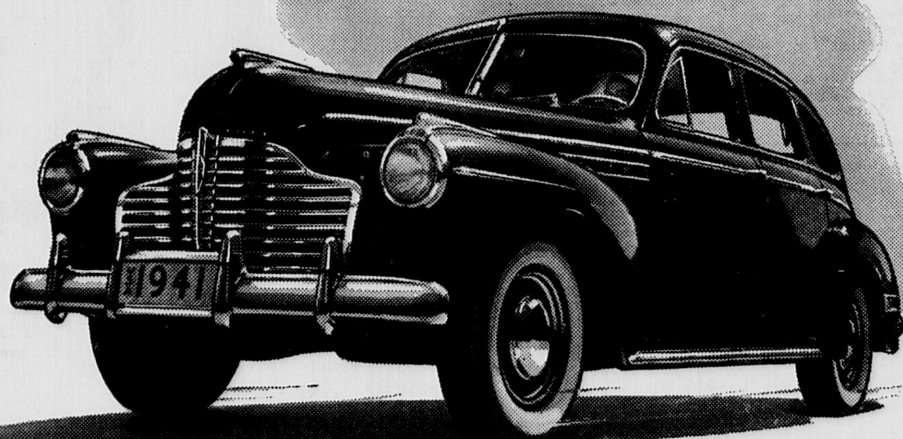

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrift you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL* Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage—power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal. All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly a half "on call" for emergency use.

*According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration—and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

Aldermen Reconsider Vote On Gas Station Permit at Newton Ctr.

Vote to Table Matter Until December 2 After Long and Sharp Discussion

By a vote of 14 to 6 the Board of Aldermen on Monday night reconsidered the granting of a permit for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Centre. The Board followed this action by voting 14 to 5 to lay the matter on the table until the December 2nd meeting after Alderman McKay had presented a plan to have the land in question purchased by popular subscription as a memorial to Rev. Samuel F. Smith, author of the famous anthem "America."

Aldermen McKay and Colby read prepared speeches favoring reconsideration. Alderman Colby, in moving to reconsider the vote of the September 7th meeting, which granted the permit for the filling station, said in part:

"This is the first time in my nearly six years of service on this Board that I have given notice of my intention to move reconsideration of a matter formally passed upon. I should like therefore to make the reason for my action clear.

"After resting for many months in committee dockets, one of two related matters was brought before the Board on a divided report of the Franchise and Licenses Committee—the petition for a gas station at Centre st. and Norwood ave. in Newton Centre. The other matter, the rezoning of certain adjacent land, being before another committee was not reported.

"In the argument on this matter it appeared that hearings had been held before both the Claims and Rules Committee and the Franchise and Licenses Committee. Not being a member of either committee, I had not the benefit of the full information, obtained at these hearings.

"It was admitted that the clearing up of the adjoining ice house properties was in the interest of the city, several of the Aldermen having stated that the arrangement for removal of this eyecore of years standing was the reason for their vote in favor of granting the license. On the other hand, the opposition described the situation as a 'deal' and maintained that the Board was setting a dangerous precedent in acting on a petition for reasons not germane to the petition itself. It was pointed out that the Board had on several occasions refused to grant licenses for a gas station on this locus and was doing so now solely because an extra consideration was being offered the city for so doing—in other words that the Board by favorable action would be accepting a consideration for doing in this case what it had refused to do in others.

"I understand that the petitioner, Elsie Tufts, is a strawholder for the Ice Company and that action on her part is in essence action by the Ice Company directors. I understand that she or the company for whom she is acting have agreed to expend a considerable sum in clearing up adjoining land, and have agreed to have their land rezoned—a petition for which has been filed and is now pending—all of which is contingent upon the granting of the gas station license.

"It was obvious that several felt that the petition for rezoning had been held until action on the license petition had been taken and that the action to be taken later on that would depend on whether the license was granted or not. In other words that the Board if it granted the license and later passed the 'rezoning' would be making itself a party to the deal and accepting for the city the consideration offered for granting the license.

"Since the last meeting I have had a conversation with Mr. Metcalf Melcher of Newton Centre, a gentleman who has been active for many years in attempting to find some solution for the improvement of this vicinity.

"He informed me that when the proposed station license first came to his attention he consulted with many of the residents of this section of the city and found that they were not inclined to oppose the issuance of the license. It would seem that this attitude was affected by the following:

(1) The proposed station was of attractive design.

(2) The community had come to the conclusion after years of study that a gas station was the only improvement for this property that had any chance of being accomplished.

"The community felt, however, that if the gas station was going in steps should be taken at the same time to clear up the ice company's property by removing the debris and rezoning the land.

"Negotiations were therefore conducted resulting in the agreement that the ice company to raze the old stable, clean up the land and have it rezoned—the petition for which was later filed.

"It would seem from these facts that in the beginning the petition for a gas station stood on its own feet but that later the petitioners and those who live or own land in the neighborhood made an agreement between themselves which would result in clearing up the eyecore that has existed for many years.

"If the facts of this agreement and its terms had not been brought to the attention of the Board we would have had no trouble in passing on the petition. The fact that it was and that the benefits to be gained for the city, by reason of the carrying out of the agreement—have seemed to be the reason why several members of the Board voted in favor of the petition, raise an issue which cannot be overlooked.

"The fact that the proposed station may be more attractive in appearance than those on previous petitions, the fact that there are now a large majority of the residents of the neighborhood who are in favor of it, where the large majority heretofore opposed the petition, the fact that earnest attempts to develop this land otherwise through a long series of years have failed, may constitute new arguments for granting the petition.

"But to vote for this petition because of advantages to the community (Continued on Page 6)

Truck Hit Stores Driver Fined $25

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Mayberry fined Michael Klimowicz of Plainfield, N. J., $25 for driving a truck so as to endanger the safety of the public. Klimowicz was the driver of a 10-ton truck which early on the morning of August 30 knocked over the traffic signal at the intersection of the turnpike and Langley rd., Newton Centre. The big truck then went across the sidewalk, and crashed into the front of two stores, causing damage to a couple of thousand dollars or more. Police who went to the scene of the crash testified that Klimowicz had told them he must have fallen asleep, and admitted having drunk two glasses of beer with a meal a couple of hours before.

Protest Against Gas Station Has 257 Signatures

A petition signed by 257 residents of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands has been presented to Mayor Goddard and the Board of Aldermen protesting against the granting of a permit for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., near Crystal Lake. The petition reads—

"We, the undersigned, residents of Wards 5 and 6 of the City of Newton, respectfully urge you to reconsider and vote against granting to Elsie Tufts a permit for the installation of a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Centre, near the shores of Crystal Lake.

"Four previous petitions for a filling station on this site have been rejected by the Board of Aldermen on the principal ground that the safety of the public, particularly school children, would be endangered by a filling station at the proposed location. If the Aldermen were right in rejecting the previous petitions, they cannot be right in granting the present petition. The location still is an unusually dangerous site for a filling station.

"The present petition should be considered solely on its merits as a petition for a filling station. It should not be considered in connection with civic planning. Were there no question of planning involved, this petition would, as it should, be rejected as were the other four.

"There can be no compromise with the lives and safety of our children."

Three New School Teachers Elected

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night the appointment of C. Elwood Drake as assistant principal of Newton High School was confirmed. He had been director of the research and guidance department of the Newton schools for several years.

Leaves of absence for the coming school year were granted Wheeler Merriam of the Day junior high school and Madeline Powell of the Hyde School.

Another summer season of daylight saving ends at 2 a. m. Sunday morning. All persons, except a few whose minds are preoccupied with other things, will stop watches and clocks for an hour before retiring so that they will be on correct time when waking Sunday morning. A last reminder—stop your clocks an hour Sunday morning.

Girl Drove Car, Hit Pole, Escort Fined $25

Samuel Mardochio of 61 Bridge st., Nonantum, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday on a charge of driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. At 1:40 a. m. on September 5 an automobile operated by Miss Simone Gagnon of 650 Centre st., Newton hit a pole at Sargent and Centre sts., Newton. Patrolman Conannon testified that when he reached the scene of the accident, Mardochio claimed he had been driving the car when the crash occurred, but blood on the right side of the front seat from wounds received by Mardochio showed the policeman that the driver could not have been driving the car. According to the police the Gagnon girl admitted that she was driving the car under Mardochio's instruction, and she had stated her escort had fallen asleep. Mardochio testified that he had fallen asleep, but had awakened before the crash occurred and had warned the Gagnon girl to drive more slowly.

Elect Fernald To School Committee

A joint convention of the Newton School Committee and the Board of Aldermen on Monday night elected Stanburgen Fernald of 25 Kenmore st., Newton Centre, as member of the School Committee from Ward 6 to succeed Clark Bristol who resigned recently when business compelled him to move to Hartford. Mr. Bristol's term would not expire until January 1, 1942.

Mr. Fernald was born in Springfield 40 years ago, and is the son of a former editor of the Springfield Republican. He graduated from Wesleyan University in 1922 and then at Harvard School of Business Administration. For several years he was a reporter on the Springfield Republican and in 1927 he became associated with the firm of Smith, Barney & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange. He has resided in this city for 12 years.

Mr. Fernald is a trustee of Kent Hill (Maine) Academy and has been active in the Newton Community Chest and the Boston Community Fund. He has one daughter who is a pupil in a Newton public school. His name was the only one submitted to the convention.

Elderly Woman Struck By Auto

An automobile driven by Elmer Tinkham, 30, of 25 Worcester st., Upper Falls, hit Mrs. Kate Steele, 65, as she was crossing Centre st. at Church st., Newton, about 5:50 Wednesday evening. Mrs. Steele was knocked under the rear of the car, which had to be lifted off her by persons who were near. She was taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and was found to have received a compound fracture of the left leg and a severe head injury. Her name was placed on the danger list. She had been employed as a cook at Hotel Hollis.

Tinkham reported to the police that he noticed the woman as she walked in front of his car, carrying an umbrella. He said he swerved his car to the left to avoid hitting her, but the automobile skidded to the right, and the right front headlight hit Mrs. Steele.

Alderman McKay Presents Plan To Solve Problem Which Bothers South Side

In conjunction with the discussion at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night on the matter of granting a permit for a filling station at 1365 Centre st., near Crystal Lake, Alderman Donald McKay presented a plan to have the former ice house property adjoining the lake converted into a memorial park in honor of Rev. S. F. Smith, author of the national hymn "America." Mr. McKay's remarks were as follows:

Now gentlemen I have given my views why the gasoline permit should be denied. In addition there are the voluminous reasons presented at four previous hearings against the gasoline station per se, resulting in unanimous denials. Since the compelling motive in the minds of some why it should be granted is not the merit of the petition itself, but the cleaning-up of the acre of land opposite, I wish to present a plan which will accomplish this most desirable result, and forestall the rumored intention of a well-known restaurant chain to obtain a victualer's permit here, although I doubt that the License Board would grant it.

I propose that this land be acquired, and when graded and landscaped in an attractive way, it be dedicated as a memorial park to Samuel Francis Smith, the author of "America." He composed the hymn in 1832 while a student in Andover Theological Seminary—now combined on Institution Hill with the Newton Theological Seminary. Independently several groups and individuals have been thinking along somewhat similar lines, and I believe they will unite in a consolidated program pleasing to all. One plan has been to purchase the land and establish a Sea Scout base on Crystal Lake under the auspices of the Boy Scouts. It now remains for the Metropolitan Ice Company to name a sales price within the reach of our interested citizens.

The directors of one Improvement Association have already indicated willingness to contribute from their treasury. Officers of two other Improvement Associations have expressed their desire to canvass their respective territories for contributions. And certain influential members of a national patriotic organization have expressed their interest and approval of memorializing Samuel Francis Smith in this manner. It is quite probable this organization will contribute toward the purchase. School children in Newton and throughout the land may wish to donate pennies, dimes and quarters. Almost everyone knows that Dr. Smith lived on Centre st. not far from Crystal Lake, and was pastor of the Baptist Church for twelve years. Two descendants now live in the house. A suitably inscribed tablet identifies the site. It is fitting that such recognition has already been given, but it is far more fitting that a large and permanent tribute be dedicated to him.

To refresh your memory I quote a number of excerpts from the "History of Newton," by Henry K. Rowe. References to Dr. Smith occur frequently throughout the book.

"Page 135—In the autumn of 1841 the Baptist Church unanimously invited Reverend Samuel Francis Smith to become its minister. He was to become nationally famous as the author of 'America,' which he had written about a dozen years earlier. He came from Waterville, Maine, to be minister in Newton Centre and to edit the 'Christian Review' in Boston. These two tasks he continued for twelve years, when he resigned the church to give himself wholly to religious writing. Dr. Smith was beloved for his friendliness, and he welcomed about a hundred persons into church membership. He continued to reside in Newton Centre for many years.

"Page 166—Newton Centre was the most important village on the south side, with a population of 2,180. It possessed the old First Church of the Congregationalists and the old cemetery, the First Baptist Church and the Newton Theological Institution. There lived Reverend S. F. Smith, D.D., and there were the Common and Crystal Lake. Newton Highlands was on the eve of a rapid advance but only 315 people belonged there.

"Page 170 — Eleven years later when the Civil War was fresh in the minds of the citizens, the town voted to appoint a committee of five to arrange for the writing of a history to continue the story of Jackson (Francis Jackson had written an earlier history of Newton) and especially to commemorate the lives of those who had taken part in the war. Reverend S. F. Smith of Newton Centre was secured to write the story. Publication was long delayed, but in 1880 a volume of 850 pages came from the press. The author had searched diligently for his facts, and had included a variety of information in his pages, especially with reference to the wars in which Newton people had been engaged and to the churches of the community.

"Ten years later Dr. Smith and a number of other citizens made still another contribution, to the written history of Newton by writing chapters for the 'History of Middlesex County, Massachusetts,' compiled under the supervision of D. Hamilton Hurd.

"Page 214—In 1898 Ezra C. Dudley presented to the church a chime of bells as a memorial to Dr. S. F. Smith. These were hung in the church tower and rung on Sundays and holidays.

"Page 265—(Regarding the bicentennial in 1885 of the separation of Newton from Cambridge) . . . James F. C. Hyde, who was the main reliance of the town as its historian at all such occasions, delivered the historical address, rehearsing the salient subjects of interest in the past two hundred years.

"The day was also the occasion of another of the anniversary poems of Dr. S. F. Smith, who shared with J. F. C. Hyde the honor of being considered indispensable to historic celebrations.

"Pages 294-295—Dr. and Mrs. Smith had observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary in 1894. When S. F. Smith had rounded out more than eighty-six years of age, it seemed to his friends that a public testimonial was due him for his contribution to the patriotic literature of America. . . . The movement received the hearty approval of Governor Greenhalge and other state leaders. Harvard College was interested because Smith was an (Continued on Page 12)

No Report Yet on Smith Memorial

The following statement has come from Alderman Donald McKay relative to the proposed memorial to Rev. S. F. Smith at Newton Centre.

Many requests are being made for information on the progress of the movement to establish a memorial to Rev. S. F. Smith, author of "America," but Alderman Donald McKay states—"I can only say what the answer on 'The Pot of Gold' program so frequently says in those moments of suspense—'Nothing to report yet.' A committee is in process of being formed. One of its first tasks will be to secure a satisfactory option price from the owners of the land. Since here is a real possibility for the owners to dispose of this property—a thing they have been trying to do for years—I believe they will be reasonable and co-operative. It is a wonderful opportunity for them to create good will. Some of us may yet find ourselves in the position of praising their generosity, if their patriotism moves them to share in this worthy cause."

More Children In Kindergartens

Attendance of children at kindergartens in Newton public schools this year is 36 per cent more than it was last year, jumping from 553 to 753. This necessitates five additional kindergarten sessions, and the extra work placed on five kindergarten teachers causes them to have an increase of $300 each in their salaries. Those teaching the extra sessions are—Henrietta Brebbia, Angier School; Josephine Driscoll, Franklin School; Mary Cox, Underwood School; Helen Koehn, Ward School, and Louise Santuoso, Emerson School.

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night C. Raymond Cabot, a member of the committee and also a trustee of the Peabody Home for Crippled Children at Oak Hill, submitted a request from the trustees of the home for a conference with the School Committee relative to supplying educational facilities at that institution, which desires to tie in with the Newton school program. In 1937 a like request was received from the Peabody Home. An investigation showed that only two of the children at the home had parents residing in Newton. At that time Supt. of Schools Warren obtained the services of two teachers under a WPA grant and had the Newton School Department supervise their work at the home. The trustees of the home desire the city to assume the responsibility of educating the children there.

SHOULD THEY PAY TUITION?

The Newton school committee has under consideration the problem of whether or not English refugee children living in Newton and attending public schools here should pay tuition. The city solicitor has ruled that legally they cannot be required to pay tuition under present regulations because they were not attending Newton schools for the avowed purpose of obtaining their education in our schools. These children have been brought into Newton to be given a home, free from the tragedies and misfortunes of their homeland. There is no certainty that they will ever again be reunited with their parents or others of their family. They may well become permanently "adopted" by their foster parents and not, as now assumed, "temporarily" adopted for the duration of the war.

From the opposite standpoint it can be assumed that those who are in the fortunate position of being able to offer these homeless children refuge are also in a position to assume the costs of providing education as well as food, clothing and shelter. Many of these persons are doing this at some sacrifice to themselves; they are doing it out of the goodness of their hearts. It seems little enough for the community as a whole to contribute the few pennies of additional cost per each thousand of assessed valuation, when those who are assuming the duties of foster parents are opening their doors in the cause of humanity.

A FITTING MEMORIAL

The controversy over the change of zone of land near Crystal Lake to permit the erection of a filling station is now definitely tabled until early December by the action of the Board of Aldermen last Monday night. During the discussion of the petition before the city fathers, which at times has become more or less heated, a possible solution has been mentioned which should receive hearty co-operation.

We refer to the suggestion that the land be acquired by public subscription, improved as a park and presented to the city as a memorial to the late Dr. Samuel Francis Smith, author of "America" and a long-time resident of Newton Centre. At the present time the only memorial to one of Newton's most distinguished citizens is a tablet erected in front of his former residence on Centre st. His contribution to American history is worthy of a permanent memorial, such as might easily be created by a park on the shores of Crystal Lake.

Not only should such a memorial be supported by Newton residents, but it has national significance similar to that of the rebuilding of the U. S. S. Constitution some years ago. The efforts of Alderman Donald D. McKay to establish a committee to start this project and carry it through to a successful conclusion should meet with hearty and patriotic support.

Powers' Paragraphs

We are informed in the press today (Thursday) that the President has declared an embargo on steel and iron, excepting to Britain and South American countries, and that this embargo is aimed at Japan. Many months ago information was given out that an embargo had been declared at war materials and that this embargo was especially directed at Japan. At that time the writer supposed that embargo included iron and steel, but lately we learned that it included only aviation gasoline. We repeat again that since Japan started its war of conquest against China a few years ago this aggression of the Nipponese against the Chinese Republic was made possible mostly through the war materials supplied to Japan by those two countries which allegedly are the leading exponents of democracy, liberty and self-determination, and the alleged leading opponents of militarism and conquest by armed might—the U. S. A. and Britain. During the past year over 90 per cent of the iron and steel, in addition to other war materials, imported by Japan, came from this country.

Notwithstanding Japan's definite aims to conquer China and obtain control of the Far East and the many island groups of the Pacific, notwithstanding its success in its war against the Chinese, notwithstanding the immense co-operation between the Japs, the Nazis and the Fascists in becoming dominant in the Orient (outside of Russia's territories), Britain and the U. S. A. continued to supply Japan with war materials, while the former nation worries over the probable loss of its Asiatic possessions, and the U. S. A. appropriated billions of dollars to build a two-ocean navy, and otherwise prepare itself for defence against Japanese aggression. We doubt if there has been any greater example of stupidity and cupidity in history than that manifested by the U. S. A. and Britain in building up the military might of Nippon the past several years.

The truth of the old adage—"The cobbler should stick to his last" seems to be evidenced in the recent effusion of Albert Einstein relative to the uselessness, or harmfulness of religion. Mr. Einstein may be the outstanding mathematician of the world, and his theory of relativity may be correct, although we doubt if more than a few men, other than Einstein, comprehend clearly just what this theory really is. But, Mr. Einstein had to flee his native land, and so have millions of his race the past several years because the leaders of the Nazi organization adopted a somewhat similar belief as he entertains regarding religion.

President Conant of Harvard is quite assertive in his contention that the U. S. A. can do worse than enter into war with the totalitarian nations. We don't doubt Prof. Conant's sincerity, but we do doubt that if this country does enter into the war, that the Harvard president will volunteer to go to the front, or enlist in an infantry regiment.

Only a few weeks ago the figures given out by the Gallup Poll showed that over 90 per cent of the people of the U. S. A. were opposed to this country becoming engaged in war. Now the figures published by this statistical organization allegedly show that a majority of the people of the U. S. A. are becoming less averse to war. We believe that too much weight should not be given to the alleged accuracy of figures given out by Gallup or any other statistician and his aids. The "Literary Digest" used to be taken quite seriously in its straw ballots until the presidential election of 1936. There is only one accurate and legal way to ascertain the real sentiment, the actual desires of the people of the U. S. A., and that is by a national vote. Statistical organizations allegedly showing popular opinion, could easily be used for propaganda purposes.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin, who does not drive an automobile, is again disseminating advice at public expense to Massachusetts owners and operators of motor vehicles not to drive over 45 miles an hour at night, or on wet or slippery streets. With more and more cities and towns in this State reducing speed limits to 30 miles an hour and less, even under safe driving conditions and during daylight hours, with the State law specifying 30 miles as a legal limit, and with judges imposing fines on motorists for driving faster than 40 miles an hour, why does Governor Saltonstall or the Commissioner of Public Safety allow Mr. Goodwin to continue to make himself ridiculous, and interfere with the efforts to reduce automobile fatalities and accidents which have been meeting with success in Massachusetts the past year and more?

An interesting question has been raised relative to the attendance in Newton public schools of refugee children. Eleven such children are now enrolled in Newton schools. It has been the practice to charge tuition for children who have attended Newton public schools when their parents did not reside in this city, and when it was known that they came here expressly to obtain an education. Tuition has not been charged for children who came to Newton to reside with relatives or friends when they were given a home by those with whom they resided in Newton, and provided such children's parents or guardians were not able to pay tuition for them.

It has been repeatedly asserted in newspapers and elsewhere, that most of the refugee children, who have come to this country in recent months from Britain, are those of parents in prosperous or wealthy circumstances, and that the children of poor families had to stay overseas and face the horrors of ruthless bombing. Even though the children here may be those of families in prosperous circumstances, the argument is offered that their parents cannot (even though they were willing) send funds from Britain now to pay for their tuition. It is also contended that Newton residents who are supporting these refugee children are manifesting sufficient generosity without being asked to go to further expense by paying the school tuition or daily charges for children whose homes are in Newton.

City Solicitor Bartlett informed Supt. of Schools Warren, when asked for a ruling on the status of these refugee children, that tuition will not have to be paid for them. From inquiries made to the School Department during recent months, it was expected that at least 50 refugee children would be enrolled in Newton public schools this year, but only 11 have come so far. It is thought that the sinking of ships carrying such children may deter many more being sent. Of the 11 now in Newton schools, one is attending high school, four junior high schools, and six elementary grades. The cost of tuition in Newton schools averages $70 per school year in elementary grades, $135 in junior high grades, and $150 in the high school.

Speeders Fined In Newton Court

Clinton Tylee, Jr., 26, of 53 Bigelow rd., West Newton was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday for speeding. It was Tylee's second conviction within a year. In court the same day Theodore Walker of Potomac st., West Roxbury was fined $5 for speeding. Foreman Turner testified that a large gravel truck driven by Walker came around a curve on Brookline st., Oak Hill at a speed of 40 miles, nearly hit a police car, and did hit a tree. A city ordinance forbids heavy trucking along Brookline st., but the charge against Walker of ignoring this ordinance at an early morning hour was placed on file by Judge Mayberry.

For not stopping their automobiles before entering a through way, fines of $5 were imposed on John Cavannah, 15 Bonwood st., Newtonville; Aris Margosian, Watertown; and Harry Wood of Medford. Similar charges were filed in the cases of John Hargreaves, 14 Cabot st., Newtonville; Herman Hunter, 22 Washington ter., Newtonville. A charge against Leon Avakian of 10 Bennington st., Newton of driving his car along the wrong side of a highway (to the left of center) was placed on file.

In the Newton court last Friday Ivar Carlson of Baker st., West Roxbury, was fined $25 for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. Dominic Pasterio of Worcester was fined $20 for speeding. Traffic Officer O'Donnell testified that he signalled the defendant to drive more slowly at Thompsonville, but Pasterio only drove faster. O'Donnell had to chase him four miles into Wellesley before he caught him. On complaints of Traffic Officer Cummings, Roger Long of Framingham was fined $15 for speeding, and Philip Preston of Arlington, Harold Rideout of Norwood and Maurice Young of Brighton $5 each.

Farley Wishes Eliot A Victory

Thomas H. Eliot, who won the Democratic nomination for Congressman from the 9th District at the recent primary election received the following congratulatory letter from former Postmaster General Farley:

Mr. Thomas H. Eliot,
10 Shady Hill Sq.,
Cambridge, Mass.

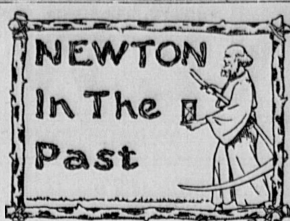

Dear Tom:
I was delighted when I heard of your success in the primary and hasten to extend to you my very best wishes for your success in the November election. You made an excellent race two years ago, and it is my sincere wish that you are successful this fall.

Sincerely yours, "JIM."

CLINTON—BONNEY

Miss Barbara Bonney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Bonney of Glen Ridge, New Jersey, was married to Robert Long Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Clinton of 398 Linwood ave., Newtonville, at a four o'clock ceremony performed at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday afternoon, September 21st. Rev. John James Kirkpatrick, rector of Christ Episcopal Church at Glen Ridge, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Emily Dallin Bonney, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Daniel Needham, Jr. of West Newton, was the best man. On their return from a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton will make their home in Belmont. The bride was graduated from Simmons College this year. The groom was graduated from Boston University College of Business Administration where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

55 YEARS AGO

The house of H. H. Hanson on Washington st., Newton, was broken into on September 4 and an axe stolen. Some little damage was done.

Dwight L. Moody of Northfield will hold gospel meetings in Newton on Thursday and Friday, October 1 and 2. It is hoped that all who feel interested in the spiritual welfare of themselves or their friends, will lend a helping hand in the work. All denominations are invited to participate. The services will be held in Elliot Church.

To Editor of Graphic:

Imposition by our city officials is an outrage which ought not to be submitted to. When the sidewalks were constructed it was with an agreement that the city would keep them in repair. Not wishing to abide with this agreement, and seeing the necessity of certain walks needing repairs, petitions were circulated asking abutters to pay half the cost; in some cases the amount was specified which the abutters must pay. What is the outcome of it? In some instances bills have come in amounting to 50 per cent more than had been agreed upon in writing. This would be a mean, contemptible thing for men in private business to do. Why is it less so for the rich city of Newton?

CITIZEN.

Newtonville, Sept. 4, 1885.

Editor of Graphic:

I would like to know why the people of Ward 1 and part of Ward 2 should not have a place to go in bathing, and one to wash themselves? It is a shame that Newton with all its good things should be behind the times. Places such as Waltham, Watertown and dozens of others near Newton have provided such places. You have published several cases of boys being brought into court for bathing in the Charles River.

J. H. S.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday afternoon an order relative to the appointment of a city architect was not adopted, having been reported as inexpedient.

A communication was received from the School Department relative to the placing of telephones in the schools. The committee on public property reported that the School Committee should make their own arrangements for telephones if needed, and pay for them out of the appropriation for schools.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Sept. 12, 1890

As the attendants at Grace Episcopal Church return from their vacations they are both surprised and pleased at the great improvement made by the boys' choir during the summer months under the skilful teaching of the choirmaster Mr. H. B. Day. The singers have gained confidence, and the chorus singing is not only fuller and richer, but excellent soloists have been developed.

New York does not seem to be the only city which has insufficient school room. Some parents are complaining that their children cannot be promoted at the Bigelow School for lack of room. The school seems to show a lack of teachers and recitation rooms. One woman writes—"Double promotions are not good, as the child does not have time to become acquainted with a teacher before a change is made."

A correspondent sends in the following: "Why is it that Newton at this season of corn and melons send around more men and teams to remove the house garbage? The first of this week the garbage man could not take all, his cart was too full. The last of the week he did not appear at all—only once this week have the receptacles been emptied, and things are in an awful condition."

The centre of building operations in this part of the city seems to be on Bellevue st., where Henry E. Cobb's handsome, new residence is about completed. Edward Sawyer has started the cellar for a new house, Fred Stone's and Fred Weatherbee's new residences are fast assuming shape, and Lewis Coffin has finished a very pretty house, which will be offered for sale.

The fourth great sale of house lots at Waban will take place this week, Saturday, if the weather will permit. It promises to be another success. Messrs. Hyde have done their best to bring it to the attention of the public, advertising it in 8 newspapers, printing and distributing 66,000 flyers, besides 300 posters. No by-bidding is allowed on these sales, and every lot on which a bid is taken, is sold to the highest bidder.

A certain Austin st. dog it is claimed, is a terror to pedestrians. It is suggested that the animal had better be locked up.

Mrs. M. E. Campbell and Miss A. G. Cunningham of Upper Falls were driving up Washington st., Newtonville on Monday when their horse became frightened by an electric car. The car was stopped and a man caught the horse, but it continued to back and the buggy tipped over, throwing both ladies out. One of them was severely hurt. They were taken into Mr. Henderson's house.

Politicallight

By THE EDITOR

This week-end the political pot will begin to really boil after settling down for a brief space of time after the September primaries of ten days ago. Real activity will begin with the annual Convention Eve dinner of the Republican party at the Hotel Bradford this evening. The entire state ticket nominated at the primaries will be headed by Governor Leverett Saltonstall and Lieut. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, will be present. Secretary of State Frederic Cook, State Treasurer William Hurley, State Auditor Russell Wood and Attorney General nominee Robert T. Bushnell comprise the rest of the State ticket. Numerous other nominees for various offices will also be present as will many of the defeated Republican candidates who, in the interests of harmony have offered their support to the successful nominees.

The demand for tickets to the dinner has been large and the G. O. P. will get off to an enthusiastic start. The convention tomorrow in Boston will establish the party platform. The Democratic party will hold its convention tomorrow at Springfield and will then swing eastward to meet the G. O. P. in a six weeks' battle.

An interesting aspect to the campaign which will take into consideration the national aspects of the presidential contest will be the appearance in Boston on Oct. 9th or 10th of Wendell Willkie, Republican nominee.

The nomination of Attorney General Paul A. Dever as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate forecasts a closely contested state campaign. There is little doubt that Dever is the strongest candidate which his party could have nominated. Throughout his state-wide career of six years as Attorney General he has thrice been the recipient of many votes from that group usually regarded as independent voters. He has frequently run ahead of all other Democratic state-wide candidates and his opponent has usually run behind the remainder of the G. O. P. ticket.

Governor Leverett Saltonstall, however, has given the state the best administration in the past ten years. This fact cannot be discounted and it is a strong asset in the Republican campaign. Under Governors Ely, Curley and Hurley the voters became more concerned and more disgusted with the trend of government in Massachusetts. They elected Saltonstall with a clear mandate to clean house and restore efficiency to the many state departments which had been undermined by appointments based upon political patronage and not on ability.

Much has been accomplished. Much more can be accomplished. What has been done is reflected in many ways in the local tax rates of the 351 cities and towns of the state. Two thirds of these were able to set lower tax rates in 1940 than in 1939 because of the lesser charges imposed upon them by the state. In every instance where the tax rate has been increased it is largely due to heavier welfare burdens. The only answer to the diminution of welfare costs is in the re-employment of workers in industry. Industry cannot go ahead when tax burdens are heavy and there is no confidence in the future. And it takes time, planning and extensive co-operation to bring new industries into the state and stop the flow of manufacturers moving out of the state because of governmental assessments. And yet analyses of the New England Council reports show that this trend has been practically halted—that fewer industries are moving away—and newer manufacturing plants are being established.

Politically speaking, however, the public seems little interested in fundamental causes of high taxes and unemployment. On the other hand they listen enthusiastically to promises of prosperity—and they vote emotionally on the basis of political patronage.

The new Catholic society at Newton Centre is very active now raising funds for the erection of a church on the recently purchased site. Hon. Earl Wade heads the list of contributors with $100. The church will be built early in the spring.

The "black ghost," so-called, has again made its appearance in Nonantum, frightening three girls on Dalby st., so that one of them fainted. A policeman's club would be a fine thing for that ghost.

To Speak on Chinese Gardens at Newton Centre

At the women's meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 1, in the Newton Centre Congregational Church, the speaker will be Miss Grace M. Boynton, sister of Dr. M. R. Boynton, whose subject will be "Chinese Gardens," with illustrations, and other aspects of Chinese life, of which she has an unusual fund of knowledge.

Miss Boynton, who has been in China about 20 years, is Professor of English at Yenching University in Peiping and has just returned to this country on furlough. She is a graduate of Wellesley and has done graduate work at Radcliffe and the University of Michigan. Before going to China she taught in Constantinople and at Milwaukee-Downer Seminary.

Newtonville Garden Attracts Local Attention

The suggestion has been made that Newtonville residents, if they knew the facts, would be much interested in the work which the Newtonville Garden Club has been doing for their benefit.

Six or seven years ago the president of the Newtonville Garden Club heard reports of the civic activities of other clubs and felt strongly that her club should be at work at something of the same sort.

Various possible projects were considered, but in a city like ours, where the city government does so much to justify the name of "Garden City," it was difficult to find a project which a group of women could undertake.

However, when the Newtonville Improvement Association began planning for a branch library, the club felt it would like to have a small area set aside to be developed as its civic project. This was promised, and the club at once began financial calculations toward the development of this area as a garden. The small profits realized each year by the club from the sale of tickets to the Spring Flower Show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society were set aside for this project.

After the library was built, an energetic and capable committee of five, was appointed by the club to plan the planting of the garden. They consulted a landscape architect as to the design of the garden and the desirable shrubs for the border. In order to purchase as many as possible of the shrubs called for in the plan, it was necessary, because the funds were limited, to buy small-sized specimens, but these will gain in effectiveness as time moves on.

More than five hundred spring flowering bulbs were planted, some of which were donated by local florists or individual club members. Almost all the perennial plants were surplus stock from the gardens of the members of the club, while most of the annuals were raised from seed by club members.

It would surprise many to learn what intelligent and discriminating effort has been made to have the bloom constant and harmonious. Flowering seasons have been carefully calculated.

The shrubs were planted by the nursery from which they were purchased, and help was hired to edge and spade the beds. All the rest of the work in the garden, and it has been more than considerable, has been done by club members—planting, labeling, weeding, cutting and pruning. And in addition, the workers have supplied the library with one or more bouquets during each week of the summer.

Visitors who care to look at the results before frost comes, as shown in the garden at the rear of the library, will be amply repaid. They will be interested, also, to hear of views "before and after" which have been taken.

To paraphrase the advice radio advertisers give so constantly:

Do not delay! See our garden today!

Automobile Accidents

Wallace Allen, 22, of 858 Watertown st., West Newton, received a bad injury when the car in which he was riding collided with another car at the blind intersection at Margin and Putnam sts., West Newton, on Tuesday afternoon. The car in which Allen was a passenger was driven by William House, Jr., of Wyoming rd., Newtonville. House reported that the other car, hauling a trailer, did not stop before entering Margin st. from the Putnam st. bridge. The other car was driven by Anthony Covino of East Boston.

Sunbeam Chats

Jimmy was playing with me one afternoon and he said "Let's run away—" "Why," said I. "Oh, 'cause I hate to go home for supper—I get so sick of cereal every night." I asked why he had to eat cereal every night and it seems his mother thinks it's good for him. "I tell you what I'll do," I said, "I'll have my mother go over and tell your mother what the Nutritionist said at Well Baby Conference. She said to give me variety for supper. Now I have all kinds of good things, like cream soups, vegetables and potato, egg, cream toast, even sandwiches. Those things are better for you than cereal every night."

Well to make a long story short, I told mother and what do you know? Jimmy's mother takes him to Well Baby Conference now, and we both get such good suppers he's always glad to go home.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled

Christian Science: The Science of True Progress

by

Thomas E. Hurley, C.S.B., of Louisville, Kentucky

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

On Friday evening, September 20th, a lecture on Christian Science was given in the Church Edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton.

Mrs. Mary D. McKee, Second Reader, introduced the lecturer and spoke as follows:

Dear Friends:

We are told in the Bible that if we love God with all the heart, with all the understanding, with all the soul, and with all the strength, we are obeying the First Commandment.

Then follows the all-important question, uppermost in the minds of so many people at this time—What is God? Only last month, a relative from the Middle West, while visiting at our home, said to us very humbly: "Will you tell me what God means to you? I just don't know how to think about him."

Mary Baker Eddy, our beloved Leader, says: "What we love determines what we are" (Miscellany 270-24), and she also says: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God" (Science and Health 239:16).

We were very happy one Sunday morning recently when our daughter, returning from Sunday School, said: "We had the loveliest time in our class this morning. Our teacher talked with us all the time about God." It recalled to me a remark made some years ago by a friend, who said that while she did not attend our church she would like for her children to go to our Sunday School because she knew that there they would be taught about God.

We all need to pray for a clearer understanding of God, and we have the comfort of the Biblical promise that "if we draw nigh to God, he will draw nigh to us." I am very sure that every person who attends a Christian Science lecture can go away with an increased understanding of Him, whom to know aright is life eternal.

May I call to your attention the free Christian Science literature which will be given out by the ushers at the close of the lecture.

The lecture this evening will be delivered by Thomas E. Hurley, of Louisville, Ky., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of his lecture is: "Christian Science: The Science of True Progress." Mr. Hurley.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

In the fourteenth chapter of Exodus there is an account of a nation in extreme distress. A nation seeking freedom to worship God and freedom from economic servitude—freedom from the Egypt of material limitation and bondage—found itself in a seemingly hopeless position. Pharaoh had decided that the children of Israel should not be allowed their freedom, and he was closely pursuing them with a great army. Before them the Red Sea blocked their escape, and indeed their appeared to be a lost cause. But in the face of these apparently overwhelming material obstacles and the threatened reversal of all their good hopes and aspirations, a way out was provided. Since the predicament of the Israelites is similar in many respects to that of many individuals and nations today, it may be well worth our while to consider how they met and triumphed over this seemingly hopeless situation.

Progress a Divine Demand

It is recorded that the children of Israel became greatly frightened as Pharaoh and the Egyptians drew near, and they immediately started to blame Moses for their seeming predicament, and for endeavoring to lead them to freedom, claiming they would have been better off to have remained in slavery.

However, Moses had been working things out with God. He had seen the power of God demonstrated beyond question and he had attained in some measure an understanding of the supremacy of God, Spirit. So he met this outcry by turning the thought of the people to God. "Fear ye not," he said, "stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord, which he will show to you; for the Egyptians whom ye have seen to day, ye shall see them again no more for ever. The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace."

This exhortation, admirable as it was, expressed more of a blind trust than an active faith in or understanding of the power of God to guide and protect, and so it did not fully meet the need. But as a result of taking this radical stand, Moses received another unfoldment which further spiritualized his thought and brought about the successful solution of the problem. He was shown that a negative, passive trust and reliance was not enough; it must be positive, active. He must use his understanding of the power and supremacy of God, applying it to the claims of error that seemed to confront him. For the Lord spoke unto Moses, "Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel, that they go to forward; but lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it."

Progress the Result of Spiritual Understanding

This was no command to take blindly some human footstep. The rod, which Moses was instructed to use, represented his understanding of the supremacy of God, which he had already demonstrated on several occasions. Hence the command was to go forward, using this spiritual understanding to divide, to remove, the error that claimed to be an insuperable obstacle. And we all know the outcome of Moses' obedience to this divine guidance—not only the error that seemed to obstruct but also the evil that was claiming to pursue and destroy was completely overcome.

Certainly, the urgent need of individuals and nations today is to go forward. Never has there been a greater need for individual and collective progress. Never has error been more aggressive in its claims to oppose, obstruct, and destroy. But, in its search for a way out, it seems that mankind is looking everywhere except to God, and the result is quite apparent on all sides. Yet, my friends, the understanding of the supremacy of God, good, and radical reliance on Him to save and heal are just as effective to meet and destroy these arguments of error today as they were in Moses' time.

Furthermore, there is available to us today a higher understanding of God and His Power than was available to Moses' followers. For not only are we blessed with the teaching and example of Christ Jesus, who understood the supremacy of God as Spirit to a far greater degree than Moses, and who demonstrated the power of this spiritual understanding to meet every human need, but we also have the Science of Christianity, which Mary Baker Eddy has given to this age, and which enables us spiritually to understand and demonstrate the Master's teachings. In view of present-day conditions, would it not seem wise for men to give more thought to the words and deeds of the great Exemplar, who never failed to solve a problem and who said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also"?

Jesus the Most Progressive Man

Jesus was the most progressive man that ever walked the earth. Although human invention has broken down material limitations in many directions, it has not even closely approached the Master's demonstrations, and never will, for these can be accomplished only through spiritual means. Men seem to have made particular progress in the realm of transportation, requiring only hours to span the continent and the oceans, yet you will recall that the Master came to his disciples walking on the sea, and when he had entered the ship, "immediately the ship was at the land whither they went." Jesus overcame the belief of distance by spiritually understanding there is no such thing in omnipresent, divine Mind, God.

Through his spiritual understanding of the true nature of God and His creation, Christ Jesus also silenced the storm, and overcame the belief of lack in an outstanding manner by feeding thousands with a few loaves and fishes. He also proved the availability and adequacy of spiritual understanding to meet the ordinary needs of everyday life, and to heal both the sick and the sinning. Particularly those in a seemingly hopeless condition—the blind, the deaf, the maimed, the leper, the incurably sick, the insane—he healed, and healed them instantaneously. He further proved in the raising of Lazarus that a case is not necessarily lost when the patient appears to die—that death can be overcome by spiritual means as well as disease. Surely these are things the individual seeking to progress may well ponder.

The Master's work was to mark out the way—the way each individual can and must follow in order to work out his own salvation. Jesus taught his followers to do the works that he did, to use their spiritual understanding as he used his, with the same "signs following"—the healing of the sick as well as the sinning, and even the overcoming of death. And history records that this healing work was carried on by the Christians for nearly three hundred years after Jesus completed his ministry. Then the spiritual meaning of his teaching and works was lost sight of through the materialism of age, and with the loss of spiritual understanding the power to heal the sick and raise the dead disappeared.

The Final Revelation and Its Progressive Unfoldment

But the Christ, Truth, was still operating in human consciousness, leaving it, as has been the case since the earliest prophets; and so, nearly two thousand years later, a cultured, spiritually-minded New England woman, a progressive thinker, Mary Baker Eddy, discovered the spiritual meaning of the Master's words and works and found that she understood and reflected the same spiritual power exercised by his immediate followers and the early Christians—the power to heal. Mrs. Eddy caught the first glorious glimpse of the truth as she lay on what was supposed to be her deathbed. And the result was as remarkable as any early Christian healing, for she immediately arose, dressed herself, and joined some friends who thought they had come to see her for the last time.

However, the complete revelation of the truth of being did not unfold to Mrs. Eddy as a glorious burst of light. After her remarkable experience she withdrew from society for three years to search the Scriptures and to discover the Science of her healing. She writes that this revelation came to her gradually, and it was nine years after her first experience, which took place in 1866, before she published her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," in which this final revelation of Truth is set forth in such a way that it may be understood by all. During these nine years she had not only reduced this divine revelation to a system that could be grasped and used by the thought of this age, but she had also proved her discovery, which she denominated Christian Science, by many outstanding healings. That her system is a demonstrable Science was further proved when sire must be to attain a correct understanding of God and man, and this desire must be strong enough to cause us to seek—yes, to strive for—this understanding, knowing that this spiritualization of thought will remove the seeming discord or lack. Christ Jesus made this quite clear, and gave us an invariable rule for the attainment of human progress, when he said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

God As Principle

Now to bring the government of God and His righteousness—His right knowing—into our own lives, we must have a correct understanding of His nature and His law. The term the effort to demonstrate this in daily life by bringing our every thought and action into obedience to Principle—this is truly seeking the kingdom of God and His righteousness. But the Master tells us that we must put this first in order to have "all these things" added unto us; and this consecration is essential. In other words, this seeking of God's kingdom is not something to be sandwiched in among human cares, duties and pleasures—it must be first. It must be of first importance to us—first in thought and in daily life. We usually give first attention to that which we regard as of first importance. Thus there are those who regard their business of first importance, and they allow nothing to interfere with it. Others regard social pursuits, sports, keeping the home, dressing up the human body, as of first importance, and you will find that these things occupy first place in their thoughts and daily lives. Now these things are all right in their place, but that place must never be allowed to be first.

To put the spiritual first in thought and life is really nothing more than obedience to the First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." When these other things come first it means we are making gods of them. In short, it is idolatry. But when we put first things first, when the attaining of a correct understanding of God and bringing our lives under His government becomes of first importance, we not only gain that which is essential to our spiritual progress, but we find that "all these things," such as health, peace, and supply, are added unto us.

Spiritual and Human Progress

It may be helpful at this point to consider how spiritual progress—the spiritualization of individual human consciousness—invariably brings about human progress, or improvement in individual human experience. We have seen that God is perfect and that He maintains man, His idea, your true individuality and mine, at the standpoint of perfection—the perfect image and likeness of Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, and Love. Hence the truth about each of us at this very moment is that we exist at the standpoint of perfect intelligence, wisdom, and ability, of perfect substance, abundance, sufficiency, and completeness, of perfect spiritual consciousness, or the consciousness of perfection, of perfect government, governed only by Principle, of perfect and immortal life, health and harmony, of perfect truthfulness, honesty, and integrity, and at the standpoint of perfect unselfed love, pure, compassionate, and forgiving. This is the way that God is knowing us right now.

But we seem to be conscious of a very different sense of ourselves and the universe, conscious of man and the universe as material, limited, discordant—as anything but perfect. Now there is only the one perfect creation, hence we do not suffer because of an imperfect creation, an imperfect man, but only from our wrong thinking about God's perfect creation, about His perfect man. Consequently, the only thing that needs to be healed is our thinking, and as this is corrected or spiritualized, as false beliefs are replaced with spiritual ideas, as we come to know more and more as God knows, we become more and more conscious of man as he really is—as spiritual, healthy, harmonious, and perfect. And as the false beliefs are removed from individual human consciousness, they are removed from individual experience, for we can experience nothing of which we are not conscious. In Christian Science, we learn that our experience is thinking objectified or made manifest; so to improve our experience, we must first correct or spiritualize our thinking. This is accomplished by gaining a right understanding of God as man, and by using this understanding in prayer.

Prayer

The spiritual fact of the real man's oneness with God, with divine Principle, Mind, Spirit, Soul, Life, Truth, and Love is the starting point of perfect treatment in Christian Science. Every discordant condition, every belief of sin, sickness, disease, death, unemployment, lack, strife, war, and so on, is merely a phase of the erroneous belief that man is separated from God—that he has something apart or underived from Deity, or that he does not reflect God, good, in some respects. Now we have seen how impossible it is for man to be separated from God. Hence, any belief of man separated from Him must be a lie which the spiritual understanding of man's oneness with God destroys.

The real man is the perfect and full expression of God's being—he is God expressed as idea. Consequently he expresses all of God's qualities and attributes, and nothing else. Any sense of man as manifesting that which does not express Principle, Mind, Spirit, Soul, Life, Truth and Love is therefore a mistaken concept of man, which the right idea corrects or heals. Prayer in Christian Science is the process of replacing these false beliefs about man with true or spiritual ideas. In the Christian Science textbook we read (p. 123), "Divine Science, rising above physical theories, excludes matter, resolves things into thoughts, and replaces the objects of material sense with spiritual ideas."

Nothing is more important to our spiritual progress than the ability to exclude matter, for nothing is more obstructive to spiritual progress than the belief in the reality of matter. Now the unreality of matter is conclusively proved by the fact that God is infinite and is Spirit, Spirit, true substance, must therefore be infinite, real, and substantial; and consequently its very opposite, matter, must be unreal and insubstantial, entirely devoid of real existence—a false or mistaken sense of substance.

Many recognize this statement as indisputable, but are still troubled by the seeming reality of matter. To them, material things seem so tangible and spiritual things seem so intangible. To such students it may be helpful to know that physical science has proved that material things are not at all what they seem to be. It may startle some in this audience to be told that everything they recognize through the five physical senses as belonging to or constituting a material object or thing, physical science declares does not exist as a part of that object or thing, but is given to us by our mind, referring, of course, to the human mind, which physical science would place in a material brain. In short, physical science teaches that there is no sound coming out of the radio, no color or perfume in the rose, no taste in the lemon, but that all sound, color, odor, taste, and feeling are given us by the human mind.

Now that which is given us by the so-called mortal mind must be mental, not material, and can only exist in individual human consciousness. The sound, color, odor, taste, and feeling given us by the material senses, or mortal mind, are therefore mortal mind qualities, and the objects they constitute are mortal mind objects, mortal mind thoughts. Since these thoughts claim to be material, since they claim to be something they cannot possibly be, they prove themselves to be lies. They do not trace back to the one Mind, God, Spirit, of whose thoughts or ideas express Him and so are spiritual. In Christian Science, whatever claims to be material, whether it seems to be good or evil is seen to be merely a mortal mind concept, or thought; and since mortal mind is "a liar, and the father of it," as Jesus defined it, all of its thoughts are lies, inversions of real or spiritual ideas. Hence, we arrive at or discern the spiritual idea by reversing the mortal mind concept.

In Christian Science treatment we reject and turn from the false material concept presented by material sense, and turn to spiritual sense for the right concept, which is spiritual, perfect, and harmonious. In brief, we recognize the so-called material thing as a mortal mind thought, and this is seen to be an inversion of a spiritual idea. This lie is seen to be placed in consciousness by affirming the spiritual fact, with the prayerful desire to realize it, and by denying the material evidence as false. Thus we exclude matter, resolve things into thoughts, and replace these mortal mind thoughts with spiritual ideas.

Progress in Treatment

The purpose of this treatment is to bring to our consciousness such a vivid realization of the spiritual fact that the false belief is completely wiped out. And we have seen that when the false belief is removed from individual human consciousness, its manifestation is removed from individual experience. Since the affirmation of truth brings this realization, our treatment should be largely affirmative in effect. As we progress spiritually we should be able to realize the truth for any situation more quickly, so there should be a diminishing of the process of argument. But we should continue to use this process until we can heal every case instantaneously without it. To abandon the process of argument before we have reached this stage of spiritual growth is not progress, but the effect of error.

As we have seen, all false beliefs do not come to us as paradises as evil. They sometimes present themselves as "angels of light." Any belief that matter is good, that it can give pleasure or satisfaction, is quite as false as the belief that it can cause pain or suffering. Furthermore, to completely overcome the one, it is necessary to overcome the other. This is why it is so important to overcome the beliefs of matter that claim to enslave, such as false appetites for alcohol and tobacco. One cannot be a slave to matter's claims to give pleasure without seriously limiting his ability to overcome its claims to cause suffering.

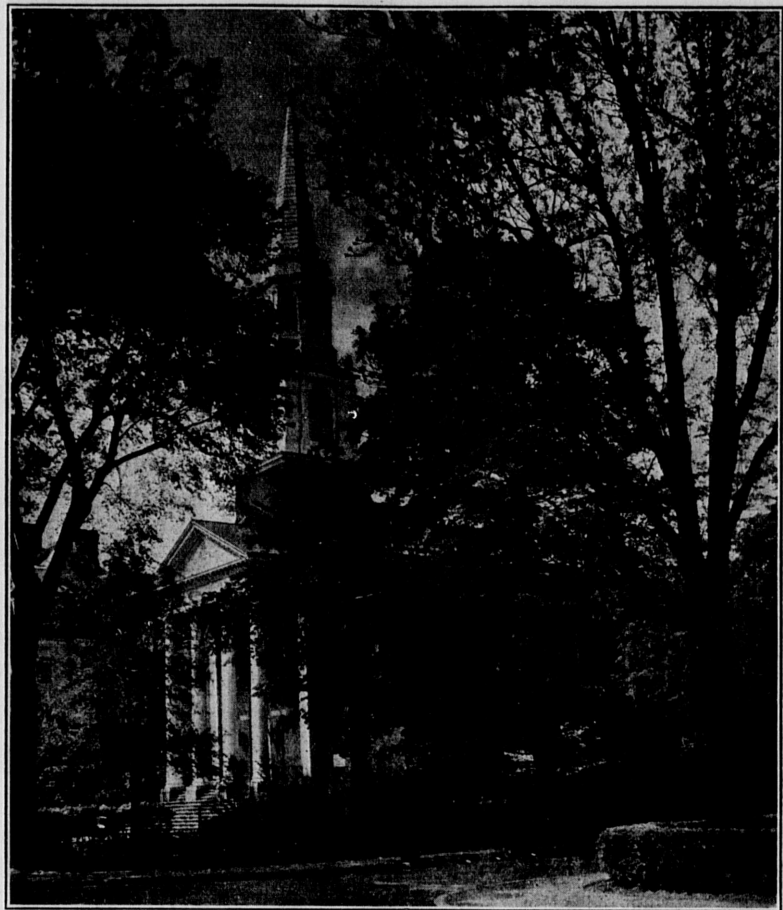

Right Activity and Progress

We are constantly faced with the opportunity to replace mortal mind thoughts with spiritual ideas, and it is important that we continue to be, just as active in doing this when human experience seems to be harmonious as we are when it claims to be discordant. Persistence in right activity is an essential element of continuous progress. The tendency of mortals is to be satisfied with a material sense of harmony and ease. Now this material sense of existence, whether harmonious or discordant, is a false belief, a dream. The purpose of Christian Science is not to give us a pleasant dream, but to awaken us, to lift us entirely out of the dream into the consciousness of spiritual reality, or spiritual consciousness, which is perfectly harmonious. And nothing is more obstructive to this than a sense of satisfaction with mere material improvement or ease in matter.

The Psalmist declared, "I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness." Referring to this, Mrs. Eddy writes (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 358), "All men shall be satisfied when they 'awake in His likeness,' and they never should be until then." The student of Christian Science who allows a sense of ease in matter to lull him into inaction is in a dangerous state of thought. Mrs. Eddy has counseled (Ibid., p. 340), "Be active, and, however slow, thy success is sure." And she also tells us (Message for 1900, p. 2), "The song of Christian Science is, 'Work—work—work—watch and pray.' Activity, persistent right activity, is indispensable to progress."

Our right activity, our spiritual thinking, should be inspirational, spontaneous, never routine or stereotyped. Someone has aptly said that the only difference between a rut and a grave is that a rut is deeper. Routine is deadly to progress in Christian Science and it requires both alertness and effort to avoid it. There others were able to do the same healing work by following the rules she had established.

Mrs. Eddy's Progressive Demonstration

Mrs. Eddy taught that "progress is the law of God" (Science and Health, p. 233), and she manifested this law in her own life to a remarkable degree. To have discovered this Science of Christianity, to have been the revelator of Truth in this age, and to have made this revelation available to mankind through her textbook and other invaluable writings, would have assured Mrs. Eddy of an outstanding place in Christian history and prophecy. But she did not stop with this; for with this final revelation of the truth of being, prophesied by the Master and St. John, there was also unfolded to her the necessity of establishing the means of protecting it and of bringing it to the attention of hungering humanity throughout the world. As one under orders she founded a great church for this purpose. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, whose activities and branches now cover most of the globe.

Mrs. Eddy also founded the various Christian Science periodicals, the first of which was The Christian Science Journal, which is now published each month. Later she established the Christian Science Sentinel, a weekly. The Herald of Christian Science, now published in several languages, and the Quarterly, which contains the Lesson-Sermons read in all Christian Science churches and societies each Sunday, and carefully studied by the sincere student each day. Finally, in 1908, some forty-two years after her first experience in Christian Science, she established a great daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor. These periodicals not only represent progressive steps or demonstrations by Mrs. Eddy, but they are also essential to the spiritual progress of the student of Christian Science.

Progress the Unfoldment of Good

And spiritual progress underlies all that may really be regarded as progress in human affairs, because it is through spiritual progress that whatever is really good is brought into human experience. And does not progress mean to each of us some further unfoldment of good or destruction of evil? We certainly do not recognize the seeming loss of good or development of evil as progress. And is there anyone who does not desire more of good? To one, progress may mean a better sense of health; to another, freedom from bondage to some form of sin or false appetite; to others, a more abundant sense of supply, a more harmonious home, happier human relationships, a better place or position, and so on. Yet, as desirable as these things seem to be, they are the "signs following," the outward manifestation of the spiritualization of thought that must first take place in individual human consciousness—they are not the reality of good that must be sought for itself. It is right to bring out these things in human experience, but we do not bring them about by seeking them for themselves. Rather, our first de-terfere with it. Others regard social pursuits, sports, keeping the home, dressing up the human body, as of first importance, and you will find that these things occupy first place in their thoughts and daily lives. Now these things are all right in their place, but that place must never be allowed to be first.

To put the spiritual first in thought and life is really nothing more than obedience to the First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." When these other things come first it means we are making gods of them. In short, it is idolatry. But when we put first things first, when the attaining of a correct understanding of God and bringing our lives under His government becomes of first importance, we not only gain that which is essential to our spiritual progress, but we find that "all these things," such as health, peace, and supply, are added unto us.

Personal Experience

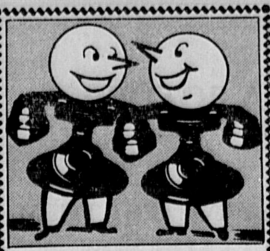

When rather a young student of Christian Science, I had an experience which illustrates what I have just said. At the time to which I refer I was in business—in fact I was immersed in it! I worked several nights a week until after midnight, I had no time for a lunch hour, I was under constant pressure of conditions over which I seemed to have no control. As a result, I seemed to have little or no time for either study or prayer, seldom saw the Christian Science literature, and often missed the church services. I was not very healthy and I certainly was not happy, but in the face of all this I really thought I was doing the best I could under the circumstances.

Right at this point, I was asked to teach a Sunday school class in the branch church of which I was a member. I had always made it a rule to serve when called on unless there seemed to be a good reason, based on Principle, for declining. It seemed that under these conditions I should find some reason for refusing this appointment, but I saw quite clearly that the right thing was for me to accept it and to do the necessary studying and praying to be prepared to teach successfully. So I accepted it, but the oppressive conditions still seemed to persist, with the result that I apparently had no more time for study and prayer than before. I had a class of six lovely children about seven years of age, but when I would take charge of the class, they appeared to be anything but lovely. I would try to correct them individually and collectively, but to no avail.

"Seek ye first the kingdom"

This striving to gain a clear understanding of God as Principle, Life, and Love, and of the real man's eternal unity with Him, together with

NEWTON SPORTS

Tomorrow's Forecasts

The local school football season opens tomorrow and once again the sports editor goes out on the proverbial limb and proceeds to cut it off with the following forecasts of games in which Newton's opponents figure:

Newton-Woburn—The home team by two touchdowns to start the orange and black off on its second season under Coach Owen MacDowell.

Quincy-Brookline—The Wealthy Towners, 1939 Class B champs on their way to repeat. Two touchdowns should be the margin.

Everett-Leominster—The Red wave of Everett the victor against a stubborn Leominster foe wearing Arlington's scalp at their belts. Though the opening game for the Glidea outfit a one touchdown win is anticipated.

Pleasant-Brockton—The Shoe city should have little difficulty turning back the Providence team by three touchdowns or better.

Medford-Melrose—A second straight defeat for the Blue and White from a scrappy Melrose outfit. Medford was on the short end of a 6-0 score with Worcester Trade last Saturday and may find it hard to get going this Saturday. A one touchdown or even a one-point margin will be a real feather in Melrose's cap.

Lynn Classical-Gloucester—The fishermen will be sunk under the heavy Classical surge. Two or more touchdowns.

Hyde Park-Fitchburg—Looks like the up-staters might get going on this one after the sting of a 19-0 defeat by Rindge last week. Another two-touchdown margin, at least.

Prov.-Cent. at Waltham—A favored Waltham outfit by three touchdowns. If the Watch City really gets rolling look for a larger score.

NAMES TEAM TO START OPENING GRID GAME

Newton Eleven Faces
Woburn at Dickinson Stadium

The Newton High School football eleven is set to open the 1940 season tomorrow afternoon at the Dickinson Stadium against an invading Woburn High outfit. The referee's whistle will sound the kickoff at three o'clock to inaugurate Coach Owen MacDowell's second season as the orange and black mentor.

After more than three weeks of practice session Coach MacDowell has tentatively picked a starting lineup which will take the field under Captain Bob Beatty. With several close decisions to make in one or two positions late developments may make one or two changes desirable. Beatty and Phil Teschner will be at the end positions with Art Healey and Bill Kalousdian in the tackle berths. All four of these starters are lettermen from last year's squad to give the locals a strong frontier except for the uncertainty of inexperienced starters in the middle of the line. The guard positions will probably be filled by Bob Bleiler and Doherty. Either Allan Hugo or George Pattison may replace Doherty before game time as both are pressing the latter for the call. In any event the four guards will most certainly see plenty of action. Dick Lowry will start at centre although he has been nursing a lame knee. When needed Bill Rangnow will go in to relieve Lowry. Larry Tempasta will get first call as an end substitute and Fred Friani at tackle.

The starting backfield will have Gus Avantaggio and Joe Beatty at the halves, John Fahey at fullback and either Ken Young or Bill Hooper in the quarterback berth. Young will probably get the nod unless a bad ankle which has been bothering him proves too great a handicap. Bill Betts, whose passing is a decided asset to the Newton backfield should also see service at quarterback. The second backfield will have Al Savignano and "Windy" Booth, negro speedster, at the halves and hockey star Phil Fessenden at fullback.

Although several of the varsity squad are nursing minor injuries only three have actually been shelved for the first game. This trio includes Charlie French, John Landers and Gene Daniels, the former a most promising back and the two latter guard prospects. The others nursing minor injuries to shoulders, knees and ankles are ready to play if called upon.

The orange and black has been improving slowly during the past three weeks despite the handicap of injuries. Scrimmages have been held with both Watertown and Wellesley this past week and many of the rough spots are being ironed out. The lack of a much needed spark is apparent but with the first taste of real competition in a game the team spirit should show itself. This first game means a lot to the orange and black. A victory should set them off on the right road and give them the confidence for future and stronger foes, which in order include Quincy, Everett, Brockton and Medford on October Saturday afternoons.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

Occasionally during the fall the Newton Archers have informal tournaments with white elephants for prizes. On Saturday afternoon twenty-one archers held such a tournament with George McCormick as field captain. Those having the high scores made their selections, from the white elephant prizes, first.

For the scores in the American Round, a visitor Henry W. Schreiber of the Waltham Club shot 90-670, Adrian Matthews, 88-588 and Walter Kimber 88-586.

Marjorie Kimber shot with the women and led them with 79-409. Dorothy Skinner was second with 84-402 while Dorothy Matthews placed third with 75-339.

On Sept. 18th the Newton Archers will have a Handicap Cups Tournament. Usually there are three cups awarded on the handicap basis at each quarterly tournament. However, since the Massachusetts State Archery Association is to share our championship tournament on Oct. 12 the handicap system cannot be used. So with the weather permitting, the American Round will be shot, prizes as well as the handicap cups will be awarded.

Ten Meetings To Discuss Basis of World Troubles

In response to the growing public interest in world affairs, as well as in the domestic situation, a series of ten meetings, for the purpose of discussing the cause of the present-day chaos, will be held in Newtonville at the Public Library beginning Tuesday evening, Oct. 1st, at 7:30 p.m.

This discussion group is open to readers of the Newton Graphic, both men and women, free of charge. It is conducted by the Boston Extension of the Henry George School of Social Science. It is a non-profit, non-sectarian, and non-political educational movement chartered by the University of the State of New York.

Business men, workers, housewives and industrialists sense there is something wrong in our way of living. The economic laws clearly give the answers. When a sufficient number of citizens do understand the unswerving laws, there will be born the greatest peace and business booms in history.

Kiwanis Club

Reports of the Delegates of the 22nd New England District Kiwanis Convention were presented to the local Kiwanis Club at their meeting last Tuesday held at the Charles River Country Club. The convention was held at Bretton Woods, N. H., Sept. 19, 20 and 21. Nineteen hundred and sixteen Kiwanians were registered, which was an increase of 108 over last year. The following members of the local club attended:

John Janse, President of the local club and delegate; Ed Pease, Second Vice President of the local club and delegate; Dr. Herman Norton, Chairman of the Program Committee of the local club and delegate; Austin Shea, Secretary; Ed Cannon, Chairman of the House Committee; Jack O'Donnell, Member of the House Committee; Charles Barrows, Chairman of the Reception Committee, and James P. Gallagher, U. S. Vice President of Kiwanis International. Mr. Gallagher was also one of the principal speakers at the convention. Other speakers on the program were Horace T. Cahill, Lt. Governor of Massachusetts; Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and Mark A. Smith, International President of Kiwanis.

Reports showed that five new clubs have been organized in New England this year and that five more probably will be organized before the year is over. There is a total of 117 clubs in New England now with a membership of over 5700. The local club in Newton showed the most rapid gain in membership in 1940 of any club in this division.

The convention voted that its meeting next year would be held at Poland Spring, Me.

The next meeting of the local club will be held Tuesday, October 1st, with President John A. Janse presiding.

and to the city to be gained from a contract between the petitioners and others involving the expenditure of money on the part of the petitioners I now believe to be unsound and liable to set a dangerous precedent.

"Accordingly I believe this Board should consider its action and recast its vote on a sound basis, considering only those matters having to do with the petition itself and disregarding any advantages that may accrue from the proposed improvements that may or may not follow through private negotiations."

In seconding the motion to reconsider the vote Alderman McKay said in part:

Several members of this Board admitted in their remarks two weeks ago that their votes were influenced by the beneficial result which would be accomplished through the rezoning and the cleaning-up of the near-by ice house lot. The rezoning petition is obviously a corollary and I think the chair will sustain my right to mention it although it is not before us at the moment. We are certainly dealing with Siamese twins. Some past history must be reviewed. On March 11, 1934 the ice house burned, and standing walls were defiantly left for sometime to endanger the public. Eventually the walls were pushed over and the debris covering the whole lot has remained an eyesore to this day. An eyesore to be viewed by those who live on the shores of Crystal Lake, by those thousands who bathe in and skate on the lake, by those who travel by train on the Highland branch, and by those who ride along Centre st.

It has been thought by many that purposely the corporation nurtured this blot for its nuisance value, that by its very annoyance some disposition of the lot could be furthered. It has been said the corporation could not afford to spend the small sum necessary to make the lot more presentable. If that is the case then I think it is evident that Newton citizens have taken away their patronage from a company which would seek to conduct business here and at the same time show no interest or respect for the community. Successful corporations are alert in their public relations. It would have been clever of them years ago to beautify the spot rather than to try now to promise beautification in exchange for a gasoline permit.

But my opposition is not based on reprisals. On this issue alone, on the opposite corner over a period of seven years preceding boards have denied four applications. There has been no change of conditions there. But with this fifth request we are offered a tempting consideration.

To divert a moment I would like to have in the record, that few problems in my eight years on this board have had more of my thoughts than a proper solution of the ice house blemish. I am intensely interested in finding the right answer, but I cannot acquiesce in the present proposal. Subject to the mayor's approval this board has the authority to grant licenses and issue permits. We cannot traffic in that authority. Each applicant must rest his case on its own merit, and upon the first instance of some exterior consideration or ulterior motive affecting our decision, distrust in every subsequent decision will prevail among the citizens. Those who have been denied permits could rightly expect to renew their applications, accompanied with an offer to do something for the city. I have no doubt but that we could auction a half dozen gasoline station sites for enough money to buy the whole ice house property. Perish the thought of such action.

At the last meeting the question was asked "What is the difference in making this proposed 'deal' and the recent sale of a piece of city-owned land?" I think my foregoing remarks have answered that question, but if the distinction is not yet clear, let me say that one relates to real property of which we are trustees and for the retention or disposition of such we are responsible. If sold, fair value must be received by the city. Of course, there must be a consideration in the sale of real property, but there should be payment of no kind whatsoever in granting a permit.

In opposing the motion for reconsideration, Alderman Rawson said:

"I had not realized that the millennium was so near. Back in my youth somewhere I read 'Your old men shall dream dreams and your young men shall see visions.' This was given by the prophet as a sign of the approach of the millennium. I am afraid we have been asleep. Whether this be a vision or a dream is simply a matter of age. I wonder if those who propose this dream can raise $20,000 which is the assessed value of this property."

I am told on reliable authority that if the city buys this land or takes it the city cannot lawfully lease it or rent it to the Sea Scouts, the D. A. R. or any other organization. We have to take it for a specific purpose and we can lawfully use it or allow it to be used for no other for lease or hire whether nominal or not.

I am also informed from a source which I learn to be truthful and which I believe to be authoritative that the ice company was made a substantial offer for its land by a contracting company, which would use this land for its office and yard to store its equipment there and carry on its business there—a use which could be made of this land as of right according to the zoning ordinance. The ice company declined, saying that this land was not for sale, since these negotiations were pending. This shows clearly the risk we run by postponement of action.

Mr. President, I am the last man to oppose historical monuments and the memorials to historical places and historical characters, provided they are practical—but I do not believe this scheme is.

My only creed as chairman of your committee on claims and rules is the preamble of the zoning ordinance which is to promote the health, safety, convenience and welfare of the inhabitants, to lessen the danger of fire, and to improve the city. In my opinion the original plan does improve the city—that is all I seek to do or have ever sought to do.

For years we have been trying to get this mess cleaned up. One plan after another has failed. This one proposed by the neighbors, the ice company, the N. C. Improvement Association is the first one with any chance of success. It will improve the city and on that basis I am for it.

If this plan does not go through now because the motion to postpone carries, don't blame me if the ice company sells the land to someone who may use it for manufacturing or business purposes, which section 576 of the ordinance permits it to do. By that section any use not specifically prohibited therein can be made of it. You may tell me that in several years this has not been done. I answer that those who have this dream have had the same number of years to put this dream across to reality and they have not done so. Mr. President, I shall vote against postponement because I do not want to see the city run this risk."

Alderman Rawson and Jamieson said the situation regarding this station had not changed since the previous meeting. This brought a retort from Alderman Hughes who asked—"Has it changed from two years ago?" Alderman Hoffman said he did not object to reconsideration, but he had not changed his mind as he can see no other use for the property than for a gasoline station.

A standing vote was taken on the motion of Alderman Colby for reconsideration. Those voting in favor were—Barwise, Cronin, Lee, Hughes, McKay, Walker, Temperley, Inches, Hoffman, Lockwood, Colby, Schipper, Gaddis and Eaton. Those voting in the negative were Fahey, Jamieson, Rawson, Everts, Bacon and Whidden.

Following this vote Alderman Gaddis stated that the sponsors of the plan proposed by Alderman McKay, to purchase the ice company property as a memorial to Rev. S. F. Smith, should be given an opportunity to carry out this plan. He moved, therefore, that further action on the petition for the filling station permit be laid on the table until Dec. 2. Alderman Walker seconded this motion and said that it would be a mistake to take any action now which might kill enthusiasm for the memorial project. A vote was taken on the motion of Alderman Gaddis. It was carried by 14 to 6. Those voting in the negative were Alderman Fahey, Jamieson, Rawson, Hoffman, Everts and Whidden.

Waban Man Found Dead in Garage

Chester A. Robinson, 43, of 81 Locke rd., Waban, was found dead in his garage at 11:15 Wednesday night by J. Earl Bradley, his brother-in-law. Both men were married to daughters of Henry C. Bentley, head of the Bentley School of Accounting and were associated with that school. Their wives had gone on a trip to New Hampshire. After Robinson failed to appear at the school on Wednesday, Bradley went to his home. He found his brother-in-law lying on the garage floor. Several tools and a flashlight were lying on the floor under the car, indicating that Robinson had been working on the car. The side door of the garage was open. Bradley summoned Dr. William Stevens of Commonwealth ave., Boston, and the latter notified Medical Examiner Gallagher. The medical examiner reported that Robinson had died accidentally of carbon monoxide fumes.

Woman Hit By Car Has Leg Broken

A car driven by Mrs. Laura Bonney of 29 Ruliven rd., Newton, hit Mrs. Dora McCoy, 48, of 131 Clark st., Newton Centre, last Thursday afternoon as she was crossing the turnpike at Clark st., Newton Centre. Dr. Carl Levinson, who arrived at the scene of the accident, placed Mrs. McCoy's fractured leg in a splint, and the woman was then taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. Mrs. Bonney reported that Mrs. McCoy ran across the street apparently to catch a bus, and was struck by the right front fender of the car. Mrs. Bonney stated she had been driving automobiles over 30 years, and it was her first accident.

Fined $35 For Reckless Driving

Judge Lloyd Allen fined Edward Apolon, 19, of 52 Harding st., West Newton, $35 in the Newton court on Wednesday. He found Apolon guilty of driving so as to endanger the safety of the public. Apolon appeared. Apolon was the driver of a car that on Sept. 6 hit a truck at the intersection of Commonwealth ave. and Walnut st. The truck was overturned and five men riding in it were severely injured.

In court the same day Harry Cohen of Brighton was fined $25 for speeding. It was his second conviction within a year. A charge of speeding against Kenneth Collinson of 39 Valantine Park, West Newton, was filed.

Milk Drinking

Growing children should consume at least one quart of milk daily; adults at least a pint.

Miss Frances Stebbins, 86 Sargent st., West Newton, will be in charge of radio work for the Educational Division of the Greater Boston 1941 Community Fund Campaign. It was announced this week by Mrs. B. Harrison Ragle, chairman.

Appropriate $4500 For Parking Area

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night $4500 was appropriated for the construction of a public parking area on the land between Cherry and Waltham sts., West Newton at the rear of police headquarters. It is estimated that room for 100 cars will be provided. It will be a WPA project and a grant of $4446 for labor will be received from the Federal government. Alderman Hoffman commented that a cost of over $10,000 to surface and grade such a parking space seems excessive.

Other appropriations included $150 for a temporary clerk in the City Treasurer's office; $1650 for improvement of Oldfield rd.; $800 for drain at Paul Brook; $1200 for drain in Charlesbank rd.; drains in White Pine rd., $750; Fordham rd., $4000; Hatfield rd., $1450; Fuller Terrace, $550; Traverse st., $800; Water Department for mains, $1285.

The Board rejected the petition of Albert Eichorn for the changing of several acres of land near Lagrange st. from residence to business zone. This land is at the West Roxbury line. The Planning Board had approved of this petition, but the Claims and Rules Committee disapproved it. Alderman Lawson said that the land is swampy and undeveloped, but adjoining areas both in West Roxbury and Brookline have been developed for residential purposes. The petition had been opposed by the Oak Hill Improvement Association and by Rosa Kessler, owner of adjoining property. The Board also turned down the petition of Jennie Watt for the change of one lot of land on Centre st., near Walnut st. from residence to business zone.

An offer of $200 from Benjamin Antonellis for a lot of land owned by the city on Woodrow ave. was rejected. The land is assessed for $750. Also an offer of $400 from Edward Stratton for a lot of land on Jaffrey circle, Waban. This land is assessed for $700. Stratton was informed he can buy this land if he pays $500. A junk license was granted to Carmen Amendola, with the provision that he keep the junk at 78 Crafts st. one week before disposing of it.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

The National Convention of the American Legion held in Boston the last few days is over.

Newton Post wishes to extend its thanks to all those who in any way helped to entertain or assist the visiting Legionnaires in having such a wonderful time, long to be remembered.

We are particularly indebted to Mayor Paul M. Goddard, the Board of Aldermen, all department heads of the city, the Newton Lodge of Elks, as well as the press, for the co-operation given us.

To the Cities Service Oil Co., who allowed us the use of their Newton Highlands station on the Worcester Turnpike as our information headquarters and who in co-operation with the Newton Police Department found so many quarters for Legionnaires and displayed the flag, our thanks.

To the Newton School Committee and the heads of the Parochial schools who voted to have the schools closed on the day of the parade our appreciation.

To the merchants and citizens of the city who decorated their places and displayed the flag our thanks.

The members of Newton Post 48, American Legion will always try to set an example in patriotism for which we hope our people will be justly proud.

God bless America.

ARTHUR A. HUNT, Commander.

Young Burglar Gets Probation

James Maloney, 15, of Heath st., Jamaica Plain, was arraigned in the juvenile session of the Newton court last Friday on charges of having entered the home of Mrs. Mary Thompson at 545 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, on Sept. 6, broken open a wall safe and stolen a quantity of jewelry from it. He was accompanied by two older youths. The following night one of the older youths with two other companions went again to the Thompson home, broke open a second safe and were about to take a large amount of silverware away when police arrived at the scene. The Maloney boy was placed on probation for one year by Judge Mayberry. His companions in the burglaries were held for the grand jury.

Businessman Tells Rotarians Of Fleeing France

Mr. George F. Brewster, a former soldier in the A. E. F. in France, a resident and businessman in that country for 20 years, told a heart-stirring tale of the German invasion of Paris, the inefficiency and sad hope of the French officials and hardships incurred during the flight from Paris. He also recounted his personal experiences in returning to Paris and the decision to abandon his business and return to the U. S. A.

The speaker had prepared reference notes and related his experiences in the matter-of-fact manner of a Parisian and American businessman. The casualness of the description, couched in plain words without benefit of historical display, made a serious impression on the members. Mr. Brewster, in conclusion, said that we should benefit by the unfortunate example of France and prepare ourselves internally and externally for whatever the future may hold for us.

Mr. Brewster sold American traders binders and other farming machinery in a small way in the suburbs of Paris. Being so far away from his factories in America, parts for these machines were made locally in the small plant which he owned adjacent to his home. He married a French girl and was well-known among solid French folk. He is a member of the Paris, France, Post of the American Legion.

There was a scarcity of men in France and he employed either the very young or old as machinists because the rest of the male population was in the army. The French mode of living was more leisurely than ours and they were proud of their excellent cuisine.

The initial major bombing of Paris was accomplished by 200 German planes. The French sent up only three planes to defend Paris against this force. German bombers methodically destroyed industrial plants, railroads, and telephone exchanges, thereby terrifying the populace.

Mr. Brewster, because of his occupation as garage owner, was compelled to remain in Paris until the last moment. The bakers and food-stuff merchants found themselves in a similar position in leaving Paris. Mr. Brewster had enough gasoline to get three-quarters of the way into Southern France. Interminable delays, bombing and strafing by enemy planes constantly harassed the fugitives. One was either "quick or dead," and quick was meant in the literal sense.

Returning to Paris, after occupation, Mr. Brewster was going counter to the German occupational advance and he noticed motorcycle troops with queerly spotted uniforms. These uniforms made detection next to impossible if the troops were moving through the trees or brushland of the highways.

His home and workshop were pillaged. Neighbors who had extra rooms were compulsory hosts to German soldiers. The average age of the German soldier was between 20 to 25 years but the officers were seasoned material from the last war. The occupation of Paris had been systematic and complete.

The officials in Nazi-dominated Paris made continuation of business impossible for Mr. Brewster and he sacrificed considerable to leave the country. He does not regret the decision despite the element of loss.

The French people as a whole had been unconcerned about the war and were lulled into a sense of false security by inactivity on the part of the Front. They were confident that their political and military leaders were efficient and knew how to cope with the enemy. The French people were let down and betrayed by their leaders. France was not defeated by the German army but by so-called "Fifth Column" activities.

These activities obstructed or deliberately sabotaged the cause of defense. Shells were found loaded with sand in place of explosives. Fuses for bombs were not manufactured to proper size. French planes remained on the ground. Shells delivered to active front did not fit the cannon. Delays and red tape tied up those men who had good intentions.

Resistance was futile with these conditions and France was lost to the invader. The invader's forces were fanatic in their zeal, reckless in the attainment of objectives and adequately equipped with the most modern devices of war.

The speaker pleaded that we should not find ourselves tied up and to heed to the disgrace of France.

Stop Worrying About Your Hair!

The new, MOR-LOX Mullein Treatment is now available to the people of Newton, and this remarkable mullein plant formula for the relief of Dandruff, Excessive Hair Fall, and Itchy Scalp is now being dispensed by our own prescription department.

This is the remarkable, non-alcoholic, natural plant treatment featured in a recent article by the famous columnist, George Jean Nathan. When it appeared in newspapers from coast to coast, more than 15,000 readers besieged Mr. Nathan with telegrams, letters, and telephone calls, so great was their interest in this new way to relieve hair and scalp disorders.

The MOR-LOX Mullein Treatment is simple, is not sticky, or messy, and if used for a reasonable length of time in conjunction with our suggested fingertip scalp massage, and a vegetable soap shampoo once a week, we believe you will find it both helpful and efficient.

A full, month's twice-a-day treatments cost less than 3 cents each, and we suggest your trying it now—before your present disorders become worse.

Give your hair and scalp the care they deserve. Start your MOR-LOX Mullein Treatments TODAY.

is a temptation to fall into the habit of using certain affirmations and denials every time we handle certain phases of error, thus allowing our treatment to become formulated or stereotyped. This vitiates the treatment and is to be avoided.

As we realize that divine Mind in reality is supplying man, individual spiritual consciousness, with all right ideas, we instinctively turn to this Mind for the right ideas for the case at hand. These ideas may be quite familiar to us, but they should come to consciousness spontaneously, inspirationally, and not as a part of a routine, stereotyped repetition. Then they will bring us the vivid realization of the spiritual fact which the routine repetition fails to do. We need to cultivate this spontaneity of thought, and humility and purity are great aids in attaining it. The purest thought is the least fettered, hence the most spontaneous. As we bring this spontaneity of thought into our routine action from our daily lives, our business, and our church work, and bring to them inspiration, freshness and joy.

And let us also cultivate the expectancy that when we turn to divine Love for the right idea to protect, we have it and the protection that goes with it; for the right idea to heal, we have it and the healing that goes with it; for the right idea to comfort, we have it and the priceless comfort that cannot be separated from it. We need to know that as God's image we already have these ideas, and the ability to appropriate and demonstrate them now.

From our brief discussion, we have seen that real progress is spiritualization of thought, that it is essential to individual salvation, and that spiritual progress invariably results in progress along all right lines in individual human experience. We have also seen that radical reliance on Truth, obedience to the Master's teachings and to the Science of Christianity that enables us to demonstrate these teachings, together with consecration, study, persistent right activity or prayer, spontaneity, and right expectancy are essential to this progress.

No Resistance to Progress

But there is also a phase of aggressive evil to which we must be alert and which must be overcome in order to demonstrate the progress we desire, and this is error's claim of resistance to progress. In handling this it is important to keep clearly in thought that we are dealing only with a false claim. God, Truth, is infinite, and in infinite Truth there is no opposing element. But error claims to be something, claims to oppose Truth and to resist our spiritual progress in gaining an understanding of Truth and demonstrating it. Since whatever claims to oppose or resist in this way must be the opposite of truth, it follows that it is untrue, unreal, neither person, mind, nor power. Every claim of error to oppose or resist Truth or our spiritual progress, every claim of active evil, is included in the term "animal magnetism," as used in Christian Science.

And it is important to realize that we have to handle this belief of aggressive evil in order to progress, just as it is necessary to take into consideration the current of a river if we desire to go upstream. Of course, the current presents no problem as long as we go along with it. Likewise, the claim of resistance to spiritual progress does not confront us as long as we are content to drift with the currents of mortal mind, accepting its false beliefs of evil, sin, disease, and death. But when we undertake to destroy these false beliefs through spiritual means, when we turn against the currents of mortal thought and strive to progress spiritually, we are then faced with the necessity of dealing with and overcoming this belief of opposition to Truth.

We destroy this belief of resistance to progress, of active evil, by understanding the allness of God, good, and the consequent nothingness of evil. Since the adversary claims to be the opposite of Truth, cannot we obey the Scriptural command, "Agree with thine adversary quickly,"—agree that it is the opposite of Truth, hence untrue, unreal—nothing? And consequently all of its arguments must be baseless, powerless lies, wholly incapable of interfering with our progress or preventing it. Furthermore, let us be alert to detect the various arguments of resistance to progress claiming presence in our individual experience, for this phase of error often claims to operate in the guise of good. Let us recognize that whatever claims to interfere with our spiritual growth, with our putting the spiritual first, is a phase of this claim of active evil, and handle it accordingly, even though in itself it may not appear to be evil.

As we strive to seek first the kingdom of God and to bring out in our thinking these spiritual qualities which we have seen to be essential to real progress, as we strive to use our spiritual understanding to overcome whatever is unlike God, good, in our thinking and living, whatever claims to be obstructive in our journey from sense to Soul, we may have the assurance that we are really living a progressive life. And Mrs. Eddy has said (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 117), "A progressive life is the reality of Life that unfolds its immortal Principle." Such a life assuredly meets the demands which she tells us (Science and Health, p. 233), every day is making upon us "for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power." And she adds: "These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfil."

Doctor's Butterfly Hobby Pays Sons' Way in College

Dr. Charles J. Wehr of Bellevue, Ohio, paid the college tuition of his two sons with butterflies, which he had collected for more than 30 years.

He supplied Findlay college with a collection of the insects for its biology department to pay the tuition of his eldest son.

"That seemed like a good idea," Dr. Wehr said, "so when my next son was ready for college, I sent a similar, but more complete, collection to Adelbert college of Western Reserve university in Cleveland—my alma mater."

Dr. Wehr began his collection of butterflies which now numbers more than 10,000—when he was put in charge of a summer camp while still a medical student.

"Among the campers were many high school students who had been instructed by their biology teachers to collect and mount specimens of any insects they could find," Dr. Wehr said. "I became so interested that I decided to start a collection of my own. That was in the summer of 1900—and I'm still at it, and as interested as ever."

Dr. Wehr's collection includes specimens from all over the world.

"A butterfly collector must have friends all over the world," he said. "The Philippine section of my collection was contributed by my nephews in the Philippines."

Frederick Springer, an artist friend from Cuba, brought the physician a large Cuban collection when he visited him recently.

"Naturally the most beautiful specimens come from the tropics," Dr. Wehr said. "I went to Florida two years ago and came back with more than 1,000 beautiful moths."

Fish Sleep, Don't Hear

The questions "Can fish hear?" and "Do fish sleep?" are often asked, says Maj. George Cornwallis West, ardent angler in his fishy book, "Edwards' Go Fishing."

"I am convinced that they do sleep," the major declares. "After all, why should not a fish require rest as much as any other creature which has to expend energy on seeking its food?"

On the other hand: "A fish cannot hear," he reports decisively. "Obviously ears are given to animals primarily to assist them to communicate with each other, and as fish make no sound, Nature has seen no reason to give them facilities to listen to conversations which don't take place!"

The oldest fishing club in the world—unless you know one older—is the Fish Club "inaugurated in 1730, on the Schuylkill, a tributary of the Delaware river, near Philadelphia, under the Hon. Thomas Stretch," to quote Major Cornwallis West.

"Some years ago I found myself in Philadelphia," reminisces the major. "By courtesy of the members I was able to look through some of the old records, which I found most entertaining." In 1832, the Fish Club celebrated its first centenary, and many were the toasts drunk, including one to the memory of Isaac Walton, and another to the ladies, "the Fair—that when angling for hearts may their hooks ever be baited with modesty and good nature."

Gentlemen—a bumper!

THE WAY TO TRAVEL

By Cornelia Otis Skinner

Although I have travelled a great deal (all my life, in fact), I am still an American hick, when it comes to the art of travel.

I'm the kind of gullible traveller who is the answer to the prayers of those who make their living through tourists—from railway and steamship employees to guides and souvenir vendors.

I go to see all the things the guide book says I should and I buy souvenirs that I don't want and nobody else wants.

I even send picture postcards. When I travel by water I take the slowest ships I possibly can. I think a slow ship twice as comfortable as a big, fast liner.

In Italy, I have lived with peasants in some of the remote hill towns, eating tough meat, black bread and a sour wine. It was fun.

As a country I liked, except for one thing, Spain before the war. I got started wrong by seeing a bullfight in the beginning and that left a bad taste in my mouth. The trip was made with father who was preparing to do "Blood and Sand."

Miss Skinner will appear in her costume monodrama "Mansion on the Hudson" at the Wellesley College Alumnae Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 4, at 8:30.

alumnus. A mass meeting was planned to be held in Music Hall in Boston, at which the Governor would present the author to the audience. It was hoped that the United States Marine Band might furnish patriotic music. The Columbian bell was to ring in Washington, and school children all over the land were to sing 'America' at the stroke of twelve o'clock. The Grand Army of the Republic was to participate in the public exercises.

"The great gathering came together in Boston on Wednesday, the third of April, 1895. In the afternoon a chorus of two hundred school children sang, and an entertainment was provided for them. In the evening the audience greeted Dr. Smith, heard from his lips how the hymn came to be written. . . . The Harvard Glee Club sang, and the Handel and Haydn Society rendered the 'Hallelujah Chorus.' The exercises closed with the singing of 'America.' . . . Before the year had closed Dr. Smith died at the age of eighty-seven, and was buried from the Baptist Church at Newton Centre, of which he had at one time been pastor. A simple tablet marks his home in Newton Centre.

"To be a fellow citizen of the author of 'America' was good reason for being nationally-minded."

I have omitted other references to Dr. Smith but have cited the several to show that he was highly respected as a citizen and his place in Newton history is not alone because he was the author of 'America.'

I wish to give credit to Charles F. Johnson of Newton Highlands for the suggestion that the park be a memorial to Samuel Francis Smith. It was many months ago—evidence that this plan has been long pondered. It would have been launched earlier but for the vacation season and uncertain economic conditions. It is obligatory to announce it now before an opposite corner is developed in a manner which could hardly be called compatible with this proposed civic improvement. In fact, upon completion of the first step it might be thought wise to seek acquisition of that opposite strip of land along Norwood ave. If the ice company wishes to dispose of all its property at this locus and will sell at a reasonable price, I believe Newton citizens will do their part. I urge you to deny this permit and to give your wholehearted support to the plan I have outlined.

Bishop Oxnam Speaks at N'ville

About 280 members of the Newtonville Methodist Church attended the first dinner of the year on Thursday evening of last week with Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam as guest speaker. The committee on arrangements was headed by John A. Dunn, who was master of ceremonies. Mr. Alvin T. Mayberry, Director of Religious Education, led in the singing of a number of hymns. Mrs. Anna Ross, soloist in the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, who entertained with a group of vocal selections, was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John L. Elliott.

Bishop Oxnam hinged his talk around two words, "conserve" and "create," pointing out the dangers of too much or too little conserving or creating, both being necessary for advancement in any line. Too much conserving of the pioneering spirit tends to destroy it instead of creating brotherhood of man. The Bishop urged the young people to begin to live now, to understand and confront the community problems where they live. His final advice was to conserve the resources of yesterday and to create for tomorrow, and to keep on pioneering and not to live alone.

Miss Fanny Stowell gave a short history of the church which was founded in 1860 at the home of Rev. George Mansfield, who became the pastor. Meetings were held in the building on the site at the corner of Central ave. and Washington st. where the telephone company is now located. The church around which the present edifice was built about fifteen years ago, was purchased from another society for $6000 later. The membership of 19 has increased to 740 and that of the Sunday School from 52 to 388 in the Church School. Dr. J. Franklin Knotts, Pastor of the church, greeted his parishioners with words of friendliness and good cheer, thoughts which were heartening in this time of stress and unrest.
